empfiehlt hiermit die bei ihm erschienenen

Lehrbücher nach
H. G. Ollendorff's
Neuer Methode,
in sechs Monaten
eine Sprache lesen, schreiben und sprechen zu lernen.

Die Ollendorff'sche Unterrichts-Methode feiert in ihrer sich fortwährend steigenden Ausbreitung, so wie in ihrer Anwendung auf nun fast alle Sprachen europäischer Civilisation einen Triumph, dem bis daher keine ähnliche Anerkennung zur Seite steht. — Sie liefert den thatsächlichsten Beweis ihrer Tüchtigkeit in einer Weise, wie noch keine ihres Gleichen, denn sie verbreitete ihre Lehrbücher, in der kurzen Zeit seit ihrem ersten Auftreten, bereits über alle Nationen, die befähigt sind, ein competentes Urtheil darüber abzugeben, und hilft ihnen, sich gegenseitig ihre Sprachen und ihre Literatur anzueignen. Ueberall, in Deutschland wie in England, in Frankreich wie in Italien, in Amerika, in Spanien und in Rußland läßt man ihr die Gerechtigkeit widerfahren, daß sie am leichtesten und schnellsten zum Ziele führt; denn in dem Lehrbuche der einen Sprache findet auch der Schüler bei ihrer Erlernung zugleich schon wieder den Schlüssel zu einer anderen.

Auch die sich so rasch aufeinander folgenden neuen Auflagen der verschiedenen Lehrbücher geben nicht minder das vollgültigste Zeugniß ihrer Brauchbarkeit. Von der französischen Grammatik erschien so eben schon die Sechste Auflage; von der englischen die Vierte und von der italienischen die Zweite Auflage. Der Gesamt-Cyclus derselben wurde ferner durch eine Grammatica della lingua tedesca so wie durch eine neue holländische Grammatik und einen Cours de Littérature Française, adapté à la Méthode d'Ollendorff vermehrt, welchen demnächst die Grammatica francese für Italiener und eine russische Grammatik für Deutsche folgen werden, und je mehr sich in dieser Weise die neue Methode allen Bedürfnissen des Unterrichts anpaßt, je mehr müssen die nach einem übereinstimmenden System bearbeiteten Lehrbücher derselben die Erlernung der verschiedenen Sprachen erleichtern, da keine neuen Theorien mehr dabei zu überwinden sind, sondern stets der dem Schüler einmal bekannt gewordene Lehrgang zu befolgen ist. Diese Uebereinstimmung des Unterrichts ist in öffentlichen Schulen und Lehranstalten vom entschiedensten Nutzen; sie erspart dem Lehrer wie dem Schüler Zeit und Mühe und verbürgt, wie es die Erfahrung überall bewiesen hat, den sichersten Erfolg.

Folgende Lehrbücher sind nach dieser Methode bis jetzt erschienen:

a) Lehrbücher für Deutsche, um Französisch, Italienisch, Englisch, Holländisch und Spanisch zu lernen.

Neue und praktische Methode in kürzester Zeit das Französische richtig aussprechen und lesen zu lernen. Nebst einer faßlichen Erklärung der grammatischen Hauptregeln u. Als Einleitung in die Ollendorff'sche Methode. Für Elementarschulen bearbeitet von J. M. Versaint. 8°. Cartonnirt 36 fr. od. 10 Sgr.

Um die Einführung dieses höchst praktischen Elementarbuchs für den ersten Unterricht in Schulen zu erleichtern, erlasse ich dasselbe bei Bestellung von 25 Exemplaren auf einmal zu 27 fr. od. 7½ Sgr. Ladenpreis.

Ollendorff, S. G., Neue Methode zur Erlernung der französischen Sprache für den deutschen Schul- und Privatunterricht eingerichtet von P. Gands. Sechste vermehrte und verbesserte Aufl. 8°. Dauerhaft cartonnirt. fl. 1. 48 fr. oder 1 Thlr.

— — Schlüssel zu dieser Methode, die Uebersetzung der darin vorkomm. Aufgaben enthaltend, v. P. Gands. 8°. Cart. 36 fr. od. 10 Sgr.

— — derselben Methode zweiter oder theoretisch-praktischer Cursus; für höhere Classen bearbeitet von J. M. Versaint. 8°. Dauerhaft cartonnirt. fl. 1. 30 fr. oder 26 Sgr.

— — Schlüssel zu diesem zweiten Cursus und den darin vorkommenden Aufgaben in 8°. Cartonnirt. 36 fr. oder 10 Sgr.

— — Cours de Littérature Française adapté à la Méthode d'Ollendorff; eine stufenweise geordnete Auswahl von Meisterstücken französischer Prosa und Poesie des 17., 18. u. 19. Jahrhunderts. Als Lesebuch beim Unterricht in der franz. Sprache, mit besonderer Berücksichtigung der franz. Grammatik nach Ollendorff's Methode; für den Schul- und Privat-Gebrauch eingerichtet von Versaint. 8°. Dauerhaft cartonnirt. fl. 1. 30 fr. od. 26 Sgr.

— — Neue Methode zur Erlernung der italienischen Sprache für den deutschen Schul- und Privatunterricht eingerichtet von Prof. Frühauf. Zweite vermehrte u. verbesserte Aufl. 8°. Dauerhaft cartonnirt. fl. 2. 12 fr. od. Thlr. 1. 7½ Sgr.

Ollendorff. Schlüssel zu dieser Methode. 8°. Cart. 54 kr. od. 15 Sgr.

— — Italienisches Lesebuch; eine Auswahl von Lesebüchern aus den besten älteren und neueren Werken ital. Schriftsteller, mit Rücksicht auf die Ollendorff'sche Methode bearbeitet und mit grammatischen Noten versehen von Professor Fröhlich. 8°. Dauerhaft cartonnirt. fl. 1. 21 kr. oder 22½ Sgr.

— — Neue Methode. Anleitung zur Erlernung der englischen Sprache für den deutschen Schul- und Privatunterricht, verfaßt von P. Gands. Vierte verbesserte Aufl. 8°. Dauerhaft cartonnirt. fl. 2. 24 kr. oder Rthlr. 1. 10 Sgr.

— — Schlüssel zu dieser Methode. 8°. Cart. fl. 1. 12 kr. od. 20 Sgr.

— — Neue Methode zur Erlernung der spanischen Sprache für den deutschen Schul- und Privatunterricht eingerichtet und bearbeitet von Fr. Fund. 8°. Dauerhaft cartonnirt. fl. 3. 18 kr. od. Rthlr. 1. 27 Sgr.

— — Schlüssel zu dieser Methode. 8°. Cart. fl. 1. 12 kr. od. 20 Sgr.

— — El nuevo lector español. Neues spanisches Lesebuch, enthaltend ausgewählte Stücke aus spanischen Musterschriftstellern. Zusammengestellt von Mariano Velasquez de la Cadena, mit Rücksicht auf die Ollendorff'sche Methode bearbeitet und mit einem spanischen Wörterbuch versehen von Fr. Fund. 8°. Dauerhaft cartonnirt. fl. 2. 12 kr. oder Rthlr. 1. 7½ Sgr.

— — Neue Methode zur Erlernung der holländischen Sprache. Nach einem neuen und vollständigeren Plane und mit Berücksichtigung des Flämischen für den Schul- und Privatunterricht von J. Gamb. 8°. Cartonnirt. fl. 1. 48 kr. od. Rthlr. 1.

— — Schlüssel zu dieser Methode. 8°. Cart. 36 kr. od. 10 Sgr.

b) Lehrbücher für Engländer, um Deutsch, Französisch und Italienisch zu lernen.

Ollendorff. — New Method of learning the German language in six months. Part 1 and 2. To which is added: "The German declensions on established rules etc." First part fl. 2. 24 kr. oder Rthlr. 1. 10 Sgr. Second part with the Declensions. fl. 2. 24 kr. oder Rthlr. 1. 10 Sgr.

— — A Key to the Exercises in this Method of learning the German language, by P. Gands. in-8. eleg. bound in cloth. Price fl. 1. 36 kr. oder 27 Sgr.

— — The German Declensions on established Rules, from the French of Ollendorff's "La déclinaison allemande déterminée" adapted to the use of English by P. Gands. in-8. In boards 36 kr. od. 10 Sgr.

Der fluge Staar.

Ein durstiger Staar fand eine Flasche mit Wasser. Er versuchte zu trinken; aber da das Wasser nur bis an den Hals der Flasche ging, so reichte sein Schnabel nicht so weit.

Darauf pickte er von außen in die Flasche, und suchte ein Loch hinein zu hacken. Allein die Mühe war vergebens, denn das Glas war zu hart.

Nun bemühte er sich, die Flasche umzuwerfen. Dies wollte ihm auch nicht gelingen, sie war zu schwer.

Endlich kam er auf einen Einfall, der ihm glückte. Er warf kleine Steine hinein. Dadurch machte er, daß das Wasser immer höher stieg und er es endlich bequem mit dem Schnabel erreichen konnte.

Geschicklichkeit geht über Stärke, und Geduld und Nachdenken machen Vieles möglich, was im Anfange fast unmöglich scheint.

THE SEA-COMPASS.

“How is the wind, Jack?” asked the captain of a ship, addressing the steersman. “North-east-by-North, sir,” was the instantaneous answer of the tar. A jocular monk, who was a passenger, drew near the sailor. “My son,” said he to him, “I heard thee swear like a demon during the storm; dost thou know thy prayers as well as thy sea-compass?” “No,” replied Jack, “for I can tell you, father, that I know my sea-compass a great deal better than even you know your prayers.”—“Thou art joking, son.”—“Quite in earnest, father.”—Upon this, our tar began thus: “North — north-west-by-North—North-north-west,” and so on, till he had gone round and got to the North again. “Now, father,” said Jack, “’tis your turn.” The monk recited his pater noster in a very ready manner. “That is clever,” observed the son of Neptune; “’tis mine now.” Then he went on, “North—north-east-by-North—North-north-east, &c.,” till he had come to the word again. “Well, father,” said he with a grin, “give us your prayer backwards.”—“Backwards! I can’t, boy: I have never learnt it but in one way; it is not necessary.” “Then” observed the triumphant sailor, “I know my sea-compass better than you know your prayers, for I can tell it in a thousand ways.”

Jack has just told us how a language ought to be learnt and known.

P R E F A C E.

My system of acquiring a living language is founded on the principle, that each question contains nearly the answer which one ought or which one wishes to make to it. The slight difference between the question and the answer is always explained before the question: so that the learner does not find it in the least difficult, either to answer it, or to make similar questions for himself. Again, the question being the same as the answer, as soon as the master pronounces it, it strikes the pupil's ear, and is therefore easily reproduced by his speaking organs. This principle is so evident, that it is impossible to open the book without being struck by it.

Neither the professor nor his pupils lose an instant of their time. When the professor reads the lesson, the pupil answers; when he examines the lesson written by the pupil, he speaks again and the pupil answers; also when he examines the exercise which the pupil has translated, he speaks and the pupil answers; thus both are, as it were, continually kept in exercise.

The phrases are so arranged that, from the beginning to the end of the method, the pupil's curiosity is excited by the want of a word or an expression: this word or expression is always given in the following lesson, but in such a manner as to create a desire for others that render the phrase still more complete. Hence, from one end of the book to the other, the pupil's attention is continually kept alive, till at last he has acquired a thorough knowledge of the language which he studies.

OF GERMAN WRITING.

German letters being in many respects different from those used in the English language, we have deemed it expedient to make them the subject of a thorough investigation, previous to entering upon that of grammar.

German writing should be taught in two lessons; in the first the learner will perfect himself in the formation of the small letters, in the second he will perfect himself in the formation of the capitals and in the joining of words.

1ST LESSON.

OF SMALL LETTERS.

The learner will take ruled paper as below, and exercise himself in the formation of the first or principal stroke, by the help of which he will form by degrees all the other letters.

First or principal stroke A ⁽¹⁾ From this stroke will be formed A ^(a) By adding to A another stroke will be formed W (a); viz. 1st A; 2nd W; 3rd W; ⁽²⁾ b (b) is formed of the first stroke; Begin the loop or upper part of b by the up stroke which is drawn from the line, draw it down to the thick part of the first or principal stroke and finish the letter by adding to it the last part of the letter, v; thus: 1st A 2nd b ⁽³⁾

A (c) is simply the first or principal stroke to which is added a small up-stroke ⁽⁴⁾ A (d) again is the first or principal stroke to which is added a long up-stroke terminated at the top by a crotchet ⁽⁵⁾, thus: 1st A 2nd A n (e) is formed of a stroke and a half viz 1st A 2nd n

⁽²⁾ The teacher should write the letters successively, carefully analysing them to the learners who should write them immediately after him

f is formed of the first stroke after which is drawn the up-stroke which describes the letter and to which is added a second regular stroke thus: 1st f; 2^d f.

Observation There is another kind of f which presents no difficulty in its formation on account of its near resemblance to the letter f in English but it should be observed that this letter must be intersected by the first or principal stroke without its first up-stroke viz: 1st f; 2^d f.

y is formed of v with the addition of j thus: 1st v; 2^d y.

h is formed of the first or principal stroke preceded by a loop similar to that of b and terminated by another loop reversed as: 1st h; 2^d h.

This letter may be formed still more simply and then it is like the letter f in English, thus: f.

i is only v with a dot over it j is the second part of y with a dot over it k is formed of the upper part of f, to which is added a kind of loop in drawing down which the body of the letter is intersected by a first or principal stroke as: 1st k; 2^d k; 3^d k.

l is formed like b with the omission of the small looped dot at the extremity

m consists of three regular strokes

n is composed of two strokes

o is as has been shown above the first part of the letter w p is a regular stroke intersected by a thin circular one terminating like the tail of y thus: 1st p; 2^d p; 3^d p.

q is formed like y except that, instead of being round below the line it terminates in a sharp point with an up-stroke towards the line thus: 1st q; 2^d q.

¹ Here again the accuracy of the principle may be demonstrated by drawing first two strokes or vv and then adding the up-stroke thus: 1st vv; 2^d f; but taking care to make the learners form the letter at once x or which three other letters of the alphabet are formed, is the most difficult of all, the learner should therefore carefully study its formation.

He must in the first place trace the first or principal stroke taking care to let it terminate in a sharp point on the line, thus  then by tracing this little figure  he will form x, and will then only have to add half a stroke to form x, thus: 1st , 2^d , 3^d .

f is formed of the first stroke and an up-stroke somewhat similar to that of x, thus: 1st , 2^d .

The second kind of f is formed like the second kind of f, with the omission however of the stroke which intersects that letter.

The same letter when at the end of a syllable () is formed of a regular stroke slightly rounded, then drawn up and surmounted by a little crochek, thus: 1st , 2^d , 3^d .

l is the first part of l, and, like that letter, intersected by the regular stroke thus: 1st , 2^d .

u is formed of two regular strokes surmounted by a small figure similar to an English j.³

v is formed like x, only instead of adding half a stroke at the end, you close it towards the bottom, thus: 1st , 2^d , 3^d .

w is nothing but v preceded by a principal stroke thus: 1st , 2^d .

z is formed like f, only the tail is turned the contrary way and rounded towards the bottom thus: 1st , 2^d .

¹ It may be observed that x forms nearly an u reversed.

² This letter bears much resemblance to the Greek sigma (σ).

x (y) is formed of x but instead of closing it, continue the stroke below the line as it is to form a j, thus: 1st x; 2^d xy.

z (z) is formed of the principal stroke rounded towards the bottom, and followed as in the preceding letter, by a stroke like j, thus: 1st z; 2^d zj.

The double consonants present no difficulty whatever, they are formed precisely as the single ones, only, joined together as ff (ch) of ss and of ik (ck) of rr and of ll; the following only require explanation.

ſ (ss) is formed of a single f to which is added the figure D, which is nothing but a capital f as will be shown in the next lesson, thus ſſ (rr) is the same letter with the addition of a curved stroke drawn to intersect the double consonant.

1st f; 2^d ſ.

ſſ (rr) is formed of f and L thus: 1st f; 2^d ſſ.

ſſ (zz) is composed of f to which is added a z, but a z ending in a dot and which does not extend below the line, as: 1st f; 2^d ſſ.

ſſ (zzl) is formed of ſſ and L, viz: 1st ſſ; 2^d ſſl.

Having analyzed to his pupils all the small letters in the manner shown above, the teacher should make them write the whole alphabet through according to the following model taking care to recall to their memory the manner in which each letter is formed.

2^D LESSON OF CAPITAL LETTERS.

The large letters in German Writing will present no difficulty to the English learners. for as the small letters differ by their square form from the common Roman letters so the large letters resemble them from their round form.

Besides this nearly all those, with which the letter is not the case, fall within the principle of formation of the small letters.

First or principle stroke of the large or capital letters: This stroke forms the basis of most of the large letters. Second stroke: Join these two strokes, and you will have nearly this letters: L C With this letter: D O is formed by closing the circle. Add to D a round stroke and you will have: U A, thus: 1st I;

L B, is formed of the first and second strokes, with this difference that the first is preceded by a circular stroke intersecting the body of the letter and that the second is turned out in a dot as in L; thus: 1st L; 2^d L.

L C is the letter from which we started in our demonstration, it is the 1st part of L, except a crotchet which surmounts it and a fine perpendicular up stroke drawn in front without being attached to the letter.

L D is formed of the second stroke followed by a semicircle brought round at the top into a knot. E begins with a circular stroke similar to the upper part of C and terminating like an English f below the line: It is then intersected by a curved stroke, similar to that in: f S thus: 1st E 2^d E.

F F is the first or principle stroke terminated by a dot and surmounted by a small crotchet, the body of the letter is intersected by a horizontal line thus: 1st F. 2^d F.

G G is formed of L, as y is of x; thus: 1st G; 2^d G.

H H is composed of the first stroke with the addition of this figure y, similar in analogy to x, viz.: 1st H; 2^d H.

1 It will be observed that there is analogy in the formation of U and x
2 This letter bears much resemblance to the small Greek theta (θ)

I (I) is formed of the first stroke preceded by a species of crotchet and intersected by a horizontal stroke like I. In every other respect it is like the English I, with the exception of the middle stroke.

J (J) is nothing else than an I extended below the line and drawn up to it again. Q (Q) is formed of the first stroke to which is added this figure:

surmounted by a crotchet thus: 1st I, 2^d Q.

L (L) is nothing but L without being turned up in a dot as that letter is.

M (M) is different in formation from the letters hitherto demonstrated.

Therefore it is important that this letter should be analysed and more particularly because the first stroke of which it is composed, is used in the formation of several others. This first stroke is: T which is repeated thus: M. To the latter figure the following is added: T which resembles the French T, thus: 1st T, 2^d W, 3rd M.

N (N) is only the first and last stroke of M viz: 1st T, 2^d N.

L (Q) is, as we have already shown the first part of L (Q).

P (P) is formed of the first stroke of M, carried below the line, then the pen is drawn up the same stroke and the letter is terminated by the same figure as Q only made a little larger thus: 1st P, 2^d P, 3rd P.

L (Q) is the letter L intersected in the lower part by a round stroke thus: 1st L, 2^d L.

Observation. there is another kind of P/Q which comes under the same principle of formation as P.

R (R) is formed of the first stroke of M to which is added a circular stroke closed and another open at the bottom as in the letter R in English: thus 1st T, 2^d P, 3rd R.

1 For print, the Germans have but one Capital letter for the Coupled i and the Consonant j.

J (J) is nothing but the first stroke of M, with the first part of the third, viz: 1st J, 2^d J.

Y (Y) is formed of the upper part of J and I thus: 1st Y, 2^d Y.

U (U) is composed of the first stroke of M, but inverted that is, drawn to the right & terminated as U, viz: 1st U, 2^d U.

W (W) is formed of the first stroke of M beneath which are described two circular strokes or loops, one to the left, and the other to the right, a round upstroke is then drawn closing as in W of which the present letter follows the principle, thus: 1st W, 2^d W, 3^d W.

M (M) is formed on the same principle as W but is preceded by the first stroke of M, thus: 1st M, 2^d M.

X (X) is formed like the English X if it be decomposed it will be found to consist of the first stroke of M, thus: 1st X, 2^d X.

Y (Y) is simply W prolonged below the line and drawn up again, thus: 1st Y, 2^d Y.

Z (Z) is formed like Y, only more round, In Capital letters there is but one double consonant which is: ZZ (ZZ) and that is abridged by joining it, thus: 1st Z, 2^d Z.

Having analysed to the Learners the Capital Letters, the teacher should make them write the whole Alphabet through according to the following examples and as he did for the small letters.

OLLENDORFF'S GERMAN GRAMMAR.

THIRD LESSON.¹—Dritte Section.

OF READING.

IN German every letter is pronounced. Hence it follows that foreigners are able to read the language with greater facility: reading is acquired in one lesson.

PRINTED LETTERS OF THE GERMAN ALPHABET.

There are in German, as in English, twenty-six letters, of which we give:

The Figures, The Pronunciation, The Power.

CAPITALS.	SMALL LETTERS.
A,	a,	ah,	a,
B,	b,	bay,	b,
C,	c,	tsay,	c,
D,	d,	day,	d,
E,	e,	a,	e,
F,	f,	ef,	f,
G,	g,	yay,	g,
H,	h,	hah,	h,
I,	i,	e,	i,
J, ²	j,	yot,	j,
K,	k,	kah,	k,
L,	l,	el,	l,
M,	m,	em,	m,
N,	n,	en,	n,
O,	o,	o,	o,

¹ The first two Lessons treat of writing.

² In print, the Germans have but one capital letter for the vowel i and the consonant j.

The Figures, The Pronunciation, The Power.

CAPITALS. SMALL LETTERS.

ÿ,	ÿ,	pay,	p,
Ų,	q,	koo,	q,
Ŗ,	r,	err,	r,
Œ,	ſ (ſ),	ess,	s,
Ŧ,	t,	tay,	t,
Ů,	u,	oo,	u,
Ŵ,	v,	fow,	v,
Ŷ,	w,	vay,	w,
Ÿ,	x,	iks,	x,
Ź,	y,	ypsilon,	y,
Ż,	z,	tset,	z.

Most of the German letters being pronounced as in English, we shall only present those that follow a different pronunciation.

FIGURATIVE TABLE OF THOSE VOWELS AND DIPHTHONGS OF WHICH THE PRONUNCIATION IS NOT THE SAME AS IN ENGLISH.

Figures.	Name.	Are pronounced as	In the English words:	German Examples.
ă,	ah-a,	a,	made,	Väter, fathers.
ö,	o-a,	i,	bird ³ ,	Löwe, lion.
ü,	oo-a ⁴ ,	ʰ,	—	Glück, happiness.
ie ⁶ ,	e-a,	ie,	field,	Wiese, meadow.

3 The English word bird does not quite answer to the sound of this vowel; it has rather the sound of eu in the French words: feu, cœur, fleur, jeune, peu.

4 We have preferred thus naming these letters in order to be able to designate them with more facility; but we much approve of the new system, which substitutes in their place the simple intonation of sounds.

5 There is no sound corresponding to this vowel in English, and in order to learn it well, the pupils must hear it pronounced; it answers to the sound of u in the French words: but, nû, vertu.

6 The disposition, which we have adopted, of placing analogous sounds together, will facilitate to learners the study of the pronunciation. There are even some provinces in Germany where ä and ö are both pronounced a; ü and ie, e; ei or ey, eu, and äu, I.

Figures.	Name.	Are pronounced as	In the English words:	German Examples.
ei,	a-e,	}	I,	Weise, manner.
ey,	a-ypsilon,			seyn, to be.
ai,	ah-e,	}	oy,	Kaiser, Emperor.
äu,	ah-a-oo,			Bäume, trees.
eu,	a-oo,	}	boy ⁷ ,	Leute, people.
ou,	ah-oo,			Haus, house.
u,	oo,	oo,	boot,	gut, good.

Of the simple and compound consonants the following differ in their pronunciation from the English consonants:

Ç.

Ç, before a, o, u, before a consonant, or at the end of a syllable, has the sound of k. Ex. Cato, Cato; Conrad, Conrad; Cur, cure; Credit, credit; Spectafel, noise. Before the other vowels the letter c is pronounced like ts. Ex. Cäsar, Cæsar; Cícero, Cicero; Ceres, Ceres.

Ch.

Ch, which is called tsay-hah, is pronounced like k: 1. when at the beginning of a word; Ex. Chor, choir; Chronik, chronicle; Christ, Christian; 2. when followed by f or s; Ex. Büchse, box; Wachs, wax. In words derived from the French, it preserves the French sound. Ex. Charlatan, quack. This consonant, when preceded by a, o, u, is pronounced from the throat. Ex. Bach, rivulet; Loch, hole; Buch, book; Sprache, language. Placed any where else, it is articulated with a less guttural sound. Ex. Bücher, books; Blech, iron plate; ich, I; Gesicht, face.

G.

G, at the beginning of a syllable has a hard sound, as in the English word go. Ex. Gabe, gift; Gott, God; gut, good; Gift, poison. When at the end of a syllable it has a middle sound between those of the guttural ch and f. Ex. Tag, day; möglich, possible; flug, prudent; Essig, vinegar; ewig, eternal. In words borrowed from the French, g is pronounced as in French. Ex. Loge, box (in a theatre); Genie, genius.

⁷ We have only been able to indicate the sounds of the two diphthongs äu and eu approximatively; their pronunciation is not quite the same, and in order to become familiar with them, the pupils must hear their master pronounce them.

The pronunciation of g cannot be properly acquired unless from the professor's own lips; he must therefore make his pupils pronounce the following words:

Sage, tradition.
Falg, tallow.
Berg, mountain.
Zwerg, dwarf.
Läugnen, to deny.
Sieg, victory.
Fähigkeit, capacity.
Möglichkeit, possibility.
Magd, maid-servant.
Mägde, maid-servants.

Müßiggänger, idler.
Jögling, pupil.
Angst, anguish.
Länge, length.
Menge, quantity.
Gesang, singing.
Klang, sound.
Ring, ring.
Jungfrau, virgin.
Junggesell, bachelor.

h.

The letter h is aspirated at the beginning of a syllable. Ex. Hand, hand; Held, hero; Hut, hat. It is mute in the middle and at the end of a syllable, and then it lengthens the vowel that precedes or follows it. Ex. Bahn, road; Hohn, mockery; Lohn, reward; lehren, to teach; Thaler, crown (coin); Kuh, cow; Thräne, tear; thun, to do.

j.

J (yot) has the sound of y in the English word you. Ex. Jagd, chase; Jäger, hunter; jeder, each; jetzt, at present.

Q.

Q is always followed by u, and in combination with that letter pronounced like kv in English. Ex. Qual, torment; Quelle, source.

S.

S has the pronunciation of s in English. Ex. Same, seed; Seele, soul; Person, person.

Œ.

Œ is pronounced like sh in English. Ex. Œaf, sheep; Œild, shield.

Œ.

Œ is pronounced like ss in English. Ex. Haß, hatred; weiß, white. This double consonant is compounded of f and z, and is called ess-tset.

Œ.

Œ is compounded of t and z, and has the sound of these two consonants combined. Ex. Œaß, treasure; Pug, finery.

Œ.

Œ is sounded like f. Ex. Vater, father; Vormund, tutor; Volk, people.

Œ.

Œ is pronounced like an English v, and not like w. Ex. Wald, forest; Wiese, meadow.

3.

3 has the pronunciation of ts. Ex. Zahn, tooth; Zelt, tent.

various ways. Each lesson, except the fourth, includes three operations: the teacher, in the first place, looks over the exercises of the most attentive of his pupils, putting to them the questions contained in the printed exercises; he then dictates to them the next lesson; and lastly puts fresh questions to them on all the preceding lessons. The teacher may divide one lesson into two, or two into three, or even make two into one, according to the degree of intelligence of his pupils.

² Ihr with a small letter signifies their, and has the same declension as Ihr, your.

I have the table.—Have you my table?—I have your table.—Have you the sugar?—I have the sugar.—Have you your sugar?—I have my sugar.—Have you the paper?—I have the paper.—Have you my paper?—I have your paper³.

3 Pupils desirous of making rapid progress, may compose a great many phrases in addition to those we have given them in the exercises; but they must pronounce them aloud, as they write them. They should also make separate lists of such substantives, adjectives, pronouns, and verbs, as they meet with in the course of the lessons, in order to be able to find those words more easily, when they require to refer to them in writing their lessons.

TWELFTH LESSON.—Zwölfte Section.

The peasant,	der Bauer (gen. n);
the ox,	der Ochse;
the cook,	der Koch;
the bird,	der Vogel.

		Masc.	Neut.
His.	{ NOM.	sein,	sein.
	{ ACC.	seinen,	sein.

Obs. A. The conjunctive possessive pronoun sein is declined like mein and Ihr. (See Lessons IV. and V.)

The servant,	der Bediente;
the broom,	der Besen.
Has the servant his broom?	Hat der Bediente seinen Besen?
His eye,	sein Auge;
his foot,	seinen Fuß;
his rice,	seinen Reis.
Has the cook his chicken or that of the peasant?	Hat der Koch sein Huhn oder das des Bauern?
He has his own.	Er hat das seinige.

	Masc.	Neut.
His or his own (absolute possessive pronoun).	{ N. der seinige,	das seinige.
	{ A. den seinigen,	das seinige.

Has the servant his trunk or mine?	Hat der Bediente seinen Koffer oder den meinigen?
He has his own.	Er hat den seinigen.
Have you your shoe or his?	Haben Sie Ihren Schuh oder den seinigen?
I have his.	Ich habe den seinigen.

Somebody or anybody, some one or any one (indefinite pronoun).	{ NOM.	Jemand.

{ Es hat ihn Jemand.

Wer hat meinen Stöck?

Niemand hat ihn.

Obs. B. Niemand is declined exactly like Jemand.

Who has my ribbon?

Nobody has it.

Nobody has his broom.

Wer hat mein Band?

Niemand hat es.

Niemand hat seinen Besen.

EXERCISES. 10.

Have you the ox of the peasant or that of the cook?—
I have neither that of the peasant nor that of the cook.—
Has the peasant his rice?—He has it.—Have you it?—I have it not.—Has his boy the servant's broom?—He has it.
—Who has the boy's pencil?—Nobody has it.—Has your brother my stick or that of the painter?—He has neither yours nor that of the painter; he has his own.—Has he the good or bad money?—He has neither the good nor the bad.—Has he the wooden or the leaden horse?—He has neither the wooden nor the leaden horse.—What has he good?—He has my good honey.—Has my neighbour's boy my book?—He has it not.—Which book has he?—He has his fine book.—Has he my book or his own?—He has his own.—Who has my gold button?—Nobody has it.—Has anybody my thread stocking?—Nobody has it.

THIRTEENTH LESSON.—Dreizehnte Section.

The sailor,	der Matrose, der Bootsknecht;
the chair,	der Stuhl;
the looking-glass,	der Spiegel;
the candle,	das Licht;
the tree,	der Baum;
the garden,	der Garten;
the foreigner,	der Fremde;
the glove,	der Handschuh.

This ass,	dieser Esel;
that hay,	dieses (dieß) Heu.

The grain,	das Korn;
the corn,	das Getreide.

This man,	dieser Mann;
that man,	jener Mann;
this book,	dieses (dieß ¹) Buch;
that book,	jenes Buch.

		N.	G.	D.	A.
This or this one.	Masc.	dieser	—eß	—em	—en.
That or that one.	Neut.	jenes	—eß	—em	—eß.

Obs. It will be perceived that dieser and jener are declined exactly like the definite article. (See Lesson IV.) The English almost always use that when the Germans use dieses. In German jener is only employed when it relates to a person or a thing spoken of before, or to make an immediate comparison between two things or persons. Therefore, whenever this is not the case, the English that must be translated by dieser.

Have you this hat or that one Haben Sie diesen oder jenen Hut?

But.

Aber, sondern.

Obs. Aber is used after affirmative or negative propositions; sondern is only used after negative propositions.

1 Dieß or dieß is often used for dieses in the nominative and accusative neuter, particularly when it is not followed by a substantive, and when it represents a whole sentence, as will be seen hereafter.

I have not this, but that one.	Ich habe nicht diesen, sondern jenen.
Has the neighbour this book or that one?	Hat der Nachbar dieses oder jenes Buch?
He has this, but not that one.	Er hat dieses, aber nicht jenes.
Have you this looking-glass or that one?	Haben Sie diesen oder jenen Spiegel?
I have neither this nor that one.	Ich habe weder diesen noch jenen.
That ox,	dieser Ochse;
the letter,	der Brief;
the note,	der Zettel (das Billet);
the horse-shoe,	das Hufeisen.

EXERCISE 12.

Which hay has the foreigner?—He has that of the peasant.—Has that sailor my looking-glass?—He has it not.—Have you this candle or that one?—I have this one.—Have you the hay of my garden or that of yours?—I have neither that of your garden nor that of mine, but that of the foreigner.—Which glove have you?—I have his glove.—Which chair has the foreigner?—He has his own.—Who has my good candle?—This man has it.—Who has that looking-glass?—That foreigner has it.—What has your servant (Ihr Bedienter)?—He has the tree of this garden.—Has he that man's book?—He has not the book of that man, but that of this boy.—Which ox has this peasant?—He has that of your neighbour.—Have I your letter or his?—You have neither mine nor his, but that of your friend.—Have you this horse's hay?—I have not its hay, but its shoe.—Has your brother my note or his own?—He has that of the sailor.—Has this foreigner my glove or his own?—He has neither yours nor his own, but that of his friend.—Are you hungry or thirsty?—I am neither hungry nor thirsty, but sleepy.—Is he sleepy or hungry?—He is neither sleepy nor hungry, but tired.—Am I right or wrong?—You are neither right nor wrong, but your good boy is wrong.—Have I the good or the bad knife?—You have neither the good nor the bad, but the ugly (one).—What have I?—You have nothing good, but something bad.—Who has my ass?—The peasant has it.

FOURTEENTH LESSON.—Vierzehnte Section.

	N.	G.	D.	A.
That or which (relative pronoun).	Masc. welcher—es—em—en.
	Neut. welches—es—em—es.

Obs. A. It will be perceived that the relative pronoun welcher is declined like the definite article, which may be substituted for it; but then the masculine and neuter of the genitive case is dessen instead of des. Welcher is never used in the genitive case.

Have you the hat, which my brother has?	Haben Sie den Hut, welchen mein Bruder hat?
I have not the hat, which your brother has.	Ich habe nicht den Hut, welchen Ihr Bruder hat.
Have you the horse, which I have?	Haben Sie das Pferd, welches ich habe?
I have the horse, which you have.	Ich habe das Pferd, welches Sie haben.

	Masc.	Neut.
That or the one (determinative pronoun).	N. derjenige.	dasjenige.
	G. dessenjigen.	dessenjigen.
	D. demjeningen.	demjeningen.
	A. denjeningen.	dasjenige.

Obs. B. Derjenige is always used with a relative pronoun, to determine the person or thing to which that pronoun relates. It is compounded of the definite article and jenig, and declined like an adjective preceded by this article. The article alone may also be substituted in its stead, but must then undergo the modification pointed out in the foregoing observation, as will be seen hereafter.

I have that, or the one which you have.	Ich habe denjenigen, welchen Sie haben.
	Ich habe den, welchen Sie haben.
You have that which I have.	Sie haben dasjenige, welches ich habe.
	Sie haben das, welches ich habe.

Welchen Wagen haben Sie?
Ich habe den (denjenigen), welchen Ihr Freund hat.
der Wagen;
das Haus.

The same. { Masc. derselbe (der nämliche).
 { Neut. dasselbe (das nämliche).

Obs. C. Derselbe, the same, is compounded of the definite article and selbst, and is declined like derjenige. It is frequently used instead of the personal pronoun of the third person, to avoid repetition, and to make the sentence more perspicuous.

Have you the same stick, which I have? Haben Sie denselben (den nämlichen) Stock, den ich habe?

I have the same. Ich habe denselben (den nämlichen).

Has that man the same cloth, which you have? Hat dieser Mann dasselbe (das nämliche) Tuch, welches (das) Sie haben?

He has not the same. Er hat nicht dasselbe (das nämliche).

Has he (that is, has the same man) my glove? Hat derselbe meinen Handschuh?

He has it not. Er hat ihn (denselben) nicht.

EXERCISE 13.

Have you the garden which I have?—I have not the one that you have.—Which looking-glass have you?—I have the one which your brother has.—Has he the book that your friend has?—He has not the one which my friend has.—Which candle has he?—He has that of his neighbour.—He has the one that I have.—Has he this tree or that one?—He has neither this nor that, but the one which I have.—Which ass has the man?—He has the one that his boy has.—Has the stranger your chair or mine?—He has neither yours nor mine; but he has his friend's good chair.—Have you the glove which I have, or the one that my tailor has?—I have neither the one which you have, nor the one which your tailor has, but my own.—Has your shoemaker my fine shoe, or that of his boy?—He has neither yours nor that of his boy, but that of the good stranger.—Which house has the baker?—He has neither yours nor mine, but that of his good brother.—Which carriage have I? Have I mine or that of the peasant?—You have neither yours nor that of the peasant; you have the one which I have.—Have you my fine carriage?—I have it not; but the Frenchman has it.—What has the Frenchman?—He has nothing.—What has the shoemaker?—He has something fine. What has he fine?—He has his fine shoe.—Is the shoemaker right?—He is not wrong; but his neighbour, the baker, is right.—Is your horse hungry?—It (Es) is not hungry, but thirsty.—Have you my ass's hay or yours?—I have that which my brother has.—Has your friend the same horse that my brother has?—He has not the same horse, but the same coat.—Has he (Hat derselbe) my umbrella?—He has it not.

FIFTEENTH LESSON.—Fünfzehnte Section.

DECLENSION OF MASCULINE AND NEUTER SUBSTANTIVES.

I. SINGULAR.

RULES. 1. Substantives of the masculine and neuter gender take es or s in the genitive case singular: those ending in s, ß, z, ß, take es; all others, particularly those ending in el, en, er, den, and lein, take s.

2. All masculine substantives which end in e in the nominative singular take n in the other cases of the singular and plural¹, and do not soften the radical vowel.

II. PLURAL.

RULES. 1. All substantives, without exception, take n in the dative case of the plural, if they have not one in the nominative.

2. All masculine and neuter substantives ending in el, en, *er*², as also diminutives in chen and lein, have the same termination in the plural as in the singular.

3. In all cases of the plural, masculine substantives take e, and neuter substantives er; and soften the radical vowels a, o, u, into ä, ö, ü.

4. In words of the neuter gender ending in el, en, er, the radical vowel is not softened in the plural, except in: das Kloster, the convent; plur. *die Klöster*³.

The hats,
the buttons,
the tables,
the houses,
the ribbons,

die Hüte;
die Knöpfe;
die Tische;

ACC.	the good.

For all Genders.

NOM.	die guten.
GEN.	der guten.
DAT.	den guten.
ACC.	die guten.

2 These three terminations exactly correspond in pronunciation to the English word Eleanor. (See pages 3, 4, Method, Part. II.)

3 The declension of those substantives which deviate from these rules will be separately noted.

4 It must be observed that in the diphthong au, a is softened. In

The good boys.
The ugly dogs.

Die guten Knaben.
Die häßlichen Hunde 5.

Obs. Adjectives preceded in the plural by a possessive pronoun have the same declension as with the definite article.

declension; but when alone, it undergoes the same changes as when substituted for derjenige. (See Obs. A. above.) The pronoun der, daß, is distinguished from the article der, daß, by a stress in the pronunciation. As an article, it throws the tonic accent on the word which immediately follows.

Which books have you?	Welche Bücher haben Sie?
Have you these books or those?	Haben Sie diese oder jene Bücher?
I have neither these nor those.	Ich habe weder diese noch jene. Ich habe weder die der Spanier noch die der Türken.

RULE. Some or any before a noun is not expressed in German.

EXERCISE 17.

Have you my good combs?—I have them.—Have you the good horses of the English?—I have them not.—Which brooms have you?—I have those of the foreigners.—Have you my coats or those of my friends?—I have neither yours nor those of your friends.—Have you mine or his?—I have his.—Has the Italian the good cheeses which you have?—He has not those which I have, but those which you have.—Has your boy my good pencils?—He has them.—Has he the carpenter's nails?—He has them not.—What has he?—He has his iron nails.—Has anybody the thimbles of the tailors?—Nobody has them.—Who has the ships of the Spaniards?—The English have them.—Have the English these ships or those?—The English have their ships.—Have your brothers my knives or theirs?—My brothers have neither your knives nor theirs.—Have I your chickens or those of your cooks?—You have neither mine nor those of my cooks.—Which chickens have I?—You have those of the good peasant.—Who has my oxen?—Your servants have them.—Have the Germans them?—The Germans have them not, but the Turks have them.—Who has my wooden table?—Your boys have it.—Who has my good breads?—Your friends have it.

EIGHTEENTH LESSON.—Achtzehnte Section.

DECLENSION OF ADJECTIVES WITHOUT AN ARTICLE.

RULE. An adjective, not preceded by an article, takes the same termination as the definite article, except in the genitive singular, masculine and neuter, which then ends in en instead of es ¹.

	Masc.	Neut.
Good wine or some good wine, &c.	N. guten Wein, gutes Salz.
	G. guten Weines, guten Salzes.
	D. gutem Weine, gutem Salze.
	A. guten Wein, gutes Salz.

	Plural for all Genders.
Good or some good, &c. (plural).	N.	G.	D.	A.
	gute,	guter,	guten,	gute.
Some good cheese,	guter Käse;
some good bread,	gutes Brod.

	Singular.
Some of it, any of it, of it.	M. welchen, dessen, desselben.
	N. welches, dessen, desselben.

	Plural for all Genders.
Some of them, any of them, of them.	welche, deren, derselben.

Obs. The pronoun some or any, when taken in a partitive sense, is expressed by welch. Of him, of it, of them &c., when governed by a substantive, an adjective, or a verb requiring in German the genitive, are expressed by the genitive of the personal pronouns, if relating to a person; and if to a thing, by the genitives dessen, desselben, deren, derselben, which may sometimes be omitted ².

Have you any wine?
I have some.

Haben Sie Wein?
Ich habe welchen.

¹ Except also in the nominative and accusative singular of the neuter, in which it changes as into es.

² Dessen and deren are generally used with viel, wenig, and genug; deren also with a cardinal number; but they are not frequently employed with einige, etliche, verschiedene, mehr, or mehrere.

Have you any water?	Haben Sie Wasser?
I have some.	Ich habe welches.
Have you any good wine?	Haben Sie guten Wein?
I have some.	Ich habe welchen.
Have I any good cloth?	Habe ich gutes Tuch?
You have some.	Sie haben welches.
Have you any shoes?	Haben Sie Schuhe?
I have some.	Ich habe welche.
Have you good or bad horses?	Haben Sie gute oder schlechte Pferde?
I have some good ones.	Ich habe gute.
Have you good or bad wine?	Haben Sie guten oder schlechten Wein?
I have some good.	Ich habe guten.
Have you good or bad water?	Haben Sie gutes oder schlechtes Wasser?
I have some good.	Ich habe gutes.

EXERCISE 13.

Have you any sugar?—I have some.—Have you any good coffee?—I have some.—Have you any salt?—I have some.—Have I any good salt?—You have some.—Have I any shoes?—You have some.—Have I any pretty dogs?—You have some.—Has the man any good honey?—He has some.—What has the man?—He has some good bread.—What has the shoemaker?—He has some pretty shoes.—Has the sailor any biscuits (Büchse does not soften in the plural)?—He has some.—Has your friend any good pencils?—He has some.—Have you good or bad coffee?—I have some good.—Have you good or bad wood?—I have some good.—Have I good or bad oxen?—You have some bad (ones).—Has your brother good or bad cheese?—He has neither good nor bad.—What has he good?—He has some good friends.—Who has some cloth?—My neighbour has some.—Who has some money?—The French have some.—Who has some gold?—The English have some.—Who has some good horses?—The Germans have some.—Who has some good hay?—This ass has some.—Who has some good bread?—That Spaniard has some.—Who has some good books?—These Frenchmen have some.—Who has some good ships?—Those Englishmen have some.—Has anybody wine?—Nobody has any.—Has the Italian fine or ugly horses?—He has some ugly (ones).—Have you wooden or RULE. Compound words in mann change in the plural this termination into leute. Ex.

The merchants,
the carpenters,

die Kaufleute;
die Zimmerleute.

EXERCISE 19.

Has the American good money?—He has some.—Have the Dutch good cheese?—Yes, Sir, the Dutch have some.—Has the Russian no cheese?—He has none.—Have you good stockings?—I have some.—Have you good or bad honey?—I have some good.—Have you some good coffee?—I have none.—Have you some bad coffee?—I have some.—Has the Irishman good wine?—He has none.—Has he good water?—He has some.—Has the Scotchman some good salt?—He has none.—What has the Dutchman?—He has good ships.—Have I some bread?—You have none.—Have I some good friends?—You have none.—Who has good friends?—The Frenchman has some.—Has your servant (Ihr Bedienter) any coats or brooms?—He has some good brooms, but no coats.—Has any one hay?—Some one has some.—Who has some?—My servant has some.—Has this man any bread?—He has none.—Who has good shoes?—My good shoemaker has some.—Have you the good hats of the Russians, or those of the Dutch?—I have neither those of the Russians nor those of the Dutch. I have those of the Irish.—Which sacks has your friend?—He has the good sacks of the merchants.—Has your boy the good hammers of the carpenters?—No, Sir, he has them not.—Has this little boy some sugar?—He has none.—Has the brother of your friend good combs?—The brother of my friend has none, but I have some.—Who has good wooden chairs?—Nobody has any.

TWENTIETH LESSON.—Zwanzigste Section.

The hatter,

	G.	eines guten.	eines guten.
	D.	einem guten.	einem guten.
	A.	einen guten.	ein gutes.

Have you a good round hat?	Haben Sie einen guten runden Hut?
I have one.	Ich habe einen.
Has he a beautiful house?	Hat er ein schönes Haus?
He has one.	Er hat eins (eines).
He has none.	Er hat keins (keines).
I have two of them.	Ich habe deren zwei. (See Obs. Lesson XVIII.)
He has three.	Er hat deren drei.
You have four.	Sie haben deren vier.

Have you five good horses?	Haben Sie fünf gute Pferde?
I have six.	Ich habe deren sechs.
I have six good and seven bad ones.	Ich habe sechs gute und sieben schlechte.

RECAPITULATION

OF THE RULES RELATIVE TO THE DECLENSION OF ADJECTIVES.

We have shown in the foregoing lessons that in German as in English the adjective always precedes the substantive. When two or more adjectives are before the same noun, they all follow the same declension. Adjectives are not declined when they are not accompanied by a substantive expressed or understood, i. e. when they form the predicate of a proposition. Ex. Ihr Hut ist schön, your hat is beautiful; mein Band ist schön, my ribbon is beautiful; Ihre Hüte sind schön, your hats are beautiful.

When followed by a substantive expressed or understood, the adjective is declined, and assumes three different forms, viz.

1st, Before a substantive without an article preceding, it takes the same termination as the definite article, except in the genitive case singular masculine and neuter, in which it adds en instead of *es*¹.

2d, When it follows the definite article or a word of the same termination it adds en in all cases, except in the nominative singular of all genders, and the accusative singular feminine and neuter, in which it adds e.

3d, When preceded by the indefinite article, or a possessive pronoun, it adds er in the nominative masculine, e in the nominative and accusative feminine, es in the nominative and accusative neuter, and en in the other cases.

All participles partake of the nature of adjectives, and are subject to the same laws.

¹ Except also in the nominative and accusative singular of the neuter, in which it changes as into es.

A TABLE

OF THE DECLENSION OF GERMAN ADJECTIVES.

I. The adjective without an article before a substantive.				II. The adjective preceded by the definite article.			III. The adjective preceded by the inde- finite article.
	Masc.	Fem.	Neut.	Masc.	Fem.	Neut.	Masc.	Fem.	Neut.
SINGULAR.	NOM. er	e	eß	e	e	e	er	e	eß
	GEN. en	er	en	en	en	en	en	en	en
	DAT. em	er	em	en	en	en	en	en	en
	ACC. en	e	eß	en	e	e	en	e	eß
PLURAL.	NOM. e	For all genders.		en	For all genders.
	GEN. er			en
	DAT. en			en
	ACC. e			en

Obs. A. The adjective is declined in the same manner when taken substantively.

Obs. B. Adjectives preceded by the words: alle, all; einige, etliche, some, sundry; gewisse, certain; keine, none; manche, several; mehrere, many, several; solche, such; verschiedene, various; viele, many; welche, which; wenige, few, lose the letter n in the nominative and accusative plural; but they keep that termination when preceded by a possessive pronoun in the plural².

Obs. C. Adjectives ending in el, en, er, for the sake of euphony often reject the letter e which precedes those three consonants. Ex. instead of edler, goldener, theurer, we say: edler, goldner, theurer.

EXERCISE 20.

Have you a good servant?—I have one.—Has your hat-maker a beautiful house?—He has two of them.—Have I a pretty gold ribbon?—You have one.—What has the joiner?—He has beautiful tables.—Has he a beautiful round (rund) table?—He has one.—Has the baker a large looking-glass?—He has one.—Has the Scotchman the friends that I have?—He has not the same that you have, but he has good friends.—Has he your good books?—He has them.—Have I their good hammers?—You have them not, but you have your good iron nails.—Has that hatter my good hat?—He has not yours, but his own.—Have I my good shoes?—You have not yours; you have his.—Who has mine?—Somebody has them.—Has any body two letters?—The brother of my neighbour has three.—Has your cook two sheep (plur. Schafe)?—He has four.—Has he six good chickens?—He has three good and seven bad.—Has the merchant good wine?—He has some.—Has the tailor good coats?—He has none.—Has the baker good bread?—He has some.—What has the carpenter?—He has good nails.—What has your merchant?—He has good pencils, good coffee, good honey, and good biscuits (plur. Zwiebäcke).—Who has good iron?—My good friend has some.—Am I right or wrong?—You are wrong.—Is any body sleepy?—The shoemaker is sleepy and thirsty.—Is he tired?—He is not tired.—Has your servant the glasses of our (unserer, see the next Lesson) friends?—He has not those of your friends, but those of his great merchants.—Has he my wooden chair?—He has not yours, but that of his boy.—Are you thirsty?—I am not thirsty, but very hungry (großen Hunger³).

² Most modern authors frequently reject this distinction, and form all the cases of the plural in en.

TWENTY-FIRST LESSON.—Ein und zwanzigste Section.

How much? How many?

Wieviel?

How many hats?

Wieviel Hüte?

3 Besides these exercises learners should decline a good many substantives with all sorts of adjectives and pronouns.

1 Cardinal numbers are used to answer the question wieviel? how many?

How many knives?
How much bread?

Only, but.

How many tables have you?
I have only two.

How many knives have you?
I have but one good one.

Eight, nine,
ten,

Wieviel Messer?
Wieviel Brod?

Nur.

Wieviel Tische haben Sie?
Ich habe deren nur zwei. (See Obs. Lesson XVIII.)

Wieviel Messer haben Sie?
Ich habe nur ein gutes.
acht;
neun;
zehn.

What (designating the nature or kind of a thing.)

	Masc.	Neut.
{	N. was für ein,	was für ein.
	A. was für einen,	was für ein.
	Plural for all Genders.
	Was für.

What table have you?
I have a wooden table.
What tables has he?
He has stone tables.
What book has your friend?
He has a pretty book.
What paper have you?
I have some fine paper.
What sugar has he?
He has some good sugar.

Was für einen Tisch haben Sie?
Ich habe einen hölzernen Tisch.
Was für Tische hat er?
Er hat steinerne Tische.
Was für ein Buch hat Ihr Freund?
Er hat ein hübsches Buch.
Was für 3 Papier haben Sie?
Ich habe schönes Papier.
Was für Zucker hat er?
Er hat guten Zucker.

Our.

	Masc.	Neut.
{	NOM. unser.	unser.
	GEN. unseres.	unseres.
	DAT. unserem.	unserem.
	ACC. unseren.	unser.

Our (plural).

	Plural for all Genders.
{	N.	G.	D.	A.
	unsere, unserer, unseren, unsere.

Ours (singular and plural).

Der (das) unserige; die unserigen.

2 The pupils will take care not to answer here with the definite article.

3 The indefinite article is never placed before collective words, such as: Papier, paper; Wein, wine; Zucker, sugar, &c.

Obs. When a consonant, l, m, n, or r, stands between two e's, one of them is omitted to avoid too soft a pronunciation (see Obs. C. Lesson XX.), except when this letter is necessary to the termination of the word or the indication of the case. Thus we frequently say, unferſ, unferm, unſre, Eures, Eurem, Eure, &c., instead of unſereſ, unſerem, unſere, Eueres, Euerem, Euer, &c.

EXERCISES. 21.

How many friends have you?—I have two good friends.—Have you eight good trunks?—I have nine.—Has your friend ten good brooms?—He has only three.—Has he two good ships?—He has only one.—How many hammers has the carpenter?—He has only four.—How many shoes has the shoemaker?—He has ten.—Has the young man ten good books?—He has only five.—Has the painter seven good umbrellas?—He has not seven, but one.—How many corks (ſropfen does not soften in the plur.) have I?—You have only three.—Has your neighbour our good bread?—He has not ours, but that of his brother.—Has our horse any hay?—It (eſ) has some.—Has the friend of our tailor good buttons?—He has some.—Has he gold buttons?—He has no gold (buttons), but silver (ones).—How many oxen has our brother?—He has no oxen.—How many coats has the young man of our neighbours (plur. Nachbarn)?—The young man of our neighbours has only one good coat, but that of your friends has three of them.—Has he our good rams?—He has them.—Have I his?—You have not his, but ours.—How many good rams have I?—You have nine.

22.

Who has our silver candlesticks?—Our merchant's boy has them.—Has he our large birds?—He has not ours, but those of the great Irishman.—Has the Italian great eyes (daſ Auge takes n in the plur., and is not softened)?—He has great eyes and great feet.—Who has great thread

4 Euer, your, is in fact the second person of the possessive pronoun. Ihr is the third person, used generally out of politeness, and for that reason written with a capital letter. (See Lessons IV. and XVII.)

23.

Who is thirsty?—Nobody is thirsty; but the friend of our neighbour is sleepy.—Who has our iron knives?—The Scotchman has them.—Has he them?—He has them.—What kind of friends have you?—I have good friends.—Is the friend of our Englishmen right?—He is neither right nor wrong.—Has he good little birds, and good little sheep (plur. Schafe)?—He has neither birds nor sheep.—What has the Italian?—He has nothing.—Has our tailor's boy anything beautiful?—He has nothing beautiful, but something ugly.—What has he ugly?—He has an ugly dog.—Has he an ugly horse?—He has no horse.—What has our young friend?—He has nothing.—Has he a good book?—He has one.—Has he good salt?—He has none.

TWENTY-SECOND LESSON.—Zwei und zwanzigste Section.

Much, many, a good deal of.	Viel.
Much wine.	Viel Wein.
Much money.	Viel Geld.

Obs. A. When viel is preceded by an article, pronoun, or preposition, or when it stands alone and is used substantively, it is declined like an adjective; otherwise it is indeclinable.

Have you much good wine?	Saben Sie viel guten Wein?
I have a good deal.	Ich habe dessen viel. (See Obs. Lesson XVIII.)
Have you much money?	Saben Sie viel Geld?
I have a good deal.	Ich habe dessen viel.

Too much.	Zu viel.
You have too much wine.	Sie haben zu viel Wein.
We.	Wir.
We have.	Wir haben.
We have not.	Wir haben nicht.
We have little or not much money.	Wir haben nicht viel Geld.

Enough.	Genug.
Enough money.	Geld genug.
Knives enough.	Messer genug.

Obs. B. Genug is never put before the substantive.

Little.	Wenig.
----------------	---------------

Obs. C. Our remark on viel applies equally to wenig. But these two words are declined, when they relate to several distinct things or anything that may be counted, as will be seen hereafter.

But little, only a little (not much.)	Nur wenig (nicht viel).
Have you enough wine?	Haben Sie Wein genug?
I have only a little, but enough.	Ich habe dessen nur wenig, aber genug. (See Obs. Lesson XVIII.)

A little.	Ein wenig.
A little wine.	Ein wenig Wein.
A little salt.	Ein wenig Salz.

Courage.	Der Muth.
You have but little courage.	Sie haben nicht viel Muth.
We have few friends.	Wir haben wenig Freunde.

Of them (relative to persons).	Ihrer (gen. of the personal pronoun sie, they. See Obs. Lesson XVIII.)
---------------------------------------	---

Have you many friends?	Haben Sie viel Freunde?
We have but few.	Wir haben ihrer nur wenige. (See Obs. C. above.)
You have but little money.	Sie haben nicht viel Geld.
Has the foreigner much money?	Hat der Fremde viel Geld?
He has but little.	Er hat dessen nur wenig.

EXERCISES. 24.

Have you much coffee?—I have only a little.—Has your friend much water?—He has a great deal.—Has the foreigner much corn?—He has not much.—What has the American?—He has much sugar.—What has the Russian?—He has much salt.—Have we much rice?—We have but little.—What have we?—We have much wine, much water and many friends.—Have we much gold?—We have only a little, but enough.—Have you many boys?—We have only a few.—Has our neighbour much hay?—He has enough.—Has the Dutchman much cheese?—He has a great deal.—Has this man courage?—He has none.—Has that foreigner money?—He has not a great deal, but enough.—Has the painter's boy candles (plur. ſichtſer)?—He has some.

25.

Have we good letters?—We have some.—We have none.—Has the joiner good bread?—He has some.—He has none.—Has he good honey?—He has none.—Has the Englishman a good horse?—He has one.—What have we?—We have good horses.—Who has a beautiful house?—The German has one.—Has the Italian many pretty looking-glasses?—He has a great many; but he has only a little corn.—Has my good neighbour the same horse which you have?—He has not the same horse, but the same carriage.—Has the Turk the same ships that we have?—He has not the same, he has those of the Russians.

26.

How many servants have we?—We have only one, but our brothers have three of them.—What knives have you?—We have iron knives.—What bag has the peasant?—He has a thread (ſeinen) bag.—Has the young man our long (groß) letters?—He has them not.—Who has our pretty notes?—The father (der Vater) of the sailor has them.—Has the carpenter his nails?—The carpenter has his iron nails, and the hatmaker his paper hats.—Has the painter beautiful gardens?—He has some, but his brother has none.—Have you many glasses?—We have only a few.—Have you enough wine?—We have enough of it.—Has anybody my brooms?—Nobody has them.—Has the friend of your hatmaker our combs or yours?—He has neither yours nor ours; he has his.—Has your boy my note or yours?—He has that of his brother.—Have you my stick?—I have not yours, but that of the merchant.—Have you my gloves (plur. Handschuhe)?—I have not yours, but those of my good neighbour.

Second Month.

Zweiter Monat.

TWENTY-SIXTH LESSON.—Sechs und zwanzigste Section.

OF THE INFINITIVE.

ALL German verbs form their infinitive in en. This termination in verbs the root of which ends in el or *er*¹, is contracted by throwing out the letter e, as hinder, to prevent; sammeln, to collect, &c. The verbs marked with an asterisk (*) are irregular.

A wish, a mind, a desire,	Lust ;
time,	Zeit ² ;
to,	zu .

Obs. The preposition zu, to, always stands before the infinitive. In compound verbs it is placed between the separable particle and the infinitive, as will be exemplified in future lessons.

To work.	Arbeiten.
To speak.	Sprechen *, reden ³ .
Have you a mind to work?	Haben Sie Lust, zu arbeiten?
I have a mind to work.	Ich habe Lust, zu arbeiten.
He has not the courage to speak.	Er hat nicht den Muth, zu sprechen.
To cut.	Schneiden *.
To cut it.	{ Masc. ihn { schneiden *.
	{ Neut. es {
To cut them,	sie schneiden *.

1 By the root we understand that part of a verb which precedes the termination en of the infinitive; e. g. in the verb loben, to praise, lob is the root.

2 The two substantives Lust and Zeit are feminine. If they are required in a negative sense, keine Lust, and nicht Zeit must be used. Ex. Ich habe keine Lust, zu sprechen, I have no mind to speak; er hat nicht Zeit, zu arbeiten, he has no time to work.

3 Sprechen is derived from die Sprache, the language, and signifies to produce or emit sounds in a physical manner; reden means to express ideas by words, from die Rede, the discourse.

To cut some.

Masc. welchen, dessen,	} schneiden.*
davon
Neut. welches, dessen, davon
Plural for all Genders. welche, deren, davon	schnneiden.

Has he time to cut trees?
He has time to cut some.

Hat er Zeit, Bäume zu schneiden?
Er hat Zeit, welche zu schneiden.

To buy.
To buy some more.

Kaufen.
Noch kaufen.

To buy one.

Masc. einen } kaufen.
Neut. eins }

To buy two.

Zwei kaufen.

To buy one more.

Masc. noch einen } kaufen.
Neut. noch eins }

To buy two more.

Noch zwei kaufen.

 The infinitive is always placed at the end of the phrase whether preceded by zu or not.

Have you a mind to buy one more horse?	Haben Sie Lust, noch ein Pferd zu kaufen?
I have a mind to buy one more.	Ich habe Lust, noch eins zu kaufen.
Have you a mind to buy some books?	Haben Sie Lust, Bücher zu kaufen?
I have a mind to buy some, but I have no time.	Ich habe Lust, welche zu kaufen, aber ich habe nicht Zeit.
Has he time to work?	Hat er Zeit, zu arbeiten?
He has time, but no mind to work.	Er hat Zeit, aber keine Lust, zu arbeiten.

EXERCISES. 36.

Have you still a mind to buy the house of my friend?—
I have still a mind to buy it, but I have no more money.
—Have you time to work?—I have time, but no mind to work.—Has he time to cut some sticks?—He has time to cut some.—Have you a mind to cut some bread?—I have a mind to cut some, but I have no knife.—Have you time to cut some cheese?—I have time to cut some.—Has he a desire to cut the tree?—He has a desire to cut it, but he has no time.—Has he time to cut the cloth?—He has time to cut it.—Have I time to cut the trees?—You have time to cut them.—Has the painter a mind to buy a horse?—He has a mind to buy two.—Has your captain of the navy (Schiffscapitain) time to speak?—He has time, but no desire to speak.

Have you a mind to buy a carriage?—I have a mind to buy one.—Have I a mind to buy a house?—You have a mind to buy one.—Has your brother a mind to buy a great ox?—He has a mind to buy a little one.—We have a mind to buy little oxen.—How many horses have you a mind to buy?—I have a mind to buy four.—Has any one a mind to buy a broom?—This man has a mind to buy one.—What has that man a mind to buy?—He has a mind to buy a beautiful carriage, three beautiful horses, good tea, and good meat.

38.

Have you a desire to speak?—I have a desire, but no time to speak.—Have you the courage to cut your arm?—I have not the courage to cut it.—Am I right in speaking (zu sprechen)?—You are not wrong in speaking, but you are wrong in cutting (zu schneiden) my trees.—Has the son of your friend a desire to buy one more bird?—He has a desire to buy one more.—Have you a mind to buy one more beautiful coat?—I have a mind to buy one more.—Have we a mind to buy a few more horses?—We have a mind to buy a few more, but we have no more money. (See Lesson XXIV.)

39.

What have you a mind to buy?—We have a mind to buy something good, and our neighbours have a mind to buy something beautiful.—Have their children a desire to buy any birds?—Their children have no desire to buy any.—

Have you the courage to buy the trunk of the captain?—I have a desire to buy it, but I have no more money.—Who has a mind to buy my beautiful dog?—Nobody has a mind to buy it.—Have you a mind to buy my beautiful birds, or those of the Frenchman?—I have a mind to buy those of the Frenchman.—Which book has he a mind to buy?—He has a mind to buy that which you have, that which your son has, and that which mine has.—Have you two horses?—I have only one, but I have a wish to buy one more.

TWENTY-SEVENTH LESSON.—Sieben und zwanzigste Section.

OF COMPOUND VERBS.

There are in German two kinds of compound verbs: one kind consists of a simple verb and a particle which is inseparable from it; the other of a simple verb and a particle which can be separated, either to give place to the syllable ge of the participle past, or to zu, or to be itself placed after the verb or even at the end of the phrase. We shall distinguish the separable verbs by placing zu between the verb and the particle.¹ Examples:

To break.	Zerbrechen*.
To keep (to take care).	Aufbewahren (aufzubewahren).
To pick up.	Aufheben* (aufzuheben).
To mend.	Ausbeßern (auszubessern).
To make a fire.	Feuer anmachen (anzumachen).

Has the tailor time to mend my coat? Hat der Schneider Zeit, meinen Rock auszubessern?

He has time to mend it. Er hat Zeit, ihn auszubessern².

To wash. Waschen*.

¹ These verbs may likewise be distinguished by the tonic accent, which is placed on the root of the verb when the particle is inseparable, and when separable on the particle itself.

² These examples show how the separable particle gives way in the infinitive to zu.

To burn.	{ Brennen ^{3.*} Verbrennen (to destroy by burning).
To seek, to look for.	Suchen (governs the Accusative).
To warm.	Wärmen.
To make.	Machen (physically).
To do.	Thun [*] (morally [†]).
Has the shoemaker time to make my boots?	Hat der Schuhmacher Zeit, meine Stiefel zu machen?
He has time to make them.	Er hat Zeit, sie zu machen.

To be willing, to wish. Wollen^{*}.

Will you?	{ Wollen Sie?
Are you willing?
Do you wish?	{ Ich will.
I will, I am willing, I wish.
Will he? is he willing? does he wish?	{ Will er?
He will, he is willing, he wishes.	Er will.
We will, we are willing, we wish.	Wir wollen.
You will, you are willing, you wish.	{ Ihr ^s wisset.
They will, they are willing, they wish.	{ Sie wollen.

Obs. A. The particle zu does not precede the infinitive added to the verb wollen, to be willing. Ex.

Do you wish to make my fire?	Wollen Sie mein Feuer anmachen?
I am willing to make it.	Ich will es anmachen.
I do not wish to make it.	Ich will es nicht anmachen.
Does he wish to buy your horse?	Will er Ihr Pferd kaufen?
He wishes to buy it.	Er will es kaufen.

3 The verb brennen (as well as its compounds, verbrennen, &c.) is regular when used in an active or transitive, but irregular when in a neuter or intransitive sense. We denote such verbs by the following abbreviations: v. ac. and neut. irreg.

4 The verb machen always relates to a determinate action, and is employed nearly as the English verb to make, in the sense of producing anything; the verb thun^{*} on the contrary always, like the English verb to do, relates to an indeterminate action, as: Ein Kleid machen, to make a coat; Feuer machen, to make a fire; einen Gefallen thun, to do a favour; seine Schuldigkeit thun, to do one's duty.

5 Ihr, you, is the real second person plural; but the Germans generally use Sie, which is the third.

A TABLE OF COMPOUND VERBS⁶.

I. INSEPARABLE VERBS⁷.

These verbs are formed by prefixing one of the following unaccented particles to simple verbs: be, emp, ent, er, ge, hinter, ver, wider, zer. (See pages 68 et seqq. and pages 105, 106, Method, Part. II.)

Be—bedenken*, to reflect.

Emp—empfehlen*, to recommend.

Ent—entfliehen*, to run away.

Er—erhalten*, to receive.

Ge—gestehen*, to confess.

Hinter—hintergehen*, to deceive.

Ver—versprechen*, to promise.

Wider—widerlegen*, to refute.

Zer—zerbrechen*, to break.

II. SEPARABLE VERBS.

Ab—abschreiben*, to copy.

An—anfangen*, to begin.

Auf—aufheben*, to pick up.

Aus—ausgehen*, to go out.

Bei—beistehen*, to assist.

Dar—darstellen, to exhibit.

Darunter—daruntermischen, to intermingle.

Davon—davonkommen*, to escape.

Durch—durchreisen, to travel through.

Ein—einschlafen*, to fall asleep.

Fort—fortfahren*, to continue.

Heim—heimgehen*, to go home.

Heraus—herauskommen*, to come out.

Herunter—herunterbringen*, to bring down.

Herzu—herzunahen, to draw near.

Hin—hingehen*, to go thither.

Hinauf—hinaufsteigen*, to ascend.

Hinaus—hinauswerfen*, to throw out.

Hinterein—hineingehen*, to go in.

Inner—innehalten*, to stop.

Mit—mittheilen*, to communicate.

Nieder—niederlegen, to lay down.

Nach—nachmachen, to imitate.

Ueber—überfließen*, to overflow.

Um—umwerfen*, to overturn.

Unter—untersinken*, to go to the bottom.

Voll—vollgießen*, to fill up.

Vor—vorgeben*, to pretend.

Voraus—voraussetzen, to foretell.

Vorbei—vorbeigehen*, to pass by.

Vorher—vorhersehen*, to foresee.

Vorüber—vorüberfahren*, to pass by in a coach.

Weg—weggehen*, to go away.

Wieder—wiederkommen*, to come again.

Zu—zureden, to persuade.

Zurück—zurückkehren, to return.

Zusammen—zusammensetzen, to put together.

6 Our intention, in giving tables of the most complicated grammatical parts, is not that the learners should make an immediate application of them; we only wish to give them a clear and general idea of those parts, in order to enable them to find them out more easily, as they will be in want of them in advancing by degrees. They must in their exercises employ only the words and expressions made use of in the lessons.

7 We call verbs inseparable when they cannot, and separable when they can be separated.

Obs. B. Some compound verbs are either inseparable or separable, according to their signification. We shall speak of them afterwards. (See page 104, Method, Part II.)

EXERCISES. 40.

Have you a desire to keep my letter?—I have a desire to keep it.—Am I right in keeping (aufzubewahren) your money?—You are right in keeping it.—Has the tailor a desire to make my coat?—He has a desire to make it, but he has no time.—Has your tailor time to mend my coats?—He has time to mend them.—Have you the courage to burn my hat?—I have not the courage to burn it; I have a mind to keep it.—Has the shoemaker's boy a mind to mend my boots?—He has no time to mend them.—What has our friend's tailor to mend?—He has to mend our old coats.—Who has to mend our boots?—Our shoemaker has to mend them.—What has our hatmaker to do?—He has to mend your great hats.—Has your brother's joiner anything to do?—He has to mend our great tables and our little chairs.

TWENTY-NINTH LESSON.—Neun und zwanzigste Section.

Where?

{ Wo? (an adverb of place without motion.)

Whither? wheretho? { Whither? (an adverb of place with motion).

RULES.

1. The question ubi? indicates rest in a place, or with any person or object whatsoever; the preposition which answers this question always governs the dative.

2. The question wohin? denotes motion or direction towards some place or object; when answered by one of the prepositions an, to; auf, upon; hinter, behind; neben, by the side; über, above; unter, under; zwischen, between; vor, before; in, in or into, it always requires the accusative¹.

There.
Thither.

Da (rest, repose).
Sin or dašin (motion or direction).

To carry thither.

Sin or dahin tragen*.

To carry it thither.

Masc.	ihn	{	hin	or	dahin
Neut.	es				tragen*.

To carry some thither.

{	Masc. welchen	{	hin or dahin
{	Neut. welches	{	tragen*.

To carry them thither.

sie hin or dahin tragen*.

Obs. A. The adverb da, there, is always joined to a verb of rest, and the adverb hin or dahin, thither, to a verb of motion. Hin is used to express motion from, and her motion towards, the person that speaks. Ex. Er ist da, he is there; ich will auch hin (dahin) gehen, I will also go thither; wollen Sie herkommen? will you come hither?

To send.

{ Senden*.
{ Schicken 2.

1 The same prepositions govern the dative when they answer the question wo?

2 Schicken is used when a person is sent without any object, or with one of little importance, senden on the contrary always denotes a mission of importance, whence der Gesandte, the ambassador.

To come.	Kommen*.
To lead.	Führen.
I will send him (it) to you.	Ich will ihn (es) zu Ihnen schicken.
When?	Wann?
To-morrow.	Morgen.
To-day.	Heute.

Some where, any where.	Irgendwo (rest).
Some whither, any whither.	Irgendwohin (direction).
No where, not any where.	Nirgend or nirgends.

Do you wish to go any whither?	Wollen Sie irgendwohin gehen?
I do not wish to go any whither.	Ich will nirgends hingehen.

The physician,	der Arzt.
To write.	Schreiben*.

Have you to write as many letters as my father?	Haben Sie so viel Briefe zu schreiben, wie mein Vater?
---	--

Obs. B. Where the verb stands at the end of a phrase, the word wie, as or als, than, is placed with its nominative after the verb.

I have to write more (i. e. letters) than he.	Ich habe, deren mehr zu schreiben, als er.

THIRTIETH LESSON.—Dreißigste Section.

In order to (conjunction). Um—zu.
To see. Sehen.*

Obs. A. The conjunctive expression in order to, preceding the infinitive, is translated into German by um zu. When the sentence is short, um, in order, may be left out.

I will go to my brother in order to see him.	Ich will zu meinem Bruder gehen, um ihn zu sehen.
I have no money (in order) to buy bread.	Ich habe kein Geld, (um) Brod zu kaufen.
Has your brother a knife (in order) to cut his bread?	Hat Ihr Bruder ein Messer, (um) sein Brod zu schneiden?
He has one to cut it.	Er hat eins, um es zu schneiden.

THIRTY-FIRST LESSON.—Ein und dreißigste Section.

To whom?

Wem? (A question followed by the dative.)

Whom?

For persons: Wen? } (Questions

What?

For things: Was? } followed by the accus.)

DECLENSION OF THE INTERROGATIVE PRONOUN Wer? WHO?

			Masc. and Fem.	Neut.
NOM.	Who?	what?	N. wer?	was?
GEN.	whose?		G. wessen?
DAT.	to whom?	to what?	D. wem?	an was? woran?
ACC.	whom?	what?	A. wen?	worauf? wozu?
				was?

Wer, who, has no plural, and relates only to persons, without distinction of sex, as who in English. It may be used instead of derjenige, welcher, he who.

Was, which, has no plural and always relates to a thing. It often stands for dasjenige, welches, or das, welches, that which.

To answer.

Antworten¹.

To answer the man.

Dem Manne antworten.

To answer the men.

Den Männern antworten.

To answer a letter.

Auf einen Brief antworten or einen Brief beantworten.

To it.

Darauf.

To answer it.

Darauf antworten or ihn (es) beantworten.

Obs. A. The demonstrative local adverbs, da, there; hier, here; wo, where, are usually employed instead of demonstrative pronouns, and connected with the preposition which the verb requires. If the preposition begins with a vowel, the letter r is added to the words da and wo for the sake of euphony.

In.	In (governs the dat. and acc.)
In the.	In dem (im, rest ²).
Into the (masc. sing.).	In den (motion).
In the (plur.).	In den (rest).
Into the (plur.).	In die (motion).
To go into the garden.	In den Garten gehen*.
To be in the garden.	In dem (im) Garten seyn*.
To go into the gardens.	In die Gärten gehen*.
To be in the gardens.	In den Gärten seyn*.

Obs. B. The rapidity of pronunciation has led to a contraction of the last letter of the definite article with certain prepositions which precede it; thus bei'm is often said instead of bei dem, im instead of in dem, in's in the accusative neuter instead of in das.

According to this contraction we may say or write:

Am , near the,	for an dem.	Für's , for the,	for für das.
An's , to the, against the,	— an das.	Im , in the,	— in dem.
Auf's , upon the,	— auf das.	In's , into the,	— in das.
Bei'm , at the,	— bei dem.	Vom , from the,	— von dem.
Durch's , through the,	— durch das.	Zum , to the,	— zu dem.
		Zur , to the,	— zu der.

(See page 219, Method, Part II.)

The theatre,	das Theater;
the forest, the wood,	der Wald (plur. die Wälder);
the warehouse,	das Waarenlager (is not softened in the plur.);
the storehouse,	das Vorrathshaus ³ ;
the magazine,	das Magazin (plur. e);
the provision, store,	der Vorrath;
the room, the chamber,	das Zimmer;
the butcher,	der Fleischer (der Metzger).

² The preposition in is used when the place in which a person is, or towards which the motion is directed, is closed, or conceived to be so. It is followed by the dative to the question wo, and the accusative to the question wohin. (See Obs. B. page 168, and pages 187, Method, Part II.)

³ In compound words the last only is softened. Ex. das Vorrathshaus, the storehouse; plur. die Vorrathshäuser. (See Obs. A. page 9, Method, Part II.)

To go into.

Hinein gehen*.

To be in it, or there.

Darin seyn*.

Do you wish to go to the theatre? Wollen Sie in's Theater gehen?

I wish to go thither.

Ich will hinein gehen.

Is your brother in the theatre? Ist Ihr Bruder im Theater?

He is there.

Er ist darin.

Obs. C. The above examples show how darin expresses rest in, and hinein motion towards the interior of a closed place.

EXERCISES. 57.

Will you answer your friend?—I will answer him.—But whom will you answer?—I will answer my good father.—Will you not answer your good friends?—I will answer them.—Who will answer me?—The Russian wishes to answer you, but he cannot.—Will the Russian write me a letter?—He will write you one.—Can the Spaniards answer us?—They cannot answer us, but we can answer them.—What has the Englishman to do?—He has to answer a letter.—Which letter has he to answer?—He has to answer that of the good Frenchman.—Have I to answer a letter?—You have not to answer a letter, but a note.—Which note have I to answer?—You have to answer that of the great captain.

To me, to him.	An mich, an ihn.
To the man.	An den Mann.
I will write to him.	Ich will ihm schreiben.

2 The genitive singular of masculine and neuter nouns sometimes terminates in s, and sometimes in es (except those in el, en, er, chen and lein which always take s). These forms are equally good, but the former is more frequently used in conversation, and the latter in composition. The same distinction ought to be observed with regard to the dative singular of masculine and neuter nouns, which takes t when the genitive takes es.

3 An, at, by, near, points out proximity to a person or a place. (See Obs. A. page 209, and pages 210, 211, Method, Part II.)

Thy.

Sing. Dein. Plur. Deine ².

To be obliged (must). Müssen*.

I must — he must.	Ich muß — er muß.
We must — they must.	Wir müssen — sie müssen.
Thou must — you must.	Du mußt — Ihr müßet or müßt (Sie müssen.)

Obs. B. The infinitive joined to the verb müssen is not preceded by the particle zu. (See Lesson XLII.)
Ex.

We must work.	Wir müssen arbeiten.
Must you write a letter to your brother?	Müssen Sie Ihrem Bruder einen Brief schreiben?
Is he obliged to go to the market?	Muß er auf den Markt gehen?
He is obliged to go thither.	Er muß dahin gehen.

¹ In addressing one another, the Germans use the second person singular and third person plural. The second person singular Du, thou, is used: 1. in addressing the Supreme Being; 2. in sublime or serious style and in poetry; 3. it is a mark of intimacy among friends, and is employed by parents and children, brothers and sisters, husbands and wives, towards one another: in general it implies familiarity founded on affection and fondness. In polite conversation persons always address each other in the third person plural. The third person singular and second person plural also, especially the former, are frequently used towards inferiors, as servants, &c. In writing, the pronouns of address: Du, Sie and Ihr, have a capital initial letter.

² Dein and Deine, thy, are declined exactly like mein and meine, my.

What hast thou to do?	Was hast Du zu thun?
I have nothing to do.	Ich habe Nichts zu thun.
What hast thou to drink?	Was hast Du zu trinken?
I have nothing to drink.	Ich habe Nichts zu trinken.
What has the man to do?	Was hat der Mann zu thun?
He is obliged to go into the wood.	Er muß in den Wald gehen.

This evening (to-night).	{ Diesen Abend (accusative). + Heute Abend.
In the evening.	{ Des Abends (genitive). + Am Abend.
This morning.	{ Diesen Morgen (accusative). + Heute Morgen.
In the morning.	{ Des Morgens (genitive). + Am Morgen.

must I come to your house?—This morning.—Must I come to your house in the morning or in the evening?—You must come in the morning and in the evening.—Whither must I go?—You must go to the great square in order to speak to the merchants.—Where must the peasant go to?—He must go into the field in order to cut some hay.—Must I keep anything (for) you (Sohnen)?—You must keep (for) me (mir) my good gold and my good works.—Must the children of our friends do anything?—They must work in the morning and in the evening.—What must the tailor mend (for) you?—He must mend my old coat (for) me.—Which chicken must the cook kill?—He must kill this and that.—Must I send you these or those books?—You must send me (both) these and those.

THIRTY-FOURTH LESSON.—Vier und dreissigste Section.

As far as.	Bis (an adverb of place).
How far?	Bis wohin? (See Lesson XXIX, Rule 2.)
As far as the corner.	Bis in den Winkel.
As far as the end of the road.	Bis an das Ende des Weges.
The end,	das Ende (has no plural);
the end (the extremity),	das Ende (plur. die Enden);
the road, the way,	der Weg.
To the bottom of the cask.	Bis auf den Boden des Fasses.
To the bottom of the well.	Bis auf den Grund des Brunnens.
To the bottom of the wells.	Bis auf den Grund der Brunnen.
The bottom,	der Boden;
the garret,	der Boden;
the ground,	der Grund;
the cask,	das Faß;
the purse,	der Beutel.
I go, am going—he goes, is going.	Ich gehe — er geht or geht.
We go, are going—they go, are going.	Wir gehen — sie gehen.

Thou goest, art going—you go. Du gehst or gehst—Ihr gehet or are going. geht (Sie gehen).

All, every. All.

All, is declined like the definite article. It is never preceded or followed by an article, but may be so by a pronoun.

Every day.
Every morning.
Every evening.

† Alle Tage.
† Alle Morgen.
† Alle Abend.

At.

Um.

At what o'clock?
At what time?
At one o'clock.

Um welche Zeit?
Um eins or um ein Uhr¹.

Half.

Halb.

At half past three.
At a quarter past one.
At a quarter past eleven.
At a quarter to one.
At twelve o'clock.
At twelve o'clock at night (midnight.)

† Um halb vier.
† Um ein Viertel auf zwei.
† Um ein Viertel auf zwölf.
† Um drei Viertel auf eins.
Um zwölf or um zwölf Uhr.
Um Mitternacht.

The quarter,

das Viertel (See Obs. E. pag. 40, Method, Part. II.)

At present, now.

Jetzt.

To go out.

Ausgehen* (auszugehen).

To remain, to stay.

Bleiben*.

When do you wish to go out?
I wish to go out now.

Wann wollen Sie ausgehen?
Ich will jetzt ausgehen.
Im Hause bleiben*.

Here.

Hier.

To remain here.

Hier bleiben*.

There.

Da.

To remain there.

Da bleiben*.

¹ Uhr signifies clock, watch, and not hour, which is translated by Stunde. When we say: Wieviel Uhr ist es? it means: Wieviel ist es auf der Uhr? How much is it upon the clock? For this reason we may leave out the word Uhr, when we say: um eins, um zwölf, as above.

Are you going to your brother?	Gehen Sie zu Ihrem Bruder?
I am going to him.	Ich gehe zu ihm.
We are—they are.	Wir sind — sie sind.
You are.	Ihr seyd (Sie sind).

Are the men thirsty?	Sind die Männer durstig?
Have your friends my books?	Haben Ihre Freunde meine Bücher?
They have them not.	Sie haben sie nicht.
Have they time to write?	Haben sie Zeit, zu schreiben?
To thee.	Dir (dative).
Thee.	Dir (accusative).

Obs. Do and am, when used as auxiliaries, are never expressed in German. Ex.

Do you wish to take me to my father?	Wollen Sie mich zu meinem Vater führen?
I wish to take thee to him.	Ich will Dich zu ihm führen.
Are you willing to give me a knife?	Wollen Sie mir ein Messer geben?
I am willing to give thee one.	Ich will Dir eins geben.
Am I going to him?	Gehe ich zu ihm?
Thou art not going to him, but to me.	Du gehst nicht zu ihm, sondern zu mir.

THIRTY-SIXTH LESSON.—Sechs und dreißigste Section.

THE PRESENT.

There is no distinction in German between: I love, do love, and am loving. All these present tenses are expressed by: ich liebe, I love.

In the regular verbs the third person singular and second person plural of the present tense indicative mode are alike, and terminate (even in most of the irregular verbs) in et or t. The first and third persons plural in all German verbs are like the infinitive.

To love.

Lieben.

I	{ love, do love, am loving.	he	{ loves, does love, is loving.	{	Ich liebe, er liebet or liebt.
Thou	{ lovest, dost love, art loving.	you	{ love, do love, are loving.	{	Du liebest or liebst, Ihr liebet or liebt (Sie lieben).
We	{ love, do love, are loving.	they	{ love, do love, are loving.	{	Wir lieben, sie lieben.

Obs. A. The letter t is often rejected in the second and third persons singular and in the second person plural of the present tense; but never in verbs the root of which ends in: d, t, th, st, or in two or more consonants, after which t or st could not be distinctly pronounced, as in: *senden, to send; du sendest, er sendet, Ihr sendet; ordnen, to set in order; du ordnest, er ordnet, Ihr ordnet, &c. On the other hand this contraction always takes place in verbs that end in eln or ern, as: schmeicheln, to flatter; du schmeichelst, er schmeichelt, Ihr schmeichelt; ändern, to alter; du änderst, er ändert, Ihr ändert. (See Lesson XXVI. the Infinitive.)

To want.

Brauchen (governs the accusative).

Do you want your money?
I want it.

Brauchen Sie Ihr Geld?
Ich brauche es.

To set in order.

Ordnen.

To open.

Öffnen (aufmachen, aufzumachen).

Do you open the window?
I open it.

Machen Sie das Fenster auf?
Ich mache es auf.

Obs. B. German verbs are generally not irregular in the present tense, but rather in the imperfect and past participle. Some, however, are irregular in the second and third persons singular; and as pupils should be acquainted with all the irregularities, we shall always mark these two persons whenever they present any. Of those which we have seen already, the following are irregular in the second and third persons singular.

To give:
thou givest — he gives.
To see:
thou seest — he sees.
To speak:
thou speakest — he speaks.
To take, to carry:
thou carriest — he carries.

Geben:*
Du gibst — er gibt.
Sehen:*
Du siehst — er sieht.
Sprechen:*
Du sprichst — er spricht.
Tragen:*
Du trägst — er trägt.

To wash:
thou washest—he washes.
To break:
thou breakest—he breaks.

Waschen*:
Du wäschest — er wäscht.
Zerbrechen*:
Du zerbrichst — er zerbricht.

 Personal pronouns not standing in the nominative, take their place after the verb.

Do you love him?

Lieben Sie ihn?

I do love him.

Ich liebe ihn.

I do not love him.

Ich liebe ihn nicht.

Does the servant sweep the room? Kehrt der Bediente das Zimmer aus?

Obs. C. In simple tenses, as the present or imperfect, the separable particle is always placed at the end of the sentence; unless this begins with a conjunction, a relative pronoun, or a relative adverb, in which case the particle is not separated from the verb, which then takes its place at the end.

He sweeps it.

Er kehrt es aus.

Does your father go out to-day? Geht Ihr Vater heute aus?

He does not go out to-day. Er geht heute nicht aus.

EXERCISES. 72.

Do you love your brother?—I do love him.—Does your father love him?—He does not love him.—Dost thou love me, my good child?—I love thee.—Dost thou love this ugly man?—I do not love him.—Does your father want his servant?—He does want him.—Dost thou want anything? 74.

Do you speak to the neighbour?—I do speak to him.—Does he speak to you?—He does not speak to me.—Do your brothers speak to you?—They do speak to us.—When dost thou speak to thy father?—I speak to him every morning and every evening.—What dost thou carry?—I carry a book.—Where dost thou carry it to?—I carry it home.—Do you wash your stockings?—I do not wash them.—Does your brother wash as many shirts as stockings?—He washes more of the one than of the other.—Hast thou many more stockings to wash?—I have not many more to wash.—How many more shirts have your friends to wash?—They have two more to wash.—What does your servant carry?—He carries a great table.—What do these men carry?—They carry our wooden chairs.—Where do they carry them to?—They carry them into the large room of our brothers.—Do your brothers wash their stockings or ours?—They neither wash yours nor theirs; they wash those of their children.

Dost thou not break my glass?—No, Sir, I do not break it.—Do the sons of our neighbours break our glasses?—They do break them.—Who tears yours books?—The young man tears them.—Do you not tear them?—I do not tear them.—Do the soldiers cut trees?—They do cut some.—Do you buy as many hats as gloves?—I buy more of the one than of the other.—Does your brother buy any bread?—He is obliged to buy some; he is hungry.—Do our brothers buy any wine?—They are obliged to buy some; they are thirsty.—Do you break anything?—We do not break anything.—Who breaks our chairs?—Nobody breaks them.—Dost thou buy anything?—I do not buy anything.—Who keeps (takes care of) our money?—My father keeps it.—Do your brothers take care of my books?—They do take care of them.—Dost thou take care of anything?—I do not take care of anything.

76.

Does the tailor mend our coats?—He does mend them.—What dost thou write?—I write a letter.—To whom dost thou write a letter?—To my father.—When does thy brother write his letters?—He writes them in the morning and in the evening.—What dost thou now?—I do nothing.—At what o'clock do you go to the theatre?—At a quarter past seven.—What o'clock is it now?—It wants a quarter to six.—At what o'clock does your cook go to the market?—He goes thither at five o'clock (put dahin to the end).—Does he go thither in the evening?—No, he goes thither in the morning.—Do you go any whither?—I go no whither; but my brothers go into the garden.—Dost thou drink anything?—I drink nothing; but the Italian drinks good wine and good beer.—Do you send me one more book?—I do not send you one more.—Are you answering his letter?—I am answering it.—Does he answer thine?—He does answer it.—What do you say?—I say nothing.—Must I give him money to remain here?—You must give him some to go out.—Is this man selling anything?—He is selling good cakes.—What do you sell?—I sell nothing; but my friends sell nails, knives, and horse-shoes.—What does the man say?—He says nothing.—What art thou looking for?—I am not looking for anything.

* We should fill volumes, were we to give all the exercises that are applicable to our lessons, and which the pupils may very easily compose by themselves. We shall therefore merely repeat what we have already mentioned at the commencement: pupils who wish to improve rapidly ought to compose a great many sentences in addition to those given; but they must pronounce them aloud. This is the only way by which they will acquire the habit of speaking fluently.

der Ellbogen;
der Rücken;
das Knie.

To bring.

Bringen*.

To find.

Finden*.

That which (what).

Was (dasjenige, welches; das, welches).

Obs. A. Was is often used instead of dasjenige, welches, or das, welches, that which. (See Lesson XXXI.)

Do you find what you are looking for? Finden Sie, was Sie suchen?

I find what I am looking for. Ich finde, was ich suche.

He does not find what he is looking for. Er findet nicht, was er sucht.

We find what we are looking for. Wir finden, was wir suchen.

I have what I want. Ich habe, was ich brauche.

I mend what you mend. Ich bessere aus, was Sie ausbessern.

Obs. B. Here the second member of the phrase beginning with a relative pronoun, the particle aus is not separated from its verb which is removed to the end. (See Obs. C. Lesson XXXVI. and Rule of Syntax, Lesson XLIX.)

To read (thou readest, he reads.) Lesen* (du liest, er liest or liest).

To study. Studiren.

To learn. Lernen.

Obs. C. The particle zu does not precede the infinitive joined to the verb lernen, to learn. (See Lesson XLIX.) Ex.

I learn to read.

† Ich lerne lesen.

He learns to write.

† Er lernt schreiben.

³ Schmerz, pain, is here in the plural. In compound words Weh is employed in the singular, and Schmerz in the plural, thus: Ich habe Kopfschmerz, and: Ich habe Kopfschmerzen, I have the head-ache.

French,	französisch (an adjective ⁴);
English,	englisch;
German,	deutsch.

Do you learn German?	Lernen Sie deutsch?
I do learn it.	Ich lerne es.
I do not learn it.	Ich lerne es nicht.

EXERCISES. 77.

Where is your father?—He is at home.—Does he not go out?—He is not able to go out; he has the head-ache.—Hast thou the head-ache?—I have not the head-ache, but the ear-ache.—What day of the month is it (den wievielften haben wir, Lesson XXIII.) to-day?—It is the twelfth to-day.—What day of the month is (der wievielfte) to morrow?—To-morrow is the thirteenth.—What teeth have you?—I have good teeth.—What teeth has your brother?—He has bad teeth.—Has the Englishman the tooth-ache?—He has not the tooth-ache; he has a sore eye.—Has the Italian a sore eye?—He has not a sore eye, but a sore foot.—Have I a sore finger?—You have no sore finger, but a sore knee.—Will you cut me some bread?—I cannot cut you any; I have sore fingers.—Will anybody cut me some cheese?—Nobody will cut you any.—Are you looking for any one?—I am not looking for any one.—Has any one the ear-ache?—No one has the ear-ache.—What is the painter looking for?—He is not looking for anything.—Whom are you looking for?—I am looking for your son.—Who is looking for me?—No one is looking for you.—Dost thou find what thou art looking for?—I do find what I am looking for; but the captain does not find what he is looking for.

78.

Who has a sore throat?—We have sore throats.—Has any one sore eyes?—The Germans have sore eyes.—Does the tailor make my coat?—He does not make it; he has a pain in his back.—Does the shoemaker make my shoes?—He is unable to (kann nicht) make them; he has sore elbows.—Does the merchant bring us beautiful purses (der Beutel)?—

⁴ Derived from der Franzose, the Frenchman.

He cannot go out; he has sore feet.—Does the Spaniard find the umbrella which he is looking for?—He does find it.—Do the butchers find the sheep which they are looking for?—They do find them.—Does the tailor find his thimble?—He does not find it.—Dost thou find the paper which thou art looking for?—I do not find it.—Do we find what we are looking for?—We do not find what we are looking for.—What is the nobleman doing?—He does what you are doing.—What is he doing in his room?—He is reading.

79.

Blue, black,

blau;
schwarz.

Instead of.

Anstatt zu. (See Obs. A., page 163. Method, Part II.)

To play.

Spielen.

To listen, to hear.

Hören.

1 Derived from Spanien, Spain.

Instead of listening. † Anstatt zu hören.
Do you play instead of studying? † Spielen Sie, anstatt zu studiren?

Obs. The preposition anstatt, instead of, requires in German zu before the infinitive, whilst in English it is construed with the present participle.

I study instead of playing. † Ich studire, anstatt zu spielen.
That man speaks instead of listening. † Dieser Mann spricht, anstatt zu hören.

To listen to.

Anhören (anzuhören, governs the accusative).
Zuhören (zuzuhören, governs the dative).

To intend (to think).

Gedenken.

Do you intend to go to the ball this evening?

Gedenken Sie heute Abend auf den Ball zu gehen?

I do intend to go thither.

Ich gedenke hinzugehen. (See Obs. A. Lesson XXIX.)

To know.

Wissen* (können* ‡).

I know—he knows.

Ich weiß — er weiß.

1 Zeigen expresses the mere act of showing; weisen implies showing with instruction, and is derived from the word: die Weise, the manner.

2 Diener, generally means servant; hence: der Kammerdiener, the valet de chambre; der Kirchendiener, the church-minister, clergyman; Knecht points out the lowest degree of servitude, hence: der Hausknecht, the menial servant; der Stallknecht, the groom, the stableman; der Reitknecht, the jockey.

3 Wissen implies to have the knowledge of a thing, not to be ignorant of it; können signifies to be able, to have the knowledge of an art or a science. Ex. Ich weiß, was Sie sagen wollen, I know, what you wish to say. Er kann einen deutschen Brief schreiben, he knows how to write a German letter. The learner must take care not to confound wissen*, to know, with können*, to be able, and

We know — they know.
Thou knowest—you know.

Wir wissen — sie wissen.
Du weißt — Ihr wißt (Sie wissen).

Do you know German?
I do know it.

Können Sie deutsch?
Ich kann es.

FORTY-FIRST LESSON.—Ein und vierzigste Section.

COMPARISON OF ADJECTIVES.

The comparative is formed by adding er and the superlative by adding *st*¹ to the simple adjective. Examples:

	POSIT.	COMP.	SUPERL.
Handsome—handsomer—handsomest.	Schön	schöner	schönst.
Small—smaller—smallest.	Klein	kleiner	kleinst.
Wild—wilder—wildest.	Wild	wilder	wildest.

Obs. A. Comparative and superlative adjectives are declined like the positive. Examples:

¹ In the superlative st is sometimes preceded by e when the pronunciation requires it, as: süß, sweet, süßest; schlecht, bad, schlechtest. In the word groß, great, the superlative größest is contracted into größt, as: der größte Mann, the greatest man.

COMPARATIVE.

	Masculine.	Neuter.
The handsomer table, the handsomer book, etc.	N. der schönere Tisch,	das schönere Buch.
	G. des schöneren Tisches,	des schöneren Buches.
	D. dem schöneren Tische,	dem schöneren Buche.
	A. den schöneren Tisch,	das schönere Buch.

SUPERLATIVE.

	Masculine.	Neuter.
The smallest hat, the smallest book, etc.	N. der kleinste Hut,	das kleinste Buch.
	G. des kleinsten Hutes,	des kleinsten Buches.
	D. dem kleinsten Hute,	dem kleinsten Buche.
	A. den kleinsten Hut,	das kleinste Buch.

Obs. B. The radical vowels a, o, u, are softened in the comparative and superlative into ä, ö, ü ³. Examples:

	POSIT.	COMP.	SUPERL.
Old, etc.	alt	älter	ältest.
pious, etc.	fromm	frömm	frömmst.
young, etc.	jung	jünger	jüngst.

Obs. C. The following adjectives, which are also used as adverbs, are irregular in the formation of their comparatives and superlatives.

² The letter e which precedes or follows the consonant r in the comparative, is often omitted for the sake of euphony; thus instead of: der, das schönere, des schöneren, dem schöneren, we say: der, das schöne, des schönern, dem schönern, &c. (See Obs. Lesson XXI.)

³ On the adjectives which do not soften the radical vowels a, o, u, in the comparative and superlative, see Obs. D. hereafter.

	POSITIVE.	COMP.	SUPERLATIVE.
Soon,	{ Bald,	eher,	ehest (am ehesten*);
	{ der or das baldige,	—	eheste.
Willingly,	{ Gern,	lieber,	liebst (am liebsten);
	{ der or das liebe,	liebere,	liebste.
Good,	{ Gut,	besser,	best (am besten);
	{ der or das gute,	bessere,	beste.
High,	{ Hoch ^s ,	höher,	höchst (am höchsten);
	{ der or das hohe,	höhere,	höchste.
Near,	{ Nahe,	näher,	nächst (am nächsten);
	{ der or das nahe,	nähere,	nächste.
Much,	{ Viel,	mehr,	meist (am meisten);
	{ der or das viele,	mehre,	meiste.

This book is small, that is smaller, and this is the smallest of all. Dieses Buch ist klein, jenes ist kleiner, und dieses ist hier am kleinsten (das kleinste) von allen.

This hat is large, but that is larger. Dieser Hut ist groß, allein jener ist größer.

Is your book as large as mine? Ist Ihr Buch so groß wie das meinige?

It is not so large as yours. Es ist nicht so groß als das Ihrige.

It is larger than yours. Es ist größer als das Ihrige.

Not so large.

Nicht so groß.

Are our neighbour's children as good^s as ours? Sind die Kinder unseres Nachbars so artig wie die unserigen?

They are better than ours. Sie sind artiger als die unserigen.

4 When an adjective is used in the superlative degree adverbially, it is combined with a contraction of the definite article, and one of the prepositions, an, auf, zu, in, as: am wenigsten, the least; auf's höchste, at the most; zum besten, for the best; im mindesten, at least. Hence the adverbs: schönstens, in the handsomest manner; bestens, in the best manner; höchstens, at the most; nächstens, next time; wenigstens, at least, &c.

5 In the positive and comparative degrees the form hoch, not hoch, is used as an adjective before a noun; but as a predicate after the noun the positive is hoch. Ex. Der hohe Baum, the high tree; der höhere Baum, the higher tree; but dieser Baum ist hoch, this tree is high.

6 In this phrase the word artig does not quite correspond to the English word good; but it does in many others, as for instance: be good! sey artig! a good child, ein artiges Kind.

Whose?
It is.

Wessen? (See Lesson XXXI.)
Es ist.

Whose hat is this?
It is the hat of my brother.
It is my brother's.
It is my brother's hat.
Whose hat is the finest?
That of my father is the finest.
Whose ribbon is the handsomer,
yours or mine?

Wessen Hut ist das?
Es ist der Hut meines Bruders.
Es ist meines Bruders.
Es ist meines Bruders Hut.
Wessen Hut ist der schönste?
Der meines Vaters ist der schönste.
Wessen Band ist schöner, das Ihrige oder das meinige?

Good, gentle, pretty,	artig ;
light, easy,	leicht ;
heavy, difficult,	schwer ;
great, grand (big, large),	groß ;
long,	lang ;
short,	kurz ;
round,	rund ;
rich,	reich.

Obs. D. The adjectives which do not soften the radical vowels in the comparative and superlative, are:

1st, Those of which the last syllable does not belong to the primitive⁸ word, as: dankbar, grateful; schuldig, culpable; böshaft, malicious. Ex. artig, pretty; artiger, prettier; artigst, prettiest.

2d, Participles, as: labend, refreshing; gelobt, praised; tobend, furious; suchend, seeking, &c.

3d, Those which contain a diphthong, as: genau, exact; faul, lazy; blau, blue; grau, grey, &c.

4th, Those terminating in er, as tapfer, valiant, &c.

5th, The following:

Bläß, pale ;	gesund, healthy ;	klar, clear ;
bunt, variegated ;	glatt, smooth ;	knapp, tight ;
fahl, follow ;	hohl, hollow ;	lahm, lame ;
falsch, false ;	hold, kind ;	los, loose ;
froh, joyful ;	fahl, bald ;	matt, wearied ;
gerade, straight ;	farg, stingy ;	morſch, brittle ;

⁷ The word which answers the question Wessen? is always put in the genitive case.

⁸ By primitive we mean a word to which a syllable may be added in order to form another word, as dankbar, which is formed of the word Dank, thank, and the syllable bar. (See page 2, Method, Part II.)

nackt, naked ;	sanft, gentle,	ſtraff, strained ;
platt, flat ;	fatt, satisfied ;	ſtumm, dumb ;
plump, clumsy ;	ſchlaff, slack ;	teuf, mad ;
roh, raw ;	ſchlank, slender ;	voll, full ;
rund, round ;	ſtarr, stiff ;	zahm, tame.
	ſtolz, proud ;

Obs. E. In German the superlative is almost always relative, and to express the absolute superlative we use, as in English, one of the adverbs: ſehr, very; recht, very; höchſt, extremely; ungemein, uncommonly, &c. Ex. Ein ſehr armer Mann, a very poor man, ein ſehr ſchönes Kind, a very fine child.

Obs. F. Than after a comparative is translated by als. (See Obs. B. Lesson XXV.) To increase the force of the comparative, we use the adverbs noch, still, and weit, far. Ex. Noch größer, still greater; ich bin weit glücklicher als er, I am far happier than he.

Obs. G. The following adjectives have no comparative:

	POSITIVE.	SUPERLATIVE.
The exterior,	der or daß äußere,	der or daß äußerſte ;
the interior,	der — daß innere,	der — daß innerſte ;
the posterior,	der — daß hintere,	der — daß hinterſte ;
the middle one,	der — daß mittlere,	der — daß mittelſte ;
the superior,	der — daß obere,	der — daß oberſte ;
the inferior,	der — daß untere,	der — daß unterſte ;
the anterior,	der — daß vordere,	der — daß vorderſte.

EXERCISES. 89.

Is your brother taller (groß) than mine?—He is not so tall, but better than yours.—Is thy hat as bad as that of thy father?—It is better, but not so black as his.—Are the shirts of the Italians as white (weiß) as those of the Irish?—They are whiter, but not so good.—Are the sticks of our friends longer than ours?—They are not longer, but heavier.—Who have (Wer hat) the most beautiful gloves?—The French have them.—Whose horses are the finest?—Mine are fine, yours are finer than mine; but those of our friends are the finest of all.—Is your horse good?—It is good, but yours is better, and that of the Englishman is the best of all the horses which we know.—Have you pretty shoes?—I have very pretty (ones); my brother has prettier (ones) than I.—From (von) whom does he receive them?—He receives them from his best friend.—Is your wine as good as mine?—It is better.—Does your merchant sell good handkerchiefs?—He sells the best handkerchiefs that I know.

90.

Have we more books than the French?—We have more of them than they; but the Germans have more of them than we, and the English have the most of them.—Hast thou a finer garden than that of our physician?—I have a finer (one).—Has the American a finer house than thou?—He has a finer (one).—Have we as fine children as our neighbours?—We have finer (ones).—Is your coat as long as mine?—It is shorter, but prettier than yours.—Do you soon (balb) go out?—I do not go out to-day.—When does your father go out?—He goes out at a quarter past twelve.—Is this man older than that (man)?—He is older, but that (man) is healthier (gesunder).—Which of these two children is the better?—The one who studies is better than the one who plays.—Does your servant sweep as well as mine?—He sweeps better than yours.—Does the German read as many bad books as good (ones)?—He reads more good than bad (ones).—Do the merchants sell more sugar than coffee?—They sell more of the one than of the other.—Does your shoemaker make as many boots as shoes?—He makes more of the one than of the other.

91.

feet.—Do you learn as well as our gardener's son?—I learn better than he, but he works better than I.—Whose carriage is the finest?—Yours is very fine, but that of the captain is still finer, and ours is the finest of all.—Has any one as fine apples as we?—No one has such fine (ones.) (See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

FORTY-SECOND LESSON.—Zwei und vierzigste Section.

To begin.

Anfangen* (anzufangen).

Thou beginnest—he begins.

Du fängst an — er fängt an.

I begin to speak.

Ich fange an zu sprechen.

Does your servant sweep the room, which I sweep?

Rehrt Ihr Bedienter das Zimmer aus, welches ich auskehre?

To finish, to end.

Endigen.

Not yet.

Noch nicht.

Already.

Schon.

Before.

Ehe (bevor).

Do you speak before you listen?

Sprechen Sie, ehe Sie hören?

Does he go to the market before he writes?

Geht er auf den Markt, ehe er schreibt?

Do you take off your stockings before you take off your shoes?

Ziehen Sie Ihre Strümpfe aus, ehe Sie Ihre Schuhe ausziehen?

I take off my shoes before I take off my stockings.

Ich ziehe meine Schuhe aus, ehe ich meine Strümpfe ausziehe.

Obs. A. These examples show that when a conjunctive word as, a conjunction, a relative pronoun, or relative adverb, begins the sentence, the separable particle is not detached from the verb which is placed at the end. (See Lesson XXXVI. Obs. C., and Rule of Syntax, Lesson XLIX.)

Oft en.

Oft (oftmals, öfters), its comparative is öfter, and its superlative am öftersten.

As often as you.

So oft wie Sie.

Oftener than you.

Ofter (Öfter) als Sie.

Not so often as you.

Nicht so oft als Sie.

To breakfast.
Early.

Frühstücken.
Früh.

Do you breakfast before you go into the wood? Frühstücken Sie, ehe Sie in den Wald gehen?
Does he breakfast before he begins to work? Frühstückt er, ehe er zu arbeiten anfängt?
Do you breakfast as early as I? Frühstücken Sie so früh wie ich?
I breakfast earlier than you. Ich frühstücke früher als Sie.

Late.
Too.

Spät.
Zu.

Too late.
Too early.
Too great.
Too little.
Too much.

Zu spät.
Zu früh.
Zu groß.
Zu klein.
Zu viel.

Do you speak too much?
I do not speak enough.

Sprechen Sie zu viel?
Ich spreche nicht genug.

Obs. B. We have seen (Lesson XXVI.) that the infinitive in German is always preceded by the particle zu. This particle, however, is omitted before the infinitive, 1st, When it is joined to one of the following verbs:

Dürfen*, to dare; heißen*, to bid; helfen*, to help; hören, to hear; können*, to be able (can); lassen*, to let; lehren, to teach; lernen, to learn; mögen*, to be permitted (may); müssen*, to be obliged (must); sehen*, to see; sollen*, to be obliged (shall, ought); wollen*, to be willing, to wish (will).

Fahren*, to ride, to go (in a carriage); finden*, to find; fühlen, to feel; nennen*, to call, to name; reiten*, to ride, to go on horseback.

2d, When the infinitive is used in an absolute sense. Ex. Fleißig seyn geziemt dem Manne. it behoves a man to be assiduous. When two infinitives are thus employed the verb which follows them is put in the third person singular. Ex. Seine Fehler bekennen und bereuen ist schon halbe Besserung, to acknowledge one's faults and to repent of them is already half an amendment. In constructing the phrase with es ist, it is, the verbs seyn*, to be; bekennen*, to acknowledge; bereuen, to repent, are removed to the end and preceded by zu. Ex. Es geziemt dem Manne, fleißig zu seyn. Es ist schon halbe Besserung, seine Fehler zu bekennen und zu bereuen. (See Method, Part II. Obs. A. p. 32).

EXERCISES. 92.

Do you begin to speak?—I begin to speak.—Does your brother begin to learn Italian?—He begins to learn it.—Can you already speak German?—Not yet, but I am beginning.—Do our friends begin to speak?—They do not yet begin to speak, but to read.—Does our father already begin his letter?—He does not yet begin it.—Does the merchant begin to sell?—He does begin.—Can you swim already?—Not yet, but I begin to learn.—Does your son speak before he listens?—He listens before he speaks.—Does your brother listen to you (Lesson XXXVIII.) before he speaks?—He speaks before he listens to me.—Do your children read before they write?—They write before they read.—Does your servant sweep the warehouse before he sweeps the room?—He sweeps the room before he sweeps the warehouse.—Dost thou drink before thou goest out?—I go out before I drink.—Does your cousin wash his hands (seine Hände) before he washes his feet?—He washes his feet before he washes his hands.—Do you extinguish the fire before you extinguish the candle?—I extinguish neither the fire nor the candle (auf to the end).—Do you intend to go out before you write your letters?—I intend writing my letters before I go out.—Does your son take off his boots before he takes off his coat?—My son takes off neither his boots nor his coat (auf to the end).

93.

Do you intend to depart soon (balb)?—I intend¹ to depart to-morrow.—Do you speak as often as I?—I do not speak as often, but my brother speaks oftener than you.—Do I go out as often as your father?—You do not go out as often as he; but he drinks oftener than you.—Do you begin to know this man?—I begin to know him.—Do you breakfast early?—We breakfast at a quarter past nine.—Does your cousin breakfast earlier than you?—He breakfasts later than I.—At what o'clock does he breakfast?—He breakfasts at eight o'clock, and I at half past six.—Do you not breakfast too early?—I breakfast too late.—Does your father breakfast as early as you?—He breakfasts later than I.—Does he finish his letters before he breakfasts?—He breakfasts before he finishes them.—Is your hat too large?—It is neither too large nor too small.—Does our gardener breakfast before he goes into the garden?—He goes into the garden before he breakfasts.—Do you read French as often as German?—I read French oftener than German.—Does the physician speak too much?—He does not speak enough.—Do the Germans drink too much wine?—They do not drink enough of it.—Do they drink more beer than cider?—They drink more of the one than of the other.—Have you much money?—We have not enough of it.—Have your cousins much corn?—They have only a little, but enough.—Have you much more brandy?—We have not much more of it.—Have you as many tables as chairs?—I have as many of the one as of the other.—Does your friend receive as many letters as notes?—He receives more of the latter than of the former.—Do you finish before you begin?—I must begin before I finish. (See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

FORTY-THIRD LESSON.—Drei und vierzigste Section.

THE PAST PARTICIPLE.

The past participle of regular verbs ¹ is formed from the second person plural of the present indicative, by adding to it ge. Ex. Ihr liebet or liebt, you love; ge-liebet or geliebt, loved. The past participle of irregular verbs will always be given with the verb.

All that has been said (Obs. A. Lesson XXXVI.) on the rejection of the letter e, is equally applicable to the past participle, this being formed from the second person plural.

¹ The pupils in repeating the irregular verbs already given, must not fail to mark in their lists the past participle of those verbs.

Obs. A. Some verbs do not add the syllable ge in the past participle. (See those verbs, Lesson XLVII.)

To be—been.	Seyn* — gewesen.
Have you been to the market?	Sind Sie auf dem Markte gewesen?
I have been there.	Ich bin da gewesen.

(See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

FORTY-FOURTH LESSON.—Vier und vierzigste Section.

To have—had.

Haben — gehabt.*

☞ The participle past, as well as the infinitive (Lesson XXVI.), when it forms with the auxiliary a compound tense, is in German placed at the end of the phrase.

Have you had my coat?

I have not had it.

Have I had it?

You have had it.

You have not had it.

Thou hast not had it.

Has he had it?

He has had it.

Hast thou had my book?

I have had it.

I have not had it.

Have you had the books?

I have had them.

Has he had them?

He has had them.

Have you had bread?

I have had some.

Hast thou had paper?

I have had none.

Have I had any?

Has he had some wine?

He has had some.

He has had none.

Haben Sie meinen Rock gehabt?

Ich habe ihn nicht gehabt.

Habe ich ihn gehabt?

Sie haben ihn gehabt.

Sie haben ihn nicht gehabt.

Du hast ihn nicht gehabt.

Hat er ihn gehabt?

Er hat ihn gehabt.

Hast Du mein Buch gehabt?

Ich habe es gehabt.

Ich habe es nicht gehabt.

Haben Sie die Bücher gehabt?

Ich habe sie gehabt.

Hat er sie gehabt?

Er hat sie gehabt.

Haben Sie Brod gehabt?

Ich habe welches gehabt.

Hast Du Papier gehabt?

Ich habe keins gehabt.

Habe ich welches gehabt?

Hat er Wein gehabt?

Er hat welchen gehabt.

Er hat keinen gehabt.

What has he had?	Was hat er gehabt?
He has had nothing.	Er hat Nichts gehabt.
He has never been either right or wrong.	† Er hat nie Recht noch Unrecht gehabt.

To take place.	Statt finden*.
Does the ball take place this evening?	Findet der Ball diesen Abend Statt?
It does take place.	Er findet Statt.
It takes place this evening.	Er findet diesen Abend Statt.

Found.	Gefunden.
When did the ball take place?	Wann hat der Ball Statt gefunden?
Yesterday.	Gestern.
The day before yesterday.	Vorgestern.
It took place yesterday.	Er hat gestern Statt gefunden.

Obs. A. Expressions such as *Statt finden, ought to be considered as separable verbs, of which the particle is placed at the end in simple tenses and before the syllable ge of the past participle. Here the substantive Statt, place, stands as a separable particle.

Time.	Mal.
The first time.	Das erste Mal.
The last time.	Das letzte Mal.
Last.	Letzt.
How many times (how often)?	Wie vielmal?
Once,	einmal;
twice,	zweimal;
thrice,	dreimal;
several times,	verschiedene Mal.
Formerly.	Ehedem (ehemals, ehedessen, vormals).
Sometimes.	Manchmal.
Do you go sometimes to the market?	Gehen Sie manchmal auf den Markt?
I do go sometimes thither.	Ich gehe manchmal dahin.

1 When the word Mal is preceded by an adjective or an ordinal number it is written with a capital initial letter; when annexed to a cardinal number it begins with a small letter.

Gone.

Gone thither.

Gegangen.

Hingegangen.

Have you gone thither sometimes?

Sind Sie manchmal hingegangen?

Obs. B. Here it may be seen how the syllable ge in the past participle is placed between the separable particle and the verb. (See Lesson XXVII.)

I have gone thither sometimes.
Oftener than you.

Ich bin manchmal hingegangen.
Ofter als Sie.

Have the men had my trunk?

Haben die Männer meinen Koffer gehabt?

They have not had it.

Sie haben ihn nicht gehabt.

Who has had it?

Wer hat ihn gehabt?

Have I been wrong in buying books?

Habe ich Unrecht gehabt, Bücher zu kaufen?

You have not been wrong in buying some.

Sie haben nicht Unrecht gehabt, welche zu kaufen.

Dieses, das.

Has he told you that?

Hat er Ihnen das gesagt?

It.

Es.

He has told it me.

Er hat es mir gesagt.

Obs. The neuter pronoun es, it, which is sometimes rendered into English by so, and more elegantly omitted, may in German relate to substantives of any gender or number, to adjectives, and even to whole phrases.

Have you told it me?

Haben Sie es mir gesagt?

I have told it you.

Ich habe es Ihnen gesagt.

Who has told it him?

Wer hat es ihm gesagt?

Are you the brother of my friend?

Sind Sie der Bruder meines Freundes?

I am.

† Ich bin es.

Are you ill?

Sind Sie krank?

I am not.

† Ich bin es nicht.

Are our neighbours as poor as they say?

† Sind unsere Nachbarn so arm, wie sie sagen?

They are so.

† Sie sind es.

To speak—spoken.	Sprechen* — gesprochen.
I have spoken with the man.	Ich habe mit dem Manne gesprochen.
I have spoken to the man.	Ich habe den Mann gesprochen. †
With.	Mit (a preposition which governs the dative).
With which man have you spoken?	Mit welchem Manne haben Sie gesprochen?
To which man have you spoken?	Welchen Mann haben Sie gesprochen?

FORTY-SIXTH LESSON.—Sechs und vierzigste Section.

	INFINITIVE.	PAST PART.
To drink—drunk.	Trinken*	—getrunken.
To carry—carried.	Tragen*	—getragen.
To bring—brought.	Bringen*	—gebracht.
To send—sent.	Senden*	—gesandt.
To write—written.	Schreiben*	—geschrieben.
To see—seen.	Sehen*	—gesehen.
To give—given.	Geben*	—gegeben.
To lend—lent.	Leihen*	—geliehen.

NEUTER VERBS.

Neuter verbs are conjugated like the active. The latter, however, always form their past tenses with the auxiliary *haben, to have; on the contrary, some neuter verbs take *seyn, to be, and others *haben, for their auxiliary; others again take sometimes *haben and sometimes *seyn. Those of which the auxiliary is not marked have the same as in English. (See a Table of the Neuter Verbs which are conjugated with seyn, Method, Part II. p. 93.)

To come—come (p. p.)

To go —gone.

*Kommen — gekommen.

*Gehe*n* — gegangen.

Is the man come to your father? Ist der Mann zu Ihrem Vater gekommen?

He is come to him.

Er ist zu ihm gekommen.

Is thy brother gone into the field? Ist Dein Bruder auf das (auf's) Feld gegangen?

He is gone thither.

Er ist dahin gegangen.

Have you seen the man?

Haben Sie den Mann gesehen?

I have seen him.

Ich habe ihn gesehen.

Have you seen my book?

Haben Sie mein Buch gesehen?

I have seen it.

Ich habe es gesehen.

I have not seen it.

Ich habe es nicht gesehen.

When?—Where?

Wann? — Wo?

When did you see my cousin? Wann haben Sie meinen Vetter gesehen?

I saw him the day before yesterday. Ich habe ihn vorgestern gesehen.

Where have you seen him? Wo haben Sie ihn gesehen?

I have seen him at the theatre. Ich habe ihn im Theater gesehen.

Where hast thou seen my book? Wo hast Du mein Buch gesehen?

I have seen it in your room. Ich habe es in Ihrem Zimmer gesehen.

Do you learn to read? Lernen Sie lesen?

I do (learn it). Ich lerne es.

I learn to write. Ich lerne schreiben.

Have you learnt to write? Haben Sie schreiben gelernt?

I have (learnt it). Ich habe es gelernt.

To know (to be acquainted with) —known. *Kennen — gekannt.

Have you known those men? Haben Sie jene Männer gekannt?

I have not known them. Ich habe sie nicht gekannt.

1 Learners ought now to use in their exercises the adverbs of time, place, and number, mentioned in Lessons XXIX. XXXIII. XXXIV. and XLIV.

Obs. Instead of the past participle the following verbs retain the form of the infinitive when preceded by another infinitive²: dürfen*, to dare; heißen*, to bid; helfen*, to help; hören, to hear; können*, to be able (can); lassen*, to let; lehren, to teach; lernen, to learn; mögen*, to be permitted (may); müssen*, to be obliged (must); sehen*, to see; sollen, to be obliged (shall, ought); wollen, to be willing, to wish (will³).

To let (to get, to have, to order). Lassen*. (See Lesson XXXIII. where this verb is conjugated in the present tense.)

To get or to have mended—got Ausbessern lassen*.
or had mended.

To get or to have washed—got Waschen lassen*.
or had washed.

To have made—had made. Machen lassen*.

Are you getting a coat made Lassen Sie einen Rock machen?
(do you order a coat)?

I am getting one made (I do Ich lasse einen machen. order one).

I have had one made. Ich habe einen machen lassen.

Has your brother had his shirt Hat Ihr Bruder sein Hemd was-washed? chen lassen?

He has had it washed. Er hat es waschen lassen.
The cravat, das Halstuch;
the neck, der Hals.

Hast thou sometimes had cravats Hast Du manchmal Halstücher mended? ausbessern lassen?

I have had some mended some- Ich habe manchmal welche aus-times. bessern lassen.

² It will be useful to remember that the particle zu does not precede the infinitive joined to one of these verbs. (See Obs. B. Lesson XLII.)

EXERCISES, 102.

Have you drunk wine?—I have drunk some.—Have you drunk much of it?—I have drunk but little of it.—Hast thou drunk some beer?—I have drunk some.—Has thy brother drunk much good cider?—He has not drunk much of it, but enough.—When did you drink any wine?—I drank some yesterday and to-day (ich habe gestern und heute welch-en).—Has the servant carried the letter?—He has carried it.—Where has he carried it to?—He has carried it to your friend.—Have you brought us some apples?—We have brought you some.—How many apples have you brought us?—We have brought you twenty-five of them.—When did you bring them?—I brought (habe—gebracht) them this morning.—At what o'clock?—At a quarter to eight.—Have you sent your little boy to the market?—I have sent him thither (dahin).—When did you send him thither?—This evening.—Have you written to your father?—I have written to him.—Has he answered you?—He has not yet answered me.—Have you ever written to the physician?—I have never written to him.—Has he sometimes written to you?—He has often written to me.—What has he written to you?—He has written to me something.—Have your friends ever written to you?—They have often written to me.—How many times (Lesson XLIV.) have they written to you?—They have written to me more than thirty times.—Have you ever seen my son?—I have never seen him.—Has he ever seen you?—He has often seen me.—Hast thou ever seen any Greeks?—I have often seen some.—Have you already seen a Syrian?—I have already seen one.—Where have you seen one?—At the theatre.—Have you given the book to my brother? (Obs. A. end of Lesson XX.)—I have already given some to him.—Wilt thou give me some wine?—I have already given you some.—When didst thou give me some?—I gave you some formerly.—Wilt thou give me some now?—I cannot give you any (Ich kann Ihnen keinen).

Has the American lent you money?—He has lent me some.—Has he often lent you some?—He has lent me some sometimes.—When did he lend you any?—He lent me some formerly.—Has the Italian ever lent you money?—He has never lent me any.—Is he poor?—He is not poor; he is richer than you.—Will you lend me a crown?—I will lend you two of them.—Has your boy come to mine?—He has come to him.—When?—This morning.—At what time?—Early.—Has he come earlier than I?—He has come earlier than you.—At what o'clock did you come?—I came at half-past five.—Where did your brother go to?—He went to the ball.—When did he go thither?—He went thither the day before yesterday.—Has the ball taken place?—It has taken place.—Has it taken place late?—It has taken place early.—At what o'clock?—At midnight.—Does your brother learn to write?—He does learn it.—Does he already know how (Lesson XXXIX.) to read?—He does not know how yet.—Have you ever learnt German?—I learnt it formerly, but I do not know it.—Has your father ever learnt French?—He has never learnt it.—Does he learnt it at present?—He does learn it.—Do you know the Englishman whom I know?—I do not know the one whom (Lessons XIV. and XVI.) you know; but I know another (Lesson XXIII.).—Does your friend know the same noblemen whom I know?—He does not know the same; but he knows others.—Have you known the same men whom I have known (welche ich gekannt habe)?—I have not known the same; but I have known others.—Have you ever had your coat mended?—I have sometimes had it mended.—Hast thou already had thy boots mended?—I have not yet had them mended.—Has your cousin sometimes had his stockings mended?—He has several times had them mended.—Hast thou had thy hat or thy shoe mended?—I have neither had the one nor the other mended.—Have you had my cravats or my shirts washed?—I have neither had the one nor the other washed.—What stockings have you had washed?—I have had the thread stockings washed.—Has your father had a table made?—He has had one made.—Have you had anything made?—I have had nothing made. (See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

FORTY-SEVENTH LESSON.—Sieben und vierzigste Section.

To receive—received.

Bekommen* (erhalten*, empfangen*).

Obs. A. We have observed (Lesson XLIII.) that some verbs do not take the syllable ge in the past participle; they are,

1st, Those which begin with one of the inseparable unaccented particles: be, emp, ent, er, ge, ver, wider, zer (See Lesson XXVII.), or with one of the following particles, when inseparable: durch, through; hinter, behind; über, over; um, around; unter, under; voll, full; wieder, again¹.

2d, Those derived from foreign languages and terminating in iren, or ieren. Ex. studiren, to study; past part. studirt, studied. (See page 74, Method, Part II.)

RULE. All verbs, in general, which have not the tonic accent upon the first syllable, reject the syllable ge in the past participle.

How much money have you received?	Wieviel Geld haben Sie bekommen?
-----------------------------------	----------------------------------

I have received three crowns.	Ich habe drei Thaler bekommen.
-------------------------------	--------------------------------

Have you received letters?	Haben Sie Briefe erhalten?
----------------------------	----------------------------

I have received some.	Ich habe welche erhalten.
-----------------------	---------------------------

To promise—promised.

Versprechen*—versprochen.

Obs. B. Derivative and compound verbs are conjugated like their primitives: thus the verb *versprechen

¹ Verbs compounded with these particles are inseparable, when the particles may be considered as adverbs, and separable when they have the meaning of prepositions.

is conjugated like *sprechen, to speak, which is its primitive. (Lessons XXVI. and XXXVI)

Do you promise me to come? Versprechen Sie mir, zu kommen?
I promise you. Ich verspreche es Ihnen.

The grosh (a coin), der Groschen (is not softened in the plur.);

the denier, der Pfennig.

A crown contains twenty four Ein Thaler hat vier und zwanzig groshes. Groschen.

A grosh contains twelve deniers. Ein Groschen hat zwölf Pfennige.

A florin contains sixteen groshes Ein Gulden hat sechzehn Groschen or sixty kreutzers, or forty- oder sechzig Kreuzer, oder acht eight good kreutzers. und vierzig gute Kreuzer.

A denier contains two oboles. Ein Pfennig hat zwei Heller.
The obole, der Heller.

There is. Es ist.

There are. Es sind.

How many groshes are there in Wie viel Groschen sind in einem a crown? Thaler?

Twenty-four. Vier und zwanzig.

To wear out—worn out. Abtragen — abgetragen* (abnußen — abgenutzt).

To spell—spelled. Buchstabiren — buchstabirt.
(Obs. A.)

How? Wie?

Well. Gut, wohl (adverbs²).

Bad, badly. Schlecht, übel, schlimm (adverbs³).

How has he washed the shirt? Wie hat er das Hemd gewaschen?

He has washed it well. Er hat es gut gewaschen.

How have you written the letter? Wie haben Sie den Brief geschrie- ben?

Thus. So.

So so. So so.

² Gut relates to the manner in which a thing is done. Ex. Er redet gut, he speaks well. Wohl denotes a certain degree of well being. Ex. Ich bin wohl, I am well; ich weiß es wohl, I know it well.

³ Schlecht is the opposite to gut, and übel the opposite to wohl.
Ex. Er schreibt schlecht, he writes badly. Etwas übel nehmen, to be offended at anything. Schlimm is employed nearly in the same sense as übel, thus we say: schlimm genug, bad enough; desto schlimmer, so much the worse.

In this manner.	{ Auf diese Art. Auf diese Weise.
To call—called.	Rufen* — gerufen.
Have you called the man?	Haben Sie den Mann gerufen?
I have called him.	Ich habe ihn gerufen.
To dry.	Trocknen.
To put (to place, to lay).	Legen.
Do you put your coat to dry?	Legen Sie Ihren Rock zu trocknen?
I do put it to dry.	Ich lege ihn zu trocknen.
Where have you placed (put) the book?	Wo haben Sie das Buch hingeslegt? (See note 4, Lesson XXXIX.)
I have placed it upon the table.	Ich habe es auf den Tisch gelegt.
To lie—lain.	Liegen* — gelegen.
Where lies the book?	Wo liegt das Buch?
It lies upon the table.	Es liegt auf dem Tische.
It has lain upon the table.	Es hat auf dem Tische gelegen.
There.	Darauf.
Does the book lie on the chair?	Liegt das Buch auf dem Stuhle?
It does lie there (on it.)	Es liegt darauf.
It has lain there.	Es hat darauf gelegen.

(See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

FORTY-NINTH LESSON.—Neun und vierzigste Section.

To bite—bitten.

Why?

Because.

Beißen* — gebissen.

Warum?

Weil.

 The verb of the subject or nominative (in compound tenses, the auxiliary), is placed at the end of the phrase, when this begins with a conjunction or a conjunctive word, such as a relative pronoun or a relative adverb. The conjunctions which do not require the verb to be placed at the end, will be given hereafter.

Why do you beat the dog?

I beat it, because it has bitten me.

Do you see the man who is in the garden?

I do see him.

Warum schlagen Sie den Hund?

Ich schlage ihn, weil er mich gebissen hat.

Sehen Sie den Mann, welcher (der) im Garten ist?

Ich sehe ihn.

Do you know the man who has lent me the book?	Kennen Sie den Mann, der (welcher) mir das Buch geliehen hat?
I do not know him.	Ich kenne ihn nicht.
Do you read the book, which I have lent you?	Lesen Sie das Buch, welches ich Ihnen geliehen habe?
I do read it.	Ich lese es.

Obs. When the verb which a conjunctive word causes to be placed at the end of the phrase, is compounded with a separable particle, this is not detached from it. Ex.

I breakfast before I go out.	Ich frühstücke, ehe ich ausgehe.
Does the tailor show you the coat, which he is mending?	Zeigt Ihnen der Schneider den Rock, welchen er ausbessert?

To wait.

Warten.

To expect.

Erwarten¹.

To wait for some one or for something.	Auf Einen oder Etwas warten.
--	------------------------------

To expect some one or something.	Einen oder Etwas erwarten.
Do you wait for my brother?	Warten Sie auf meinen Bruder?
I do wait for him.	Ich warte auf ihn.
Do you expect friends?	Erwarten Sie Freunde?
I do expect some.	Ich erwarte einige.

To owe.

Schuldig seyn*².

How much do you owe me?	Wie viel sind Sie mir schuldig?
I owe you fifty crowns.	Ich bin Ihnen fünfzig Thaler schuldig.
How much does the man owe you?	Wie viel ist Ihnen der Mann schuldig?
He owes me ten shillings.	Er ist mir zehn Schillinge schuldig.
Does he owe as much as you?	Ist er so viel schuldig wie Sie?
He owes more than I.	Er ist mehr schuldig als ich.
The shilling,	der Schilling.
The pound,	das Pfund.
The livre (a coin),	der Franke.

¹ Warten auf, with the accusative case, is used, when the person or thing spoken of is present, and erwarten, when it is not.

² Schuldig seyn*, to owe, is to be considered as a compound verb, of which the separable particle is placed at the end, schuldig, due, owing, indebted, having here the force of the separable particle.

To return (to come back) — re- turned. Zurückkommen* — zurückgekommen.

At what o'clock do you return from the market? Um wie viel Uhr kommen Sie von dem Markte zurück?

I return from it at twelve o'clock. Ich komme um zwölf Uhr von da zurück.

From there, thence (from it). Von da.

Does the servant return early thence? Kommt der Bediente früh von da zurück?

He returns thence at ten o'clock in the morning. Er kommt um zehn Uhr Morgens von da zurück.

At nine o'clock in the morning. † Um neun Uhr Morgens.

At eleven o'clock at night. † Um elf Uhr Abends.

How long?

During, for.

Wie lange?

Während (a preposition which governs the genitive case).

How long has he remained there? Wie lange ist er da geblieben?

A minute.

Eine Minute.

An hour.

Eine Stunde⁴.

A day.

Einen Tag.

A year.

Ein Jahr (a neuter substantive, taking e in the plur., without being softened).

A month.

Einen Monat.

*The summer,
the winter,*

der Sommer.
der Winter.

During the summer.

Während des Sommers.
Den Sommer über.
Den Sommer hindurch.

How long have you spoken with the man? Wie lange haben Sie mit dem Manne gesprochen?

I have spoken with him for three hours. Ich habe drei Stunden mit ihm gesprochen.

3 The accusative case answers to the question wie lange? how long? and other similar questions, relative to measure, weight, quantity, &c, as wie lang? how long? wie schwer? how heavy? wie viel? how much? wie theuer? of what price? wie weit? how far? wie groß? of what size? wie alt? how old? (See Method, Part II. p. 36.)

4 Minute, minute, Stunde, hour, are two nouns of the feminine gender; they add n in all the cases of the plural, without softening the radical vowels. We can also say: eine Stunde lang, during an hour; ein Jahr lang, during a year.

How long has your brother re- mained in the country?	Wie lange ist Ihr Bruder auf dem Lande geblieben?
He has remained there a month.	Er ist einen Monat da geblieben.
Have you remained long with my father?	Sind Sie lange bei meinem Va- ter geblieben?
I have remained with him for an hour.	Ich bin eine Stunde lang bei ihm geblieben.
Long.	Lange.

What have they stolen from you?

All.

All.

All (plural).

Stehlen — gestohlen.*

Du stiehst, — er stiehlt.
† Jemandem Etwas stehlen*.
† Hat man Ihnen Ihren Hut gestohlen?
† Man hat ihn mir gestohlen.
† Hat Dir der Mann das Buch gestohlen?
† Er hat es mir gestohlen.
Was hat man Ihnen gestohlen?

All is declined in the following manner.

	N.	G.	D.	A.
Masc.	aller—es—em—en.
Neut.	alles—es—em—es.

Plural for all Genders.

	N.	G.	D.	A.
	Alle—er—en—e.

All the good wine.
All the good water.
All the good children.

Alle gute Wein.
Alle gute Wasser.
Alle gute Kinder. (See end of Lesson XX. Obs. B.)

Obs. A. When two determinative words, which do not take the definite article, as: all, all (See Lesson XXXIV.); dieser, this; jener, that, &c. are placed one after the other, they have each the characteristic ending of this article. Ex.

All this wine.
All this money.
All these children.
All these good children.

Alle dieser (not diese) Wein.
Alle dieses (not diese) Geld.
Alle diese Kinder.
Alle diese guten Kinder.

Obs. B. In familiar style, when all, all, is followed by a pronoun, it often rejects its termination. Ex.

All his money.
The word,
the speech,
How is this word written?
It is written thus.

Alles sein Geld. das Wort;
das Wort (plur. Worte)¹.
Wie schreibt man dieses Wort?
Man schreibt es so.

As far as London.

Bis London.

As far as Paris.

Bis Paris.

As far as England.

Bis nach England.

As far as France.

Bis nach Frankreich.

As far as Italy.

Bis nach Italien.

Germany,
Spain,
Holland,

Deutschland;
Spanien;
Holland.

RULE. The names of countries, towns, and villages, belong to the neuter gender, and stand without the article. They are indeclinable except in the genitive, which receives s when the pronunciation admits it. If the ending of the name does not admit the letter s, as in Paris, Paris, the preposition von, of, is used. Ex. die Einwohner von Paris, the inhabitants of Paris. Some proper names of countries are of the feminine gender. These, like all other feminine nouns, are invariable in the singular, and form their case by means of the definite article, viz 1, Names of countries which terminate in ei. Ex. die Türkei, Turkey; and 2, the following: die Krimm, Crimea; die Lausitz, Lusatia; die Mark, March; die Moldau, Moldavia; die Pfalz, Palatinate; die Schweiz, Switzerland. Ex. der Schweiz, of Switzerland; der Schweiz, to Switzerland; die Schweiz, Switzerland.

To travel.

this summer?—I intend to go to Germany.—Do you not go to Italy?—I do go thither.—Hast thou sometimes travelled?—I have never travelled.—Have your friends the intention to go to Holland?—They have the intention to go thither.—When do they intend to depart?—They intend to depart the day after to-morrow.—Has your brother already gone to Spain?—He has not yet gone thither.—Have you travelled in Spain?—I have travelled there.—When do you depart?—I depart to-morrow.—At what o'clock?—At five o'clock in the morning.—Have you worn out all your boots?—I have worn them all out.—What have the Turks done?—They have burnt all our good ships.—Have you finished all your letters?—I have finished them all.—How far have you travelled?—I have travelled as far as Germany.—Has he travelled as far as Italy?—He has travelled as far as America.—How far have the Spaniards gone?—They have gone as far as London.—How far has this poor man come?—He has come as far as here.—Has he come as far as your house?—He has come as far as my father's. (See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

FIFTY-SECOND LESSON.—Zwei und fünfzigste Section.

Above.	Oben (rest).	{ hinauf herauf	{ (motion).
Below.	Unten (rest).	{ hinunter or hinab herunter or herab	{ (motion).
This side.	Diesseits (rest).	Hither, hierher, hier herüber, von dort her	{ (motion).
That side.	Jenseits (rest).	Thither, dorthin	(motion).

Obs. A. The particles her and hin, having no corresponding words in English, must be carefully distinguished from each other. Her expresses motion towards the person who speaks, as: herauf, up; herunter or herab, down; heraus, out; herüber, hither, to this side. Hin expresses motion from the person who speaks towards another place, as: hinauf, up; hinunter or hinab, down; hinaus, out; hinüber, thither, to the opposite side. If, for instance, I wish to tell any one who is on a mountain to come down, I must say: kommen Sie herunter, come down (to where I am). He might answer me, kommen Sie herauf, come up. I might say to him, ich komme nicht hinaus, I am not coming up; and he might answer me, und ich nicht hinunter, and I am not coming down.

According to this we must say: kommen Sie herein, come in; gehen Sie hinaus, go out; fahren Sie hinüber, drive to the opposite side; springen Sie hinein, jump in (i. e. in den Fluß, into the river); but should the person speaking be already in the water, he would say, springen Sie herein. (See the Adverbs of Motion, page 184, Method, Part II.)

The mountain,	der Berg;
the river,	der Fluß;
the present,	das Geschenk (plur. e 1).

Obs. B. The adverbs diesseits, jenseits, ought to be carefully distinguished from the prepositions, diesseit, jenseit. The latter are always followed by the genitive, whilst the others never govern a case.—Ex. diesseit des Flusses, on this side of the river; jenseit des Berges, on the other side of the mountain.

To go up the mountain.	Den Berg hinauf gehen*.
Where is your brother gone to?	Wo ist Ihr Bruder hingegangen?
He is gone up the mountain.	Er ist den Berg hinauf gegangen.

To give back again (to restore). Wiedergeben *.

Thou givest back again.	Du gibst wieder.
He gives back again.	Er gibt wieder.
Given back again	Wiedergegeben.
Does he restore you your book?	Gibt er Ihnen Ihr Buch wieder?
He does restore it to me.	Er gibt es mir wieder.

1 Neuter words, formed of a verb and the syllable ge, add t to all the cases plural, and do not soften the radical vowel.

Has he given you your stick back again? Hat er Ihnen Ihren Stocf wieder-gegeben?
He has given it me back again. Er hat ihn mir wiedergegeben.

To begin, to commence.

Anfangen*, beginnen*.

Begun, commenced.

Angefangen, begonnen.

Have you already commenced your letter?

Haben Sie Ihren Brief schon an-gefangen?

Not yet.

Noch nicht.

I have not yet commenced it.

Ich habe ihn noch nicht ange-fangen.

Have you received a present?

Haben Sie ein Geschenk bekom-men?

I have received several.

Ich habe verschiedene bekommen.

From whom have you received presents?

Von wem haben Sie Geschenke be-kommen?

Whence? Where from?

Woher?

Out of.

Aus (governs the dative).

Where do you come from?

Wo kommen Sie her?

Obs. C. The adverb woher may be separated into two parts (as wohin, Lesson XXXIX.) the first of which is put at the beginning, and the second at the end of the phrase.—If the phrase ends with a participle past, or an infinitive, her is placed before it, but it precedes the particle zu of the infinitive.

I come from (out of) the garden. Ich komme aus dem Garten.

Where has he come from? Woher ist er gekommen?

He has come from the theatre. Er ist aus dem Theater gekommen.

To be worth.

Werth seyn*.

How much may that horse be worth?

Wie viel kann dieses Pferd werth seyn?

It may be worth a hundred crowns.

Es kann hundert Thaler werth
seyn.

This is worth more than that.

Dieses ist mehr werth als jenes.

The one is not worth so much as the other.

Das eine ist nicht so viel werth als das andere.

How much is that worth?

Wie viel ist das werth?

That is not worth much.

Das ist nicht viel werth.

That is not worth anything.

Das ist Nichts werth.

To be better.

Besser seyn * (mehr werth seyn *).

Am I not so good as my brother? Bin ich nicht so gut wie mein Bruder?

You are better than he.

{ Sie sind besser als er.

I am not so good as you.

{ Sie sind mehr werth als er.

Ich bin nicht so gut wie Sie.

EXERCISES. 115.

Do you call me?—I do call you.—Where are you?—I am on (auf with the dative) the mountain; are you coming up?—I am not coming up.—Where are you?—I am at the foot (am Fuße) of the mountain; will you come down?—I cannot come down.—Why can you not come down?—Because I have sore feet.—Where does your cousin live?—He lives on this side of the river.—Where is the mountain?—It is on that side of the river.—Where stands the house of our friend?—It stands on that side of the mountain.—Is the garden of your friend on this or that side of the wood?—It is on that side (jenseits).—Is our storehouse not on that side of the road?—It is on this side (diesseits).—Where have you been this morning?—I have been on (Lesson XXXII.) the great mountain.—How many times have you gone up the mountain?—I have gone up (ihn hinauf gegangen) three times.—Is your father below or above?—He is above.—Have the neighbour's boys given you your books back again?—They have given them me back again.—When did they give them you back again?—They gave (haben—wiedergegeben) them me back again yesterday.—To whom have you given your stick?—I have given it to the nobleman.—To whom have the noblemen given their gloves?—They have given them to Englishmen.—To which Englishmen have they given them?—To those (Lesson XVI.) whom you have seen this morning at my house.—To which people do you give money?—I give some to those to whom (Lesson XVI.) you give some.—Do you give any one money?—I do give some to those who want any.—To which children does your father give cakes?—He gives some to those who are good.

Have you received presents?—I have received some.—What presents have you received?—I have received fine presents.—Has your little brother received a present?—He has received several.—From whom has he received any?—He has received some from my father and from yours.—Do you come out of the garden?—I do not come out of the garden, but out of the house.—Where are you going to?—I am going into the garden.—Whence comes the Irishman?—He comes from the garden.—Does he come from the same garden from which (auss welchem) you come?—He does not come from the same.—From which garden does he come?—He comes from that of our old friend.—Whence comes your boy?—He comes from the play.—How much is that carriage worth?—It is worth five hundred crowns.—Is this book worth as much as that?—It is worth more.—How much is my horse worth?—It is worth as much as that of your friend.—Are your horses worth as much as those of the French?—They are not worth so much.—How much is that knife worth?—It is worth nothing.—Is your servant as good as mine?—He is better than yours.—Are you as good as your brother?—He is better than I.—Art thou as good as thy cousin?—I am as good as he.—Are we as good as our neighbours?—We are better than they.—Is your umbrella as good as mine?—It is not worth so much.—Why is it not worth so much as mine?—Because it is not so fine as yours.—Do you wish to sell your horse?—I do wish to sell it.—How much is it worth?—It is worth two hundred florins.—Do you wish to buy it?—I have bought one already.—Does your father intend to buy a horse?—He does intend to buy one, but not yours. (See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

FIFTY-THIRD LESSON.—Drei und fünfzigste Section.

That (conjunction).

Daß (See Rule of Syntax, Lesson XLIX.).

What do you say?

Was sagen Sie?

I say that you have my book.	Ich sage, daß Sie mein Buch haben.
I tell you that I have it not.	Ich sage Ihnen, daß ich es nicht habe.
Have you not had it?	Haben Sie es nicht gehabt?
I have had it, but I have it no longer.	Ich habe es gehabt, aber ich habe es nicht mehr.

No more.	Nicht mehr.
-----------------	-------------

Where have you placed it?	Wo haben Sie es hin gelegt?
I have placed it on the table.	Ich habe es auf den Tisch gelegt.

FIFTY-FOURTH LESSON.—Vier und fünfzigste Section.

To pay—paid.

Bezahlen — bezahlt. (See Obs. A. Lesson XLVII.)

To pay a man for a horse.

Einem Manne ein Pferd bezahlen.

To pay the tailor for the coat.

Dem Schneider den Rock bezahlen.

Do you pay the shoemaker for the shoes?

Bezahlen Sie dem Schuhmacher die Schuhe?

I pay him for them.

Ich bezahle sie ihm.

Does he pay me for the knives?

Bezahlt er Ihnen die Messer?

He pays me for them.

Er bezahlt sie mir.

Obs. A. These examples show that the verb bezahlen governs the dative of the person, and the accusative of the thing. It may also be used with the preposition für, for, as in English. Ex. I pay him for the boots, ich bezahle ihm für die Stiefel. But taken figuratively, in the signification of bestrafen, to punish, it is sometimes construed with the accusative of the person, as in the following expressions: warte, ich will Dich bezahlen, wait, I shall pay (punish) you for it; den habe ich schon bezahlt, I have paid (punished) this man well.

Have you paid the shoemaker for the boots?

Haben Sie dem Schuhmacher die Stiefel bezahlt?

I have paid him for them.

Ich habe sie ihm bezahlt.

I pay what I owe.

Ich bezahle, was ich schuldig bin.

Have you paid for your book?

Haben Sie Ihr Buch bezahlt?

I have paid for it.
I have not yet paid for it.

Ich habe es bezahlt.
Ich habe es noch nicht bezahlt.

To demand—demanded.
To ask—asked.
To beg of—begged of.
To pray—prayed.
To request—requested.

{ Verlangen — verlangt. (Obs.
A. Lesson XLVII.)
{ Ansprechen* — angesprochen.
{ Bitten* — gebeten.

To ask one for money.
To beg money of some one.
To request money of any one.
What do you ask me for?
I ask you for nothing.
I beg some money of you.
He has begged some money of me.

Von Jemanden Geld verlangen.
Jemanden um Geld ansprechen*.
Jemanden um Geld bitten*.
Was verlangen Sie von mir?
Ich verlange Nichts von Ihnen.
Ich spreche Sie um Geld an.
Er hat mich um Geld angesprochen.

For.

Um (a preposition governing the accusative).

Do you beg some money of him?
I beg some of him.
To solicit any one to do a thing.

Sprechen Sie ihn um Geld an?
Ich erbitte mir welches von ihm.
Etwas von Jemanden erbitten*.

For it.

Darum.

To ask him for it.
To ask him for them.

{ Ihn darum ansprechen*.
{ Es von ihm verlangen.
{ Ihn darum ansprechen*.
{ Sie von ihm verlangen.
{ Ich spreche Sie darum an.
{ Ich verlange es von Ihnen.
Verlangen Sie Etwas von mir?
Ich bitte Sie um den Hut.
Bitten Sie mich um den Hut?
Ich bitte Sie darum.

I ask you for it.
Do you ask me for anything?
I ask you for the hat.
Do you ask me for the hat?
I ask you for it.

To speak of some one.

Von Jemanden sprechen*.

Does one speak of that man?
One speaks of him.
One does not speak of him.
Do they speak of my book?
They speak much of it.
What do you say to it?
I say he is right.

Spricht man von diesem Manne?
Man spricht von ihm.
Man spricht nicht von ihm.
Spricht man von meinem Buche?
Man spricht viel davon.
Was sagen Sie dazu (hierzu)?
Ich sage, daß er Recht hat.

Content, satisfied.
New.

Zufrieden.
Neu.

To be content with any one.	Mit Jemanden zufrieden seyn*.
Are you content with this man?	Sind Sie mit diesem Manne zufrieden?
I am content with him.	Ich bin mit ihm zufrieden.

Obs. B. From hier, here, and da, there, compound adverbs are formed by means of certain prepositions governing the dative or accusative. In these adverbs hier and da stand instead of the three genders singular and plural, dative and accusative of the demonstrative pronoun: dieser, diese, dieses (der, die, das), which is never used with a preposition.

Are you content with your new coat?	Sind Sie mit Ihrem neuen Kleide zufrieden?
I am contented with it.	Ich bin damit zufrieden.
I am discontented with it.	Ich bin unzufrieden damit.
Discontented.	Unzufrieden.

Of what do they speak?	Wovon spricht man?
They speak of peace, of war, of your book.	Man spricht von dem Frieden, von dem Kriege, von Ihrem Buche.
Do they speak of peace?	Spricht man von dem Frieden?
They do speak of it.	Man spricht davon.

Obs. C. The adverb wo, where, like hier and da (See Obs. above), form compound adverbs with certain prepositions governing the dative or accusative. In these, wo takes the place of the dative and accusative of the pronoun interrogative and relative welcher, welche, welches, or was.

With what are you content?	Womit sind Sie zufrieden?
I am content with my book.	Ich bin mit meinem Buche zufrieden.
With whom are you satisfied?	Mit wem sind Sie zufrieden?
I am satisfied with my master.	Ich bin mit meinem Lehrer zufrieden.

(See Lesson XLI. and end of Lesson XXXVI.)

FIFTY-SEVENTH LESSON.—Sieben und fünfzigste Section.

OF PASSIVE VERBS.

In English, the past participle is joined to the verb to be, either to form the passive voice, or as an adjective to qualify the subject. In the first instance it must be translated by *werden, and in the second by *seyn.

In German we distinguish, as in Latin: das Haus ist gebaut, domus ædificata est, from das Haus wird gebaut, domus ædificatur; die Briefe sind geschrieben, litteræ scriptæ sunt, from die Briefe werden geschrieben, litteræ scribuntur.

To ascertain whether a past participle stands as an adjective or not, one has only to change the construction into the active voice; if in that voice the tense is the same as in the passive, the participle is a passive participle, and the auxiliary to be must be translated by *werden; but if the tense is not the same, it then stands as a mere adjective, and the auxiliary to be must be translated by *seyn. Ex. Ich werde geliebt, I am loved, is in the same tense, when I say: er liebt mich, he loves me; but der Spiegel ist zerbrochen, the looking-glass is broken, is not in the same tense, when I say : er hat den Spiegel zerbrochen, he has broken the looking-glass. Here zerbrochen is nothing but an adjective, which qualifies the subject Spiegel, looking-glass.

I am loved.
Thou art guided.
He is praised.
We are heard.
They are blamed.

You are punished.
To praise, to blame.

Ich werde geliebt.
Du wirst geleitet.
Er wird gelobt.
Wir werden gehört.
Sie werden getadelt.
{ Ihr werdet gestraft.
{ Sie werden gestraft.
Loben, tadeln.

By me—by us.
By thee—by you.
By him—by them.

Von mir — von uns.
Von Dir — von Euch (Ihnen).
Von ihm — von ihnen.

I am loved by him.
Who is punished?
The naughty boy is punished.
By whom is he punished?
He is punished by his father.
Which man is praised, and which is blamed?
The skilful man is praised, and the awkward blamed.
Which boys are rewarded, and which are punished?
Those that are assiduous are rewarded, and those that are idle punished.
We are loved by the captain's sons, you are despised by them.
You are praised by our brothers, and we are despised by them.

Ich werde von ihm geliebt.
Wer wird gestraft?
Der unartige Knabe wird gestraft.
Von wem wird er gestraft?
Er wird von seinem Vater gestraft.
Welcher Mann wird gelobt, und welcher wird getadelt?
Der geschickte Mann wird gelobt und der ungeschickte getadelt.
Welche Knaben werden belohnt, und welche werden bestraft?
Diejenigen, welche fleißig sind, werden belohnt, und die, welche träge sind, bestraft.
Wir werden von den Söhnen des Hauptmanns geliebt; Ihr werdet von ihnen verachtet.
Sie werden von unsern Brüdern gelobt, und wir werden von ihnen verachtet.

Good—naughty.

Artig — unartig (See Note 6, Lesson XLI.)

Skilful, diligent—awkward.
Assiduous—idle.
Ignorant.

Geschickt — ungeschickt.
Fleißig — träge (faul).
Unwissend.

they are studious and good.

Belohnen—belohnt (See Obs. A.
Lesson XLVII.)

Achten, schätzen.

Berachten.

Haßen.

Ist Ihr Buch zerrissen?

Es ist nicht zerrissen.

Sind Ihre Kinder artig?

Sie sind sehr artig.

Ist der Feind geschlagen?

Er ist geschlagen.

Die Feinde sind geschlagen.

Diese Kinder werden geliebt, weil sie fleißig und artig sind. (See Note 6, Lesson XLI.)

children never punished?—They are (εῖς) never, because they are studious and good; but those are so (εῖς) very often, because they are idle and naughty.

128.

Who is praised and rewarded?—Skilful people (ῥεῦτε) are praised, esteemed, and rewarded, but the ignorant are blamed and despised.—Who is loved and who is hated?—He who is studious and good is loved, and he who is idle and naughty is hated.—Must one be good in order to be loved?—One must be so.—What must one do in order to be loved?—One must be good and assiduous.—What must one do in order to be rewarded?—One must be skilful and study much.—Why are those children loved?—They are loved because they are good.—Are they better than we?—They are not better, but more studious than you.—Is your brother as assiduous as mine?—He is as assiduous as he; but your brother is better than mine.—Do you know anything new?—I do not know anything new.—What does your cousin say new?—He says nothing new.—Do they not speak of war?—They do not speak of it.—Of what (Obs. C. Lesson LIV.) do they speak?—They speak of peace.—What do they say?—They say that the enemy is beaten.—Are you understood by your pupils?—I am understood by them.—Dost thou often receive presents?—I do receive some, if I am good.—Are you often rewarded?—We are rewarded, if we study well, and if we are diligent.—Has your master the intention of rewarding you?—He has the intention of doing so, if we study well.—What does he intend to give you, if you study well?—He intends giving us a book.—Has he already given you a book?—He has already given us one.

129.

Have you dined already?—I have dined already, but I am still hungry.—Has your little brother drunk already?—He has drunk already, but he is still thirsty.—What must we do in order to be skilful?—You must work much.—

Must we sit still in order to study?—You must listen to what the master tells you.—Do you intend to eat supper to-day?—I do intend to dine, before I eat supper.—At what o'clock do you dine?—I dine at four and eat supper at nine o'clock.—Have you seen my cousin?—I have seen him.—What has he said?—He has said that he does not wish to see you (sehen will).—Why does he not wish to see me?—He does not wish to see you, because he does not like you.—Why does he not like me?—Because you are naughty.—Will you give me a sheet of paper?—Why (Waszu) do you want paper?—I want some to write a letter.—To whom (Lesson XXXII.) do you wish to write?—I wish to write to the man by whom (von wem) I am loved.—After whom do you inquire?—I inquire after no one. (See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

FIFTY-EIGHTH LESSON.—Acht und fünfzigste Section.

OF IMPERSONAL VERBS.

These verbs having no determinate subject, are only conjugated in the third person singular, by means of the indefinite pronoun es, it. Ex.

To rain—it rains.

To snow—it snows.

Does it thunder?

It does thunder.

Is it foggy?

Does the sun shine?

The sun shines.

It thunders loud.

Foggy,
the fog,

der Hagel.
{ Es hagelt.
 Es schloßt.
 Es regnet sehr stark.
 Es blikt sehr.
 Schneiet es?
 Es schneiet sehr.
 Es hagelt sehr.

Obs. A. There are some impersonal verbs, which relate to a person; they govern the dative or accusative, and instead of: ich bin hungrig, (Lesson VII.) one may say: es hungert mich, I am hungry; for the verb *hungern*¹, to be hungry, governs the accusative.

To be thirsty.
To be sleepy.

Dursten.
Schläfern.

Art thou sleepy?
I am not sleepy, but hungry.

Schläfert es Dich?
Es schläfert mich nicht; aber es hungert mich.

Is your brother thirsty?
He is thirsty.
Hf is not thirsty, but sleepy.

Durstet es Ihren Bruder?
Es durstet ihn.
Es durstet ihn nicht; aber es schläfert ihn.

Obs. B. The case of the verb may be placed before the impersonal verb, but then the indefinite pronoun es must be suppressed. For instance, instead of: es hungert mich, one may say: mich hungert, I am hungry; but if the sentence is interrogative, the indefinite pronoun es must not be omitted.

Are you sleepy?
We are sleepy.

Schläfert es Sie?
{ Es schläfert uns.
 Uns schläfert.

¹ Hungern, in the signification of to fast, is neuter, and follows the conjugation of neuter verbs.

Are those men hungry?	Hungert es diese Männer?
They are hungry.	{ Es hungert sie.
Who is thirsty?	{ Sie hungert.
I am very thirsty.	{ Wen durstet es?
Has your cousin been thirsty?	{ Es durstet mich sehr.

He is in Berlin.	Ich bin gesonnen, diesen Frühling
He is at Berlin.	nach Dresden zu reisen.
	Wo ist Ihr Oheim?
	Er ist in Berlin.
	Er ist zu Berlin.

RULE. The preposition zu or in is used to express rest in a place or country, and the preposition nach motion

² When the verb *fahren signifies to move anything by a carriage, it is active, and takes *haben for its auxiliary. (See Obs. D. page 92, Method, Part II.)

or direction towards a place or country. Nach is particularly used before names of towns or countries. (Lesson LVI.); but the preposition zu must be made use of to express motion towards a person. (Lesson XXVIII.)

The two prepositions zu and in answer the question wo? and nach the question wohin? as is seen by the above examples.

Is it good living in Paris?	{	Ist es gut leben in Paris?
Is the living good in Paris?

(See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

FIFTY-NINTH LESSON.—Neun und fünfzigste Section.

OF THE IMPERFECT AND PERFECT TENSES.

In English there are three imperfect tenses, viz. I praised, did praise, and was praising. These three are expressed in German by one imperfect, ich lobte. It is used to express a past action or event in reference to another, which was either simultaneous with or antecedent to it. It is the historical tense of the Germans, and is always employed in narration, particularly when the narrator was an eye-witness of the action or event. The perfect tense, on the contrary, expresses an action or event, as perfectly past and ended, without any reference to another event, and when the narrator was not an eye-witness. In this latter instance the imperfect also may be used, if the narrator accompanies his narrative with any phrase denoting that he does not speak in his own name, as man sagt or sagt man, they say, it is said, &c.

The perfect tense is compounded of the present of the auxiliary, and the past participle, as in English. (See Lessons XLIII., XLIV., &c.)

I was—he was.

We were—they were.

Thou wast—you were.

Were you content?

I was very content.

Was the wine good?

It was very good.

Were you there yesterday?

I was there to-day.

Where was he the day before yesterday?

Were you already in Paris?

I was there twice already.

Obedient—disobedient.

Negligent.

Ich war — er war.

Wir waren — sie waren.

Du warst—Ihr waret (Sie waren).

Waren Sie zufrieden?

Ich war sehr zufrieden.

War der Wein gut?

Er war sehr gut.

Sind Sie gestern da gewesen?

Ich bin heute da gewesen.

Wo ist er vorgestern gewesen?

Sind Sie schon in Paris gewesen?

Ich bin schon zweimal da gewesen.

Gehorsam — ungehorsam.

Nachlässig.

Obs. A. The imperfect of regular verbs is formed from the infinitive by changing en into t, and adding the proper termination to each person viz. e, to the first and third persons singular, en, to the first and third persons plural, est, to the second person singular, and et, to the second person plural. Ex.

I	{ loved, did love, was loving.	He	{ loved, did love, was loving.	{ Ich liebte — er liebte.
We	{ loved, did love, were loving.	They	{ loved, did love, were loving.	{ Wir liebten — sie liebten.
Thou	{ lovedst, didst love, wast loving.	You	{ loved, did love, were loving.	{ Du liebtest — Ihr liebtet (Sie liebten).

Obs. B. The consonant t of the imperfect is preceded by e, if the pronunciation requires it, which is the case in all verbs, the root of which ends in d, t, th, or st, or in several consonants united. (See Obs. A. Lesson XXXVI. and Lesson XLIII.) Ex.

I	{ worked, did work, was working.	He	{ worked, did work, was working.	{ Ich arbeitete — er arbeitete.
We	{ worked, did work, were working.	They	{ worked, did work, were working.	{ Wir arbeiteten — sie arbeiteten.
Thou	{ workedst, didst work, wast working.	You	{ worked, did work, were working.	{ Du arbeitetest — Ihr arbeitetet (Sie arbeiteten).

Obs. C. In all German verbs, whether regular or irregular, the third person singular of the imperfect tense is the same as the first person; and the third person plural is the same as the first in all the tenses.

I had—he had.
We had—they had.
Thou hadst—you had.
Had you money?
I had some.
Had your brother books?
He had some.

Ich hatte — er hatte.
Wir hatten — sie hatten.
Du hattest—Ihr hattet (Sie hatten).
Hatten Sie Geld?
Ich hatte welches.
Hatte ihr Bruder Bücher?
Er hatte welche.

What had we?	Was hatten wir?
What sort of weather was it yesterday?	Was für Wetter war es gestern?
It was fine weather.	Es war schönes Wetter.
Had you a wish to buy a horse?	Hatten Sie Lust, ein Pferd zu kaufen?
I had a wish to buy one, but I had no money.	Ich hatte Lust, eins zu kaufen; aber ich hatte kein Geld.
Did your cousin intend to learn German?	War Ihr Vetter gesonnen, deutsch zu lernen?
He did intend to learn it, but he had no master.	Er war gesonnen, es zu lernen; aber er hatte keinen Lehrer.

EXERCISES. 135.

SIXTIETH LESSON.—Sechzigste Section.

I	{ spoke, did speak, He	{ spoke, did speak,	{ Ich sprach ¹ — er sprach.
	{ was speaking.	{ was speaking.
We	{ spoke, did speak, They	{ spoke, did speak,	{ Wir sprachen — sie sprachen. (See
	{ were speaking.	{ were speaking.	{ Obs.C.Less.LIX.)
Thou	{ spokest, didst speak, You	{ spoke, did speak,	{ Du sprachst — Ihr sprachtet
	{ wast speaking.	{ were speaking.	{ (Sie sprachen).

Obs. In irregular verbs the imperfect of the indicative is formed by changing the radical vowel into: a, ie, i, o, u, and adding the termination belonging to each person. Hence in the irregular verbs we shall mark only the change of that vowel, together with the termination of the first person, in order to enable learners to know the imperfect tense. Examples: the verb sprechen above changes in the imperfect the radical vowel e into a; bleiben, to remain, changes it into ie, thus: ich blieb, I remained; gehen, to go, into i, thus: ich ging, I went; ziehen, to draw, into o, thus: ich zog, I drew; schlagen, to beat, into u, thus: ich schlug, I smote.

¹ Learners ought now to add to their list of verbs the imperfect of all irregular verbs which they have been using hitherto, or will have to use hereafter.

Compound verbs follow in general the conjugation of simple verbs.

At first (in the beginning).	Erst, zuerst (anfangs).
Afterwards.	Hernach or nachher.
Hereupon, upon this.	Hierauf.

☞ Whenever a sentence begins with any other word than the subject, its order is inverted, and the subject stands after the verb in simple, and after the auxiliary in compound tenses ².

At first he said yes, afterwards no.	Erst sagte er ja, hernach nein.
At first he worked, and afterwards he played.	Erst arbeitete und hernach spielte er.
I do not go out to-day.	Heute gehe ich nicht aus.
Now you must work.	Jetzt müssen Sie arbeiten.
My father set out yesterday.	Gestern ist mein Vater abgereist.
Here lies your book and there your paper.	Hier liegt Ihr Buch und da Ihr Papier.
He came afterwards.	Er ist hernach (nachher) gekommen.
Upon this he said.	Hierauf sagte er.

As soon as.	Sobald, sobald als.
I drink as soon as I have eaten.	Ich trinke, sobald ich gegessen habe.
As soon as I have taken off my shoes, I take off my stockings.	Sobald ich meine Schuhe ausgezogen habe, ziehe ich meine Strümpfe aus ³ .
What do you do after supper?	Was thun Sie nach dem Abendessen?

To sleep—slept.	Schlafen — geschlafen. Imperfect schlief.
I sleep, thou sleepest, he sleeps.	Ich schlafe, du schläfst, er schläft.
Does your father still sleep?	Schläft Ihr Vater noch?
He does still sleep.	Er schläft noch.

To live.	Leben.
Is your relation still alive?	† Lebt Ihr Verwandter noch?
He is no longer alive (he is dead).	† Er lebt nicht mehr.

² From this rule must be excepted the conjunctions which serve to unite sentences (See Lesson XLIX.); they leave the subject in its place and throw the verb to the end of the sentence.

³ See Obr. C. Lesson XXXVI.

Without.	Ohne (is followed by zu before the infinitive).
Without money	Ohne Geld.
Without speaking.	† Ohne zu sprechen.
Without saying anything.	† Ohne Etwas zu sagen.
To go away—gone away.	Weggehen* — weggegangen. Imperf. ging.
He went away without saying anything.	Er ging weg, ohne Etwas zu sagen.
At last.	Endlich.
To arrive—arrived.	Ankommen* — angekommen. Imperf. kam.
Has he arrived at last?	Ist er endlich angekommen?
He has not arrived yet.	Er ist noch nicht angekommen.
Does he come at last?	Kommt er endlich?
He does come.	Er kommt.
To give away—given away.	Weggeben* — weggegeben. Imperf. gab.
To cut off—cut off (past part.).	Ab schneiden* — abgeschnitten. Imperf. schnitt.
Has he given away anything?	Hat er Etwas weggegeben?
He has given away his coat.	Er hat sein Kleid weggegeben.
To cut one's throat.	Jemandem den Hals abschneiden*.
They have cut his throat.	Man hat ihm den Hals abgeschnitten.
To crop a dog's ears.	Einem Hunde die Ohren abschneiden*.
What have they done to him?	Was haben sie ihm gethan?
They have cut off his ears.	Sie haben ihm die Ohren abgeschnitten.
Aloud.	Laut.
Does your master speak aloud?	Spricht Ihr Lehrer laut?
He does speak aloud.	Er spricht laut.
In order to learn German, one must speak aloud.	Um deutsch zu lernen, muß man laut sprechen.

EXERCISES. 138.

(See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

SIXTY-FIRST LESSON.—Ein und sechzigste Section.

Been.

Worden.

Obs. A. The learner must remember that *werden, not *seyn is the verb which serves to form the passive voice (Lesson LVII.). The past participle of the former is worden, and that of the latter gewesen. (Lesson XLIII.)

Have you been praised?

I have been praised.

Hast thou been blamed?

I have not been blamed.

Have we been loved?

By whom has he been punished?

He has been punished by his father.

When has he been punished?

He has been punished to-day.

I was — he was

We were — they were

Thou wast — you were } praised.

Sind Sie gelobt worden?

Ich bin gelobt worden.

Bist Du getadelt worden?

Ich bin nicht getadelt worden.

Sind wir geliebt worden?

Er ist von seinem Vater gestraft worden.

Wann ist er gestraft worden?

Er ist heute gestraft worden.

Ich wurde — er wurde

Wir wurden — sie wurden

Du wurdest — Ihr wurdet

(Sie wurden)

} gelobt.

Were you loved?	Burden Sie geliebt?
I was loved.	Ich wurde geliebt.
Was he hated?	Wurde er gehaßt?
He was neither loved nor hated.	Er wurde weder geliebt, noch gehaßt.

To become.

Werden*.

The past participle of this verb is:.

Become.

Geworden¹.

And its imperfect:

I became—he became.

Ich ward, or wurde — er ward, or wurde.

Thou becamest.

Du wardst or wurdest.

Obs. B. In all the other tenses and persons werden*, to become, is conjugated as the verb which serves to form the passive voice. (See Lesson LVII. and above.)

He was made a king.

He became a king.

Have you become a merchant?

I have become a lawyer.

He has taken the degrees of a doctor.

} † Er ward König.

Sind Sie Kaufmann geworden?

Ich bin Advokat geworden.

† Er ist Doctor geworden.

The king,

the successor,

der Advokat (See Note 1, Lesson LVI.);

das Amt.

Learned.

To fall sick.

To be taken ill.

To recover, to grow well.

To recover one's health.

He was taken ill.

He has recovered his health.

What has become of him?

He has turned soldier.

Gelehrt.

} † Krank werden*.

} † Gesund werden*.

† Er ward krank.

† Er ist gesund geworden.

} Was ist aus ihm geworden?

} Wo ist er hingekommen?

Er ist Soldat geworden.

¹ Not worden, which is the past participle of the verb that serves to form the passive voice, as may be seen above.

² Masculine substantives derived from a regular verb do not soften the radical vowel in the plural, as Nachfolger, which is derived from nachfolgen, to follow, to succeed; plur. die Nachfolger, the successors,

He has enlisted.	Er hat sich anwerben lassen *.
To enlist, to enroll.	{ Soldat werden *.
Children become men.	{ Sich anwerben lassen *.
	Aus Kindern werden Leute.
To tear—torn.	{ Reißen * — gerissen 3.
To snatch—snatched.

I have lost my money, so that	Ich habe mein Geld verloren, so
I cannot pay you.	daß ich Sie nicht bezahlen kann.
I am ill, so that I cannot go out.	Ich bin krank, so daß ich nicht ausgehen kann.

The imperfect of können is ich konnte, I could.

The way to Berlin.	Der Weg nach Berlin.
The way from Berlin to Dresden.	Der Weg von Berlin nach Dresden.
Which way has he taken?	Welchen Weg hat er genommen?
He has taken the way to Leipsic.	Er hat den Weg nach Leipzig genommen.

3 The verb reißen, to tear, to pull, to wrest, must not be mistaken for zerreißen, which means: to tear to pieces, to rend, to burst asunder.

Which way will you take?
I will take this way.
And I that one.

Welchen Weg wollen Sie nehmen?
Ich will diesen Weg nehmen.
Und ich jenen.

EXERCISES. 140.

Why has that child been praised?—It has been praised, because it has studied well.—Hast thou ever been praised?—I have often been praised.—Why has that other child been punished?—It has been punished, because it has been naughty and idle.—Has this child been rewarded?—It has been rewarded, because it has worked well.—When was that man punished?—He was punished last month.—Why have we been esteemed?—Because we have been studious and obedient.—Why have these people been hated?—Because they have been disobedient.—Were you loved when (als) you were at Dresden?—I was not hated.—Was your brother esteemed when (als) he was in London?—He was loved and esteemed.—When were you in Spain?—I was there when you were there.—Who was loved and who was hated?—Those that were good, assiduous, and obedient, were loved, and those who were naughty, idle, and disobedient, were punished, hated, and despised.—What must one do, in order not to be despised?—One must be studious and good.—Were you in Berlin when the king was there?—I was there when he was there.—Was your uncle in London when I was there?—He was there when you were there.—Where were you when I was at Dresden?—I was in Paris.—Where was your father when you were in Vienna?—He was in England.—At what time did you breakfast when you were in Germany?—I breakfasted when (wenn) my father breakfasted.—Did you work when he was working?—I studied when he was working.—Did your brother work when you were working?—He played when I was working.

SIXTY-EIGHTH LESSON.—Acht und sechzigste Lektion.

Just now.	Soeben.
I have just seen your brother.	Ich habe soeben Ihren Bruder gesehen.
He has just written.	Er hat soeben geschrieben.
The men have just arrived.	Die Leute sind soeben angekommen.

To spend money.	Ausgeben*.
How much have you spent to-day?	Wie viel haben Sie heute ausgegeben?

To spend (to eat, to consume).	Verzehren.
What am I to pay?	† Was habe ich verzehrt?
How much has he spent at the inn?	† Wie viel hat er bei dem Wirth verzehrt?
He has fifty crowns a month to live upon.	† Er hat den Monat fünfzig Thaler zu verzehren.

To squander, to dissipate, to lavish.	} Verschwenden.
He has squandered all his wealth.
The landlord, the innkeeper, the wealth, the fortune, entire, whole,	Er hat sein ganzes Vermögen verschwendet. der Wirth; das Vermögen; ganz.
What countryman are you?	{ † Woher sind Sie? Wo sind Sie her? Was für ein Landsmann ¹ sind Sie?

¹ The plural of der Landsmann, the countryman, one of the same country, is Landsleute. Its feminine is Landsmännin, countrywoman, a woman of the same country. This word must not be mistaken for der Landmann, the countryman, farmer, rustic, the plural of which is Landleute.

From Venice.	Von (aus) Venedig.
From London.	Von (aus) London.
I am from Dresden.	Ich bin aus Dresden.

Obs. A. The syllable er is the characteristic termination of the masculine gender², and signifies the person that performs or is accustomed to perform the king expressed by the verb. This syllable, joined to the name of a town or country, forms a substantive denoting the man born in such a town or country. Ex.

He is a saddler,	er ist ein Sattler;
a baker,	ein Bäcker ³ ;
a locksmith,	ein Schlosser;
the lock,	das Schloß;
the saddle,	der Sattel;
the key,	der Schlüssel.

He is from Berlin.	† Er ist ein Berliner.
Are you an Englishman?	Sind Sie ein Engländer?

Whence do you come?	{ Woher kommen Sie?
I come from Paris.	{ Wo kommen Sie her?
	Ich komme von Paris.

To serve, to wait upon.	{ Dienen (governs the dative).
	{ Bedienen (governs the accusative).

To serve some one, or to wait upon some one.	Jemandem dienen.
---	------------------

To be in one's service.	Bei Jemandem dienen.
--------------------------------	----------------------

This is to no purpose (of no use).	† Das dient zu Nichts.
Do you choose any of it?	† Kann ich Ihnen damit dienen?
I do not like it.	{ † Damit ist mir nicht gedient.
I will not do for me.	{

To spoil.	{ Verderben* (verb act. and neut. irreg.).
	{ Zu Schanden machen (a vulgar expression).

² This is the reason why most substantives of this termination are of the masculine gender. (See pages 4, 5, Method, Part II.)

³ Derived from backen, to bake.

Thou spoilest—he spoils.

You have spoiled my book.
My book is spoiled.

Has he spoiled my hat?

To damage.

That hat fits you well.
How does this hat fit me?
It does not fit you.

Most lovely, charming.
Admirably.

To dress, to fit, to sit well.

Obs. B. The verb fleiden, when it signifies to fit, to sit well, is neuter, and governs the dative; but when it means to dress, to clothe, it is active and governs the accusative.

That hat fits you admirably well.
That coat fits him.
My father clothes me.
God clothes the poor.
The man with the blue coat.
How was the child dressed?
It was dressed in green.

Wie tief?

Wie hoch ist sein Haus?

Es ist ungefähr dreißig Fuß hoch.

(Lesson LXVII. Obs. D.)

Wahr.

Ist es wahr, daß sein Haus abgebrannt ist?

Es ist wahr.

4 Aller is the genitive plural of the word all, all. It is sometimes thus joined to the superlative to give it more strength.

Is it not? (meaning, is it not † Nicht wahr? true?)

The philosopher,

der Weltweise, der Philosoph
(gen. en).

To offer—offered.	Anbieten* — angeboten.
	Imperf. bot.
I offer it you.	Ich biete es Ihnen an.

1 Neuter nouns terminating in ß, add e to all cases of the plural, without softening the radical vowel. (See page 8, Method, Part II.)

For.	{ Für (a preposition governing the accusative).
To take care of something.	{ Sorge für Etwas tragen*. Etwas in Acht nehmen*.
	Masc. Neut.
To take care of it.	{ Dafür besorgt seyn, } ihn, es besorgen. Dafür sorgen,
To take care of the hat.	Den Hut in Acht nehmen*.
	Imperf. nahm.
Do you take care of your clothes?	Nehmen Sie Ihre Kleider in Acht?
I do take care of them.	+ Ich nehme sie in Acht.

Obs. A. There are in German many substantives, adverbs, and other words and expressions which form one signification with the verb, as: auswendig lernen, to learn by heart²; gern essen*, to like to eat (Lesson LVI.); schuldig seyn*, to owe (Lesson XLIX.), &c. These are placed exactly like the separable particles (Lesson XXVII.), but are never joined to the verb. (See those expressions in Method, Part II. Obs. G. p. 111.)

Will you take care of my horse?	{ Wollen Sie für mein Pferd sor- gen?
I will take care of it.	{ Wollen Sie mein Pferd besorgen ³ ? Ich will dafür sorgen. Ich will es besorgen. Sorgen, besorgen.
To take care.
The merchant of Hamburg.	Der Hamburger Kaufmann.

Obs. B. The genitive of names of towns is generally expressed by an adjective. This is formed by adding the syllable er to the name, and is indeclinable. Ex.

	SINGULAR.	PLURAL.
The student of Leipsic.	{ NOM. der Leipziger Student —die GEN. des Leipziger Studenten —der DAT. dem Leipziger Studenten —den ACC. den Leipziger Studenten —die }	{ Leipziger Studenten. ten.

² This and the above examples show that such a construction is not altogether unusual in English.

³ The first of these two expressions is the best.

The citizen (burgess) of London, der Londoner Bürger;
the citizen of Paris, der Pariser Bürger;
the beer of Strasburg, das Straßburger Bier.

EXERCISES. 158.

tend to go thither soon.—Why do you wish to go this time?—In order to buy good books and a good horse there; and to see my good friends.—Is it long since you were there?—It is nearly two years since I was there.—Do you not go to Vienna this year?—I do not go thither, for it is too far from here to Vienna.—Is it long since you saw your Hamburg friend?—I saw him but a fortnight ago.—Do your scholars like to learn by heart?—They do not like to learn by heart; they like reading and writing better than learning by heart.—Do you like beer better than cider?—I like cider better than beer.—Does your brother like to play?—He likes to study better than to play.—Do you like meat better than bread?—I like the latter better than the former.—Do you like to drink better than to eat?—I like to eat better than to drink; but my uncle likes to drink better than to eat.—Does your brother-in-law like meat better than fish?—He likes fish better than meat.—Do you like to write better than to speak?—I like to do both.—Do you like fowl better than fish?—Do you like good honey better than sugar?—I like neither.

164.

Does your father like coffee better than tea?—He likes neither.—What do you drink in the morning?—I drink a glass of water with a little sugar; my father drinks good coffee, my younger brother good tea, and my brother-in-law a glass of good wine.—Can you understand me?—No, Sir, for you speak too fast.—Will you be kind enough (so gut seyn) not to speak so fast (langsamer zu sprechen)?—I will not speak so fast, if you will listen to me.—Can you understand what my brother tells you?—He speaks so fast, that I cannot understand him.—Can your pupils understand you?—They understand me when I speak slowly; for in order to be understood one must speak slowly.—Why do you not buy any thing of that merchant?—I had a mind to buy several dozen of handkerchiefs, some cravats, and a white hat of him; but he sells so dear that I cannot buy anything of him.—Will you take me to another?—I will take you to the son of the one whom you bought of last year.—Does he sell as dear as this (one)?—He sells cheaper.—Do you like going to the theatre better than going to the concert? —I do like going to the concert as well as going to the theatre; but I do not like going to the public walk, for there are too many people there.—Do your children like learning Italian better than Spanish?—They do not like to learn either; they only like to learn German.—Do they like to speak better than to write?—They like to do neither.—Do you like mutton?—I like beef better than mutton.—Do your children like cake better than bread?—They like both.—Has he read all the books which he bought?—He bought so many of them, that he cannot read them all.—Do you wish to write some letters?—I have written so many of them, that I cannot write any more. (See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

SEVENTY-SECOND LESSON.—Zwei und siebenzigste Section.

OF REFLECTIVE VERBS.

When the action falls upon the agent, and the objective case refers to the same person as the nominative, the verb is called reflective.

In reflective verbs the pronoun of the object is of the same person as that of the subject, and stands either in the dative or the accusative, according as the verb governs the one or the other case. In the third person singular and plural it is always sich, whether the verb governs the dative or accusative.

A REFLECTIVE VERB GOVERNING THE ACCUSATIVE.

To disguise myself—to disguise Mich verstellen — Uns verstellen.
ourselves.

To disguise thyself—to disguise Dich verstellen — Euch verstellen.
yourselves.

A REFLECTIVE VERB GOVERNING THE DATIVE.

To represent to myself—to re- Mir vorstellen — Uns vorstellen.
present to ourselves.

To represent to thyself—to re- Dir vorstellen — Euch vorstellen.
present to yourselves.

THIRD PERSON FOR ALL GENDERS.

Singular and Plural Dative and Accusative.

To disguise one's self—to represent to one's self. Sich verstellen — sich vorstellen.

☞ The personal pronoun of reflective verbs is placed after the verb as in English; and so are all other personal pronouns when they are not in the nominative.

Obs. A. There is no real reflective verb in English, that is to say, such as cannot be used otherwise; but in German there are many, as for instance the following, which govern the accusative.

To rejoice.

Sich freuen.

To be ashamed.

Sich schämen.

To look back.

Sich umsehen*. Imperf. sah.

Do you see yourself?

Sehen Sie sich? (Sehet Ihr Euch?)

I do see myself.

Ich sehe mich.

Thou cuttest thyself.

Du schneidest Dich.

He cuts himself.

Er schneidet sich.

I am afraid to go thither.

Ich fürchte mich, hinzugehen.

They burn themselves.

Sie breunen sich.

To flatter.

Schmeicheln (governs the dative).

Dost thou flatter thyself?

Schmeichelst Du Dir?

I do not flatter myself.

Ich schmeichle mir nicht.

We do not flatter ourselves.

Wir schmeicheln uns nicht.

He disguises himself.

Er verstellt sich.

You represent to yourself.

Sie stellen sich vor.

To fear some one.

Jemanden fürchten.

To be afraid of somebody.

Sich vor Jemandem fürchten.

I am not afraid of him.

Ich fürchte mich nicht vor ihm.

I do not fear him.

Ich fürchte ihn nicht.

Of whom are you afraid?

Vor wem fürchten Sie sich?

Whom do you fear?

Wen fürchten Sie?

To enjoy something.

To amuse one's self in doing something.

} Sich zum Zeitvertreib mit Etwas beschäftigen.

To pass away the time.	Die Zeit vertreiben*.
To drive away.	Vertreiben*.
Driven away.	Vertrieben.
Drove away.	Vertrieb (Imperf.).
The pastime, the diversion.	Der Zeitvertreib.
In what do you amuse yourself?	Womit vertreiben Sie sich die Zeit?
I amuse myself in reading.	Ich vertreibe mir die Zeit mit Lesen.
He diverts himself in playing.	Er vertreibt sich die Zeit mit Spielen.

	Masc.	Fem.	Neut.
Each or each one.	Jeder,	jede,	jedes.
	Ein jeder,	eine jede,	ein jedes (Jedermann.)

Obs. B. Jeder, jede, jedes, has no plural, and is declined like all, with the characteristic termination of the article. (Lesson LI.) Preceded by the indefinite article, it is declined like an adjective preceded by this article.

Every man has his taste.	Jeder Mensch hat seinen Geschmack.
Each of you.	Ein jeder von Euch.
Every body speaks of it.	Jedermann spricht davon.
Each man amuses himself as he likes.	Ein Jeder vertreibt sich die Zeit, wie es ihm gefällt.
Each one amuses himself in the best way he can.	Ein Jeder vertreibt sich die Zeit, so gut er kann.
The taste,	der Geschmack.

To mistake, to be mistaken.	Sich irren, sich täuschen.
Every man is liable to mistake.	Jeder Mensch kann sich irren.
You are mistaken.	Sie irren sich.

To soil.	Beschmutzen, schmutzig machen.
To deceive.	Betrügen* (betriegen*).
Deceived.	Betrogen (past part.). Imperf. betrog.
He has cheated me of a hundred crowns.	Er hat mich um hundert Thaler betrogen.

At (over).	Ueber (a preposition governing the dative and accusative).
To rejoice at something.	Sich über Etwas freuen.

I rejoice at your happiness.	Ich freue mich über Ihr Glück.
At what does your uncle rejoice?	Worüber freut sich Ihr Oheim?
To believe.	Glauben.

This verb requires the person in the dative, and the thing in the accusative. It governs also the accusative with the preposition an.

Do you believe that man?	Glauben Sie diesem Manne?
I do not believe him.	Ich glaube ihm nicht.
Do you believe what I am telling you?	Glauben Sie mir, was ich Ihnen sage?
I believe in God.	Ich glaube an Gott.
The God,	der Gott (plural Götter);
the story-teller, the liar,	der Lügner.
To utter a falsehood, to lie.	Lügen (part. past, gelogen, Imperf. log).

(SEE THE CONTINUATION OF THIS LESSON, PAGE 250.)

EXERCISES. 165.

Have you written long or short letters?—I have written (both) long and short ones.—Have you many apples?—I have so many of them that I do not know which I shall (self) eat.—Do you wish to give anything to these children?—They have studied so badly, that I do not wish to give them anything.—What is this man rejoicing at?—He is rejoicing at the luck which has happened to his brother.—What dost thou rejoice at?—I rejoice at the good fortune that has happened to you.—What do your children rejoice at?—They rejoice at seeing you.—Do you rejoice at the happiness of my father?—I do rejoice at it.—What does your uncle say to my happiness?—He rejoices at it from his heart.—Do you flatter my brother?—I do not flatter him.—Does this master flatter his pupils?—He does not flatter them.—Is he pleased with them?—He is much (sehr) pleased (zufrieden) with them when they learn well; but he is highly (sehr) displeased with them when they do not learn well.—Do you flatter me?—I do not flatter you, for I love you.—Do you see yourself in that small looking-glass?—I do see myself in it.—Can your friends see themselves in that large looking-glass?—They can see themselves therein.—Why do you not remain near the fire?—Because I am afraid of burning myself.—Does this man make his fire?—He does not make it, for he is afraid of burning himself.—Do you fear me?—I do not fear you.—Do you fear those ugly men?—I do not fear them, for they hurt nobody.—Why do those children run away?—They run away, because they are afraid of you.—Do you run away before your enemies?—I do not run away before them, for I do not fear them.

166.

In what do your children amuse themselves?—They amuse themselves in studying, writing, and playing.—In what do you amuse yourself?—I amuse myself in the best way I can, for I read good books, and I write to my friends.—In what do you amuse yourself when you have nothing to do at home?—I go to the play and to the concert, for every one amuses himself in the best way he can.—Every man has his taste; what is yours?—Mine is to study, to read a good book, to go to the theatre, the concert, the ball, and the public walk, and to ride on horseback.—Has that physician done any harm to your child?—He has cut his finger (es in den Finger), but he has not done him any harm; so you are mistaken, if you believe that he has done him any harm.—Why do you listen to that man?—I listen to him, but I do not believe him; for I know that he is a story-teller.—How do you know that he is a story-teller?—He does not believe in God; and all those who do not believe in God are story-tellers.—Why does your cousin not brush his hat?—He does not brush it, because he is afraid of soiling his fingers (ſich die Finger).—What does my neighbour tell you?—He tells me that you wish to buy his horse; but I know that he is mistaken, for you have no money to buy it.—What do they say at the market?—They say that the enemy is beaten.—Do you believe it?—I do believe it, because every one says so.—Why have you bought that book?—I bought it, because I wanted it to learn German; and because every one spoke of it. (See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

CONTINUATION OF THE SEVENTY-SECOND LESSON.

Fortsetzung der zwei und siebenzigsten Section.

When a proposition has no definite subject, the English, in order to avoid the pronouns they, people &c., use the verb in the passive voice; and say, I was told, instead of, They told me; It was given to me, instead of, They gave it to me. This is expressed in German by means of the indefinite pronoun man, one, as in French by on. Ex.

I am told that he is arrived.	Man sagt mir, daß er angekommen ist.
A knife was given to him to cut his bread, and he cut his finger.	Man gab ihm ein Messer, um sein Brod zu schneiden, und er schnitt sich in den Finger.

PERFECT OF REFLECTIVE VERBS.

Have you cut yourself?	Haben Sie sich geschnitten?
I have not cut myself.	Ich habe mich nicht geschnitten.
Have those men cut themselves?	Haben sich diese Männer geschnitten?
They have not cut themselves.	Sie haben sich nicht geschnitten.
Hast thou hurt thyself?	Hast Du Dir wehe gethan?
I have not hurt myself.	Ich habe mir nicht wehe gethan.
Who has cut himself?	Wer hat sich geschnitten?
I have cut my finger.	+ Ich habe mich in den Finger geschnitten.
I have rejoiced.	+ Ich habe mich gefreut (gefrenet).
I have flattered myself.	Ich habe mir geschmeichelt.
Thou hast cut thyself.	Du hast Dich geschnitten.
He has flattered himself.	Er hat sich geschmeichelt.
We have been afraid.	+ Wir haben uns gefürchtet.
You have mistaken.	+ Ihr habt Euch geirrt.
	+ Sie haben sich geirrt.

To pull out.

He pulls out his hair.	+ Er reißt sich die Haare aus.
He has pulled out his hair.	+ Er hat sich die Haare ausgerissen.
He has cut his hair.	+ Er hat sich die Haare abgeschnitten.
I have had my hair cut.	+ Ich habe mir die Haare schneiden lassen.

I have cut my nails.	† Ich habe mir die Nägel abge- schnitten.
The hair,	das Haar (plur. e).
To go to bed.	{ Zu Bette gehen*. Schlafen gehen*. Sich legen.
To get up, to rise.	Aufstehen*.
Do you rise early?	Stehen Sie früh auf?
I rise at sun-rise.	Ich stehe mit Sonnenaufgang auf.
I go to bed at sun-set.	{ Ich gebe mit Sonnenuntergang zu Bette. Ich lege mich mit Sonnenunter- gang.
At what time did you go to bed?	Um welche Zeit sind Sie zu Bette gegangen?
At midnight.	Um Mitternacht.
At three o'clock in the morning.	Um drei Uhr Morgens.
He went to bed late.	Er ist spät zu Bette gegangen.
At what o'clock did you go to bed yesterday?	Um wie viel Uhr sind Sie gestern zu Bette gegangen?
At a quarter past eleven.	Um ein Viertel auf zwölf.
The bed,	das Bett (plur. en).
The sun-rise,	{ der Sonnenaufgang. der Aufgang der Sonne.
The sun-set,	{ der Sonnenuntergang. der Untergang der Sonne.
Nothing but.	Nichts als.
He has nothing but enemies.	Er hat Nichts als Feinde.
He drinks nothing but water.	Er trinkt Nichts als Wasser.

EXERCISES. 167.

Did your father rejoice to see you?—He did rejoice to see me.—What did you rejoice at?—I rejoiced at seeing my good friends.—What was your uncle delighted with (worüber hat sich Ihr Oheim gefreut)?—He was delighted with (über) the horse which you brought him from Germany.—What were your children delighted with?—They were delighted with the fine clothes which I had had made (for) them.—Why does this officer rejoice so much (so sehr)?—Because he flatters himself he has good friends.—Is he not right in rejoicing?—He is wrong, for he has nothing but enemies.—Do you flatter yourself that you know German?—I do flatter myself that I know it; for I can speak, read, and write it.—Can you write a German letter without an error (der Fehler)?—I can.—Does any one correct your letters?—No one corrects them; they do not require (brauchen nicht) to be corrected, for I make no faults in them.—How many letters have you already written?—I have already written a dozen.—Have you hurt yourself?—I have not hurt myself.—Who has hurt himself?—My brother has hurt himself, for he has cut his finger.—Is he still ill?—He is better.—I rejoice to hear that he is no longer ill; for I love him, and I pitied him from my heart.—Why does your cousin pull out his hair?—Because he cannot pay what he owes.—Have you cut your hair?—I have not cut it (myself), but I have had it cut.—Why do you pity that child?—Because he has cut his foot.—Why was a knife given to him?—A knife was given to him to cut his nails, and he has cut his finger and his foot.

Do you go to bed early?—I go to bed late, for I cannot sleep, if I go to bed early.—At what o'clock did you go to bed yesterday?—Yesterday I went to bed at a quarter past eleven.—At what o'clock do your children go to bed?—They go to bed at sun-set.—Do they rise early?—They rise at sun-rise.—At what o'clock did you rise to-day?—To-day I rose late, because I went to bed late yesterday evening.—Does your son rise late?—He must rise early, for he never goes to bed late.—What does he do when he gets up?—He studies, and then breakfasts.—Does he not go out before he breakfasts?—No, he studies and breakfasts before he goes out.—What does he do after breakfast?—As soon as he has breakfasted he comes to my house, and we ride (on horseback) into the forest.—Didst thou rise this morning as early as I?—I rose earlier than you, for I rose before sun-rise. (See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

SEVENTY-THIRD LESSON.—Drei und siebenzigste Section.

To take a walk.	Spazieren gehen*.
To take an airing in a carriage.	Spazieren fahren* (Imp. fuhr).
To take a ride on horseback.	Spazieren reiten* (Imp. ritt).

 A. When two or more infinitives, two past participles, or a past participle and an infinitive depend upon each other, the last in English is put the first in German.

Do you wish to take a walk (to go a walking)? Wollen Sie spazieren gehen?

I do wish to take a walk (to go a walking). Ich will spazieren gehen.

He wishes to take a walk. Er will spazieren gehen.

Thou wishest to take an airing. Du willst spazieren fahren.

They wish to take a ride. Sie wollen spazieren reiten.

Do you wish to see him work? Wollen Sie ihn arbeiten sehen?

Has your brother been praised? Ist Ihr Bruder gelobt worden?

He takes a walk every day. Er geht alle Tage spazieren.

Do you often walk? Gehen Sie oft spazieren?

I take a walk every morning. Ich gehe alle Morgen spazieren.

To take a child a walking. Ein Kind spazieren führen.

Do you take your children a walking? Führen Sie Ihre Kinder spazieren?

I take them a walking every evening. Ich führe sie alle Abend spazieren.

 B. Two infinitives or participles not depending on each other follow the English construction.

One must love and praise one's friend. Man muß seinen Freund lieben und loben.

Whom must we despise and punish? Wen muß man verachten und strafen?

I take a walk, when I have nothing to do at home. Ich gehe spazieren, wenn ich zu Hause Nichts zu thun habe.

Obs. A. The adverb wann is used to interrogate with respect to time only. In all other instances the English when is translated by wenn. Ex.

When do you start?
When did he start?

Wann reisen Sie ab?
Wann ist er abgereist?

To teach.

Lehren.

Obs. B. This verb, when joined to an infinitive, governs the name of the person in the accusative; but when the thing taught is expressed by a substantive, it governs the dative of the person.

He teaches me to read.

Er lehrt mich lesen.

I teach him to write.

Ich lehre ihn schreiben.

He teaches me arithmetic and writing.

Er lehrt mir das Rechnen und Schreiben.

Obs. C. All infinitives taken substantively are of the neuter gender. Any German infinitive may thus be taken substantively, e. g. das Rechnen, arithmetic, from rechnen, to reckon; das Schreiben, the writing, from schreiben*, to write, &c.

I teach you the German language.

Ich lehre Ihnen die deutsche Sprache¹.

To instruct.

{ Unterrichten.
Unterricht ertheilen (or geben*).

The instruction, the lessons, der Unterricht.

He gives me lessons.

{ Er gibt mir Unterricht.

I give him lessons in German (I teach him German) { Er ertheilt mir Unterricht.

I gave lessons in English to his children (I taught his children English).

Ich gebe (or ertheile) ihm Unterricht im Deutschen.

Ich habe seinen Kindern Unterricht im Englischen ertheilt.

He takes lessons in dancing.

Er nimmt Unterricht im Tanzen.

The learned man,
a learned man,

der Gelehrte;
ein Gelehrter (See Obs. Lesson LV.);

the clergyman,
a clergyman,

der Geistliche;
ein Geistlicher;

¹ Die Sprache, the language, is a feminine noun, and has it in the plural.

the German master (meaning the master of the German language),	} der deutsche Sprachlehrer;
the German master (meaning that the master is a German, whatever he teaches),
the dancing-master,	der Tanzmeister.
To dance.	Tanzen.
To cipher, to reckon.	Rechnen.

To remember, to recollect. Sich erinnern.

Obs. D. This verb governs either the genitive alone, or, less elegantly, the accusative with the preposition an.

Do you remember that man?	Erinnern Sie sich dieses Mannes?
I do remember him.	Ich erinnere mich seiner.
Does he recollect his promise?	Erinnert er sich seines Versprechens?
	Erinnert er sich an sein Versprechen?
He does recollect it.	Er erinnert sich dessen.
	Er erinnert sich daran.
Does he recollect it?	Erinnert er sich dessen?
	Erinnert er sich daran?
I remember you.	Ich erinnere mich Ihrer.
I recollect them.	Ich erinnere mich ihrer.
He remembers me.	Er erinnert sich meiner.
He recollects us.	Er erinnert sich unser.
I have remembered him.	Ich habe mich seiner erinnert.

EXERCISES. 169.

Do you call me?—I do call you.—What is your pleasure?—You must rise, for it is already late.—What do you want me for?—I have lost all my money at play, and I come to beg you to lend me some.—What o'clock is it?—It is already a quarter past six, and you have slept long enough.—Is it long since you rose?—It is an hour and a half since I rose.—Do you often go a walking?—I go a walking when I have nothing to do at home.—Do you wish to take a walk?—I cannot take a walk, for I have too much to do.—Has your brother taken a ride on horseback?—He has taken an airing in a carriage.—Do your children often go a walking?—They go a walking every morning after breakfast.—Do you take a walk after dinner?—After dinner I drink tea, and then I take a walk.—Do you often take your children a walking?—I take them a walking every morning and every evening.—Can you go along with me?—I cannot go along with you, for I must take my little brother out a walking.—Where do you walk?—We walk in our uncle's garden and fields.—Do you like walking?—I like walking better than eating and drinking.—Does your father like to take a ride on horseback?—He likes to take a ride in a carriage better than on horseback.—Must one love children who are not good?—One ought, on the contrary, to punish and despise them.—Who has taught you to read?—I have learnt it with (bei) a French master.—Has he also taught you to write?—He has taught me to read and to write.—Who has taught your brother arithmetic?—A German master has taught it him.—Do you wish to take a walk with us?—I cannot go a walking, for I am waiting for my German master.—Does your brother wish to take a walk?—He cannot, for he is taking lessons in dancing.

170.

Have you an English master?—We have one.—Does he also give you lessons in Italian?—He does not know Italian; but we have an Italian and Spanish master.—What has become of your old writing-master?—He has taken orders (has become a clergyman).—What has become of the learned man whom I saw at your house last winter?—He has set up for a merchant.—And what has become of his son?—He has turned a soldier.—Do you still recollect my old dancing-master?—I do still recollect him; what has become of him?—He is here, and you can see him, if you like (wollen).—Hast thou a German master?—I have a very good (one), for it is my father who gives me lessons in German and in English.—Does your father also know Polish?—He does not know it yet, but he intends to learn it this summer.—Do you remember your promise?—I do remember it.—What did you promise me?—I promised to give you lessons in German; and I will do it.—Will you begin this morning?—I will begin this evening, if you please (wenn es Ihnen gefällig ist).—Do you recollect the man whose son taught us dancing?—I no longer recollect him.—Do you still recollect my brothers?—I do recollect them very well, for when I was studying at Berlin, I saw them every day.—Does your uncle still recollect me?—I assure you that he still recollects you.—Do you speak German better than my cousin?—I do not speak it so well as he, for he speaks it better than many Germans.—Which of your pupils speaks it the best?—The one that was walking with me yesterday speaks it the best of them all.—Is your uncle's house as high as ours?—Yours is higher than my uncle's, but my cousin's is the highest house that I have ever seen.—Has your friend as many books as I?—You have more of them than he; but my brother has more of them than (both) you and he.—Which of us (wer von uns) has the most money?—You have the most, for I have but thirty crowns, my friend has but ten, and you have five hundred. (See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

SEVENTY-FOURTH LESSON.—Vier und siebenzigste Section.

To make use of, to use.

Sich bedienen (governs the genitive).

Do you use my horse?

Bedienen Sie sich meines Pferdes?

I do use it.

Ich bediene mich desselben.

Does your father use it?

Bedient sich Ihr Vater desselben?

He does use it.

Er bedient sich desselben.

Have you used my carriage?

Haben Sie sich meines Wagens bedient?

I have used it.

Ich habe mich desselben bedient.

Do you use my books?

Bedienen Sie sich meiner Bücher?

I do use them.

Ich bediene mich derselben.

May I use your book?

Kann ich mich Ihres Buches bedienen?

Thou mayest use it.

Du kannst Dich desselben bedienen.

To approach, to draw near.

Sich nähern (governs the dative).

To withdraw from, to go away from.

Sich entfernen (governs the dative with the preposition von).

Do you approach the fire?	Nähern Sie sich dem Feuer?
I do approach it.	Ich nähere mich demselben.
I go away from the fire.	Ich entferne mich vom Feuer.
I go away from it.	Ich entferne mich davon.
What do you recollect?	Woran erinnern Sie sich?
I recollect nothing.	Ich erinnere mich an Nichts.
What are you withdrawing from?	Wovon entfernen Sie sich?
Are you cold?	+ Ist es Ihnen kalt?
I am very cold.	+ Es ist mir sehr kalt.
I am not cold.	+ Es ist mir nicht kalt.
Art thou cold?	+ Ist es Dir kalt?
Is he warm?	+ Ist es ihm warm?
Are they warm or cold?	+ Ist es ihnen warm oder kalt?
They are neither warm nor cold.	+ Es ist ihnen weder warm, noch kalt.
Who is cold?	+ Wem ist es kalt?
My feet are cold.	+ Es ist mir an den Füßen kalt.
His hands are cold.	+ Es ist ihm an den Händen kalt.
Why does that man go away from the fire?	Warum entfernt sich dieser Mann von dem Feuer?
He goes away from it, because he is not cold.	Er entfernt sich davon, weil es ihm nicht kalt ist.
To freeze—frozen.	+ Frieren* — gefroren.
Froze.	Fror (Imperf.).

Obs. The impersonal verb *frieren, to freeze, governs the accusative, and may also be used for the English verb to be cold, as:

I am very cold.	+ Es friert mich sehr.
I am not cold.	+ Es friert mich nicht.
Who is cold?	+ Wen friert es?
My feet are cold.	+ Mir frieren die Füße.
His hands are cold.	+ Ihm frieren die Hände.

For what? whereto? for what purpose? Wozu?

What do you want money for?	Wozu brauchen Sie Geld?
I want some to buy a carriage with.	Ich brauche welches, um einen Wagen zu kaufen.
What does this horse serve you for?	Wozu dient Ihnen dieses Pferd?
It serves me to ride out upon.	Es dient mir, um auszureiten or zum Ausreiten.
To ride out.	Ausreiten*.
To go out in a carriage.	Ausfahren*.

EXERCISES. 171.

Which is the nearest way to go to your uncle's castle?—This way is shorter than the one we took yesterday; but my father knows one which is the nearest of all.—Do you use my carriage?—I do use it.—Has your father used my horse?—He has used it.—What does this horse serve you for?—It serves me to ride out upon.—Do you use the books which I lent you?—I do use them.—May I (Kann ich) use your knife?—Thou mayest use it, but thou must not cut thyself.—May my brothers use your books?—They may use them, but they must not tear them.—May we use your stone table?—You may use it, but you must not spoil it.—What has my wood served you for?—It has served me to warm myself with.—For what purpose do your brothers want money?—They want some to live upon.—What does this knife serve us for?—It serves us to cut our bread, our meat, and our cheese with.—Is it cold to-day?—It is very cold.—Will you draw near the fire?—I cannot draw near it, for I am afraid of burning myself.—Why does your friend go away from the fire?—He goes away from it, because he is afraid of burning himself.—Art thou coming near the fire?—I am coming near it, because I am very cold.—Are thy hands cold?—My hands are not cold, but my feet are.—Do you go away from the fire?—I do go away from it.—Why do you go away from it?—Because I am not cold.—Are you cold or warm?—I am neither cold nor warm.

172.

Why do your children approach the fire?—They approach it, because they are cold.—Is any body cold?—Somebody is cold.—Who is cold?—The little boy, whose father has lent you a horse, is cold.—Why does he not warm himself?—Because his father has no money to buy wood.—Will you tell him to come to me to warm himself?—I will tell him so.—Do you remember anything?—I remember nothing.—What does your uncle recollect?—He recollects your promise.—What have I promised him?—You have promised him to go to Germany with him next winter.—I intend to do so, if it is not too cold.—Are your hands often cold?—

(See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

SEVENTY-FIFTH LESSON.—Fünf und siebenzigste Section.

To shave.	} Rasiren (verb active). Sich rasiren (verb reflexive).
To get shaved.
To dress, to put on clothes.	Anziehen*.
To dress.	Ankleiden.
To undress, to put off clothes.	Ausziehen*.
To undress.	Auskleiden.

Obs. A. Anziehen* expresses either to dress or to put on clothes, but ankleiden can only be used to express the English to dress. The same may be said with regard to ausziehen* and auskleiden.

Have you dressed yourself?	Haben Sie sich angekleidet?
I have not yet dressed myself.	Ich habe mich noch nicht angekleidet.

I have already written to him several times; he has, however, not answered me yet.

182.

What did you do when you had finished your letter?—I went to my brother, who took (führen) me to the theatre, where I had the pleasure to find one of my friends, whom I had not seen for ten years.—What didst thou do after getting up this morning?—When I had read the letter of the Polish count, I went out to see the theatre of the prince, which I had not seen before (noch nicht).—What did your father do when he had breakfasted?—He shaved, and went out.—What did your friend do after he had been a walking?—He went to the baron.—Did the baron cut the meat after he had cut the bread?—He cut the bread after he had cut the meat.—When do you set out?—I do not set out till (erst) to-morrow; for before I depart I will once more see my good friends.—What did your children do when they had breakfasted?—They went a walking with their dear preceptor.—Where did your uncle go to after he had warmed himself?—He went nowhither.—After he had warmed himself he undressed and went to bed.—At what o'clock did he get up?—He got up at sun-rise.—Did you wake him?—I had no need to wake him, for he had got up before me.—What did your cousin do when he heard (of) the death of his best friend?—He was much afflicted, and went to bed without saying a word.—Did you shave before you breakfasted?—I shaved when I had breakfasted.—Did you go to bed when you had eaten supper?—When I had eaten supper I wrote my letters, and when I had written them I went to bed.—At what are you afflicted?—I am afflicted at that accident.—Are you afflicted at the death of your relation?—I am much (sehr) afflicted at it.—When did your relation die?—He died last month.—Of what do you complain?—I complain of your boy.—Why do you complain of him?—Because he has killed the pretty dog, which I received from one of my friends.—Of what has your uncle complained?—He has complained of what you have done.—Has he complained of the letter which I wrote to him?—He has complained of it. (See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

EIGHTIETH LESSON.—Achtzigste Section.

DECLENSION OF FEMININE SUBSTANTIVES.

		NOM.	GEN.	DAT.	ACC.
The	Singular.	die,	der,	der,	die,
	Plural.	die,	der,	den,	die.

I. SINGULAR.

RULE. All feminine substantives, without exception, together with all foreign feminine words adopted into German, as: die Form, the form; die Linie, the line, remain invariable in all the cases singular. Ex. NOM. die Frau, the woman; GEN. der Frau, of the woman; DAT. der Frau, to the woman; ACC. die Frau, the woman.

II. PLURAL.

RULE. Feminine substantives ending in e, el, er, add n, and all others en, in all the cases of the plural; and do not soften the radical vowels. (See Table of the Declension of Substantives, Lesson XV.)

There are two exceptions to this rule:

1st, The two substantives: die Mutter, the mother; die Tochter, the daughter, soften the radical vowels in the plural without adding *n*¹. Ex. Plural: die Mütter, the mothers; die Töchter, the daughters.

2d, Feminine monosyllables containing an a or u, are declined in the plural like masculine substantives, that is, they add e in all the cases, and soften the radical vowel².

¹ Except in the dative. It will be remembered that all substantives without exception take n in the dative plural, if they have not one in the nominative. (See Lesson XV.)

² The declension of those substantives which deviate from these rules will be separately noted.

IN THE FEMININE GENDER.

A good, &c. (feminine).	{	N. eine gute.	G. einer guten.

THE FOLLOWING PRONOUNS ARE DECLINED LIKE THE DEFINITE ARTICLE.

This or this one, that or that one,	diese, jene.
Some, sundry,	einige, etliche.
Many, several,	mehre or mehrere ⁴ .
Which,	welche.
All,	alle.
Many a one, some,	mancher, manche, manches.

Andere is declined like an adjective.

Obs. C. In the plural all adjectives, ordinal numbers, and pronominal adjectives have the same declension for all genders, as we have already seen in many parts of this work, particularly in the Table of the Declension of Adjectives, Lesson XX.

REMARK.

To become intimately acquainted with the declension of adjectives, ordinal numbers, and pronominal adjectives, the learner has only to familiarize himself with the definite article; for when the adjective is preceded by a word having the characteristic termination⁵, it takes en in all the cases, except in the nominative singular of all genders and the accusative singular feminine and neuter, in which it takes e. (Lesson XX. No. 2.) The adjective itself takes these terminations when it is not preceded by any article⁶, or if the word

⁴ Some authors write mehre, others mehrere. The latter is more usual, the former more correct.

⁵ The terminations of the definite article are called characteristic, because they characterize the case, number, and gender.

⁶ Except in the genitive singular masculine and neuter, in which preceding has not the characteristic termination, as: ein, mein, fein, &c. in the nominative of the masculine, and nominative and accusative of the neuter gender.

This principle is clearly exemplified in the adjective preceded by the indefinite article. The nominative ein, not having the characteristic termination er for the masculine and es for the neuter, the adjective takes it. Ex. Ein guter Mann, ein gutes Kind.

The characteristic termination of the masculine being er, and that of the neuter es, that of the feminine is e: so that it is sufficient to join the ending e to a word of the characteristic termination to make it feminine. Ex. Masc. and neuter: dieser, dieses; feminine, diese; masc. and neuter: jener, jenes; feminine, jene.

These principles being once well understood, the learner will find no difficulty whatever in declining adjectives, ordinal numbers, or pronominal adjectives.

Have you my pen?

No, Madam, I have it not.

Haben Sie meine Feder?

Nein, Madam (gnädige Frau?), ich habe sie nicht.

Which bottle have you broken?

Welche Flasche haben Sie zerbrochen?

Which soup has she eaten?

Welche Suppe hat sie gegessen?

What pear have you?

Was für eine Birne haben Sie?

What linen have you bought?

Was für Leinwand haben Sie gekauft?

Do you see my sister?

Sehen Sie meine Schwester?

I do see her.

Ich sehe sie.

Have you seen my sisters?

Haben Sie meine Schwestern gesehen?

No, my lady, I have not seen them.

Nein, mein Fräulein, ich habe sie nicht gesehen.

The nose,

die Butter;
die Suppe;
das Handtuch;
das Tischtuch, die Serviette.

it takes en, and in the nominative and accusative singular of the neuter, in which it changes as into es. (Lesson XX. No. 1.)

7 If speaking to a lady of rank, gnädige Frau, gracious lady, must be used.

EXERCISES. 183.

Are you not surprised at what my friend has done?—I am much surprised at it.—At what is your son surprised?—He is surprised at your courage.—Are you sorry for having written to my uncle?—I am, on the contrary, glad of it.—At what art thou afflicted?—I am not afflicted at the happiness of my enemy, but at the death of my friend.—How are your brothers?—They have been very well for these few days.—Are you glad of it?—I am glad to hear that they are well.—Are you a Saxon?—No, I am a Prussian.—Do the Prussians like to learn French?—They do like to learn it.—Do the Prussians speak German as well as the Saxons?—The Saxons and the Prussians speak German well: but the Austrians do not pronounce it very well (nicht allzu gut); notwithstanding they are (dessen ungeachtet sind es) very good people.—Which day of the week (welchen Tag in der Woche) do the Turks celebrate (feiern)?—They celebrate Friday (den Freitag); but the Christians celebrate Sunday, the Jews Saturday, and the negroes their birth-day (der Geburtstag).

184.

Has your sister my gold ribbon?—She has it not.—What has she?—She has nothing.—Has your mother anything?—She has a fine gold fork.—Who has my large bottle?—Your sister has it.—Do you sometimes see your mother?—I see her often.—When did you see your sister?—I saw her three months and a half (Obs. C. Lesson LXVII.) ago.—Who has my fine nuts?—Your good sister has them.—Has she also my silver forks?—She has them not.—Who has them?—Your mother has them.—Have your sisters had my pens?—They have not had them, but I believe that their children have had them.—Why does your brother complain?—He complains because his right hand aches.—Why do you complain?—I complain, because my left hand aches.—Is your sister as old as my mother?—She is not so old, but she is taller.—Has your brother purchased anything?—He has purchased something.—What has he bought?—He has bought fine linen and good pens.—Has he not bought some silk stockings?—He has bought some.—Is your sister writing?—No, Madam, she is not writing.—Why does she not write?—Because she has a sore hand.—Why does the daughter of your neighbour not go out?—She does not go out, because she has sore feet.—Why does my sister not speak?—Because she has a sore mouth.—Hast thou not seen my silver pen?—I have not seen it.—Hast thou a front room?—I have one behind, but my brother has one in the front.—Does the wife of our shoemaker go out already?—No, my lady, she does not go out yet, for she is still very ill.

Which bottle has your little sister broken?—She broke the one which my mother bought yesterday.—Have you eaten of my soup or of my mother's?—I have eaten neither of yours nor your mother's, but of that of my good sister.—Have you seen the woman that was with (bei) me this morning?—I have not seen her.—Has your mother hurt herself?—She has not hurt herself.—Have you a sore nose?—I have not a sore nose, but a sore hand.—Have you cut your finger?—No, my lady, I have cut my hand.—Will you give me a pen?—I will give you one.—Will you (have) this (one) or that (one)?—I will (have) neither.—Which (one) do you wish to have?—I wish to have that which your sister has.—Do you wish to have my mother's good black silk or my sister's?—I wish to have neither your mother's nor your sister's, but that which you have.—Can you write with this pen?—I can write with it. (Obs. B. Lesson LIV.)—Each woman thinks herself amiable (liebenswürdig), and each is conceited (besitzt Eigenliebe).—The same (ebenso) as men (die Männer), my dear friend.—Many a one thinks himself learned who is not so, and many men surpass (übertreffen*) women in vanity (an Eitelkeit). the neighbour (feminine),	die Nachbarin;
the ware (merchandise, goods),	die Waare.

Obs. A. A feminine substantive is formed by joining the syllable in to a masculine substantive. Ex.

The actor,	der Schauspieler;
the actress,	die Schauspielerin.

Obs. B. If the radical syllable of the masculine substantive contains one of the vowels a, o, u, it is generally softened on being made feminine by the addition of the syllable in. Ex.

The countess,	die Gräfin;
the fool (fem.),	die Narrin;
the cook (fem.),	die Köchin;
the peasant (peasant's wife),	die Bäuerin;
the sister-in-law,	die Schwägerin.

the solitude,	die Einsamkeit;
the lesson,	die Lektion;
the exercise,	die Aufgabe;
the goodness,	die Güte 3.

I have done it for your sake. Ich habe es Ihetwegen gethan.

Obs. The preposition wegen takes its place either before or after the genitive which it governs; but when it follows a personal pronoun, the letter t is substituted for the letter r of the pronoun which then forms one word with the preposition. The same thing should be observed with regard to the prepositions halben, on account of, and um—willen, for the sake of, with this difference, that they never stand before the case. Ex.

Meinetwegen, meinethalben, on account of me.	Unserwegen, unserthalben, on account of us.
Deinetwegen, deinethalben, on account of thee.	Eurewegen, eurethalben, on account of you.
Seinetwegen, seinethalben, on account of him.	Ihetwegen, ihrethalben, on account of them, for their sake.
Ihetwegen, ihrethalben, on account of her.

2 Substantives terminating in um, form their plural by changing um into en. Ex. das Individuum, the individual; plur. die Individuen; das Studium, the study; plur. die Studien.

3 Abstract substantives have generally no plural in German, as die Güte, the goodness; die Liebe, the love, &c. (See note 1, page 2, Method, Part II.)

In the same way we say: um meinethwillen, for my sake; um deinetwillen, for thy sake, &c.

He has done it for the sake of Er hat es um ihretwillen gethan. her.

On account of you and your children, as well as on account of me and mine, I have put you in mind of and inculcated this important and infallible truth. Nicht allein — sondern auch.

EXERCISES. 189.

Will you dine with us to-day?—With much pleasure.—What have you for dinner?—We have good soup, some fresh and salt meat, and some milk-food.—Do you like milk-food?—I like it better than all other food.—Are you ready to dine?—I am ready.—Do you intend to set out soon?—I intend setting out next week.—Do you travel alone?—No, Madam, I travel with my uncle.—Do you travel on foot or in a carriage?—We travel in a carriage.—Did you meet any one in (auf with the dative) your last journey to Berlin?—We met many wanderers.—What do you intend to spend your time in this summer?—I intend to take a short journey.—Did you walk much in your last journey?—I like much to walk, but my uncle likes to go in a carriage.—Did he not wish to walk?—He wished to walk at first, but after having taken a few steps, he wished to get into the carriage, so that I did not walk much.—What have you been doing at school to-day?—We have been listening to our professor, who made a long speech on (über with the accus.) the goodness of God.—What did he say?—After saying “God is the Creator of heaven and earth; the fear of the Lord is the commencement of all wisdom”; he said, “Repetition is the mother of studies, and a good memory is a great benefit of God.”.—Why did you not stay longer in Holland?—When I was there the living was dear, and I had not money enough to stay there longer.—What sort of weather was it when you were on the way to Vienna?—It was very bad weather; for it was stormy, and snowed, and rained very heavily⁴.

What are you doing all the day in this garden?—I am walking in it (darin).—What is there in it that attracts you?—The singing of the birds attracts me.—Are there any nightingales in it?—There are some in it, and the harmony of their singing enchants me.—Have those nightingales more power over (über with the accus.) you than the beauties of painting, or the voice of your tender (zärtlich) mother, who loves you so much?—I confess, the harmony of the singing of those little birds has more power over me than the most tender words of my dearest friends.—What does your niece amuse herself with in her solitude?—She reads a good deal and writes letters to her mother.—What does your uncle amuse himself with in his solitude?—He employs himself in painting and chymistry.—Does he no longer do any business?—He no longer does any, for he is too old to do it.—Why does he meddle with your business?—He does not generally (gewöhnlich) meddle with other people’s business; but he meddles with mine, because he loves me.—Has your master made you repeat your lesson to-day?—He has made me repeat it.—Did you know it?—I did know it pretty well.—Have you also done some exercises?—I have done some, but what is that to you, I beg?—I do not generally meddle with things that do not concern me; but I love you so much (so sehr) that I concern myself much (sehr) about what you are doing.—Does any one trouble his head about you?—No one troubles his head about me; for I am not worth the trouble.—Not only for the sake of cleanliness, but also for the sake of he health (die Gesundheit), prudent people avoid ⁴ The learner must here repeat all the expressions relative to the impersonal verb es ist, it is, in Lessons LVI. and LVIII.

(sich hüten vor with the dative) uncleanness, and wash themselves often. (See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

EIGHTY-THIRD LESSON.—Drei und achtzigste Section.

OF THE FUTURE.

The first or simple future is formed from the present of the auxiliary werden*, to become¹, and the infinitive of the verb, as in English from shall or will, and the infinitive. Ex.

I shall love, he (she) will love. Ich werde lieben, er (sie) wird lieben.

Thou wilt love, you will love. Du wirst lieben, Ihr werdet (Sie werden) lieben.

Whe shall love, they will love. Wir werden lieben, sie werden lieben.

I shall be loved.

Ich werde geliebt werden.

Will you love my mother?

Werden Sie meine Mutter lieben?

I shall love her much.

Ich werde sie sehr lieben.

I shall never love her.

Ich werde sie nie lieben.

I shall love her when she loves me.

Ich werde sie lieben, wenn sie mich lieben wird. (See Lesson LXIX.)

Will you go out to-day?

Werden Sie heute ausgehen?

To be dusty.

Staubig seyn*, stauben.

Is it dusty?

Ist es staubig?

It is dusty.

Es ist staubig.

It is very dusty.

Es ist sehr staubig.

Is it muddy out of doors?

Ist es schmutzig draußen?

It is very muddy.

Es ist sehr schmutzig.

To be smoky, to smoke.

Rauchen.

Is it smoky? Does it smoke?

Raucht es?

It is very smoky. It smokes much.

Es raucht sehr.

It is too smoky. It smokes too much.

Es raucht zu sehr.

¹ The verb werden*, when employed in the formation of the future and other tenses, loses its proper signification.

To go in.	Hinein gehen*.
To come in.	Herein kommen*.
Will you go in?	Werden Sie hinein gehen?
To sit down.	Sich setzen.
To sit.	Sitzen* (verb neuter). Part. past, gesessen. Imperf. saß.
I will sit down on that chair.	Ich will mich auf diesen Stuhl setzen ² .
Where did he sit?	Wo saß er?
He sat upon that chair?	Er saß auf diesem Stuhle.
To have left.	Uebrig bleiben*. Imperfect blieb.
How much money have you left?	Wie viel Geld bleibt Ihnen übrig?
I have a crown left.	Es bleibt mir ein Thaler übrig.
I have only three crowns left.	Es bleiben mir nur drei Thaler übrig.
If I pay him I shall have but little left.	Wenn ich ihn bezahle, wird mir nur wenig übrig bleiben (or so wird mir nur wenig übrig bleiben.)

 A. The subject is placed after the verb in an inversion of propositions; that is, when that which ought to stand first is put after, and forms, as it were, the complement of the other. An inversion of propositions takes place when the first proposition begins with a conjunction. Ex.

If he comes, I shall speak to him (inversion).	Wenn er kommt, werde ich mit ihm sprechen.
I shall speak to him, if he comes (without inversion).	Ich werde mit ihm sprechen, wenn er kommt.
If it is fine weather to-morrow, I shall take a walk (inversion).	Wenn es morgen schönes Wetter ist, werde ich spazieren gehen.
I shall take a walk, if it is fine weather to-morrow (without inversion.)	Ich werde spazieren gehen, wenn es morgen schönes Wetter ist.

 B. The subject is also placed after its verb, when in an inversion of propositions the conjunction wenn, if, is omitted in the first. This omission of the ² Whenever a will or intention, and not merely futurity, is to be expressed, the verb *wollen is used.

conjunction may take place or not; but when it does, the second proposition begins with the conjunction so, then (so).

Then (so).

So.

If I receive my money, I shall pay you.	{	Bekomme ich mein Geld (instead of: wenn ich mein Geld bekomme), so bezahle ich Sie.
If he speaks to me, I shall answer him.		Spricht er zu mir (for: wenn er zu mir spricht), so werde ich ihm antworten.

Obs. When the conjunction wenn is not omitted, the conjunction so of the second proposition may either be omitted or not, unless the proposition is of a certain length.

If you will promise me to keep it secret, I shall tell it you.	Wenn Sie mir versprechen wollen, es geheim zu halten, so werde ich es Ihnen sagen.
I have spent all my money, so that I have none left.	Ich habe all mein Geld ausgegeben, so daß mir keins mehr übrig bleibt.

To fill.

Füllen (anfüllen).

To fill a bottle with wine.	Eine Flasche mit Wein anfüllen.
I fill my purse with money.	Ich fülle meinen Bbeutel (meine Börse) mit Geld.
With what do you fill that glass?	Womit füllen Sie dieses Glas?

EXERCISE 191.

Will your father go out to-day?—He will go out, if it is fine weather.—Will your sister go out?—She will go out, if it is not windy.—Will you love my brother?—I shall love him with all my heart, if he is as good as you.—Will your parents go into the country to-morrow?—They will not go, for it is too dusty.—Shall we take a walk to-day?—We will not take a walk, for it is too muddy out of doors.—Do you see the castle of my relation behind yonder mountain?—I do see it.—Shall we go in?—We will go in, if you like.—Will you go into that room?—I shall not go into it, for it is smoky.—I wish you a good morning, Madam.—Will you not come in?—Will you not sit down?—I will sit down upon that large chair.—Will you tell me what has become of your brother?—I will tell you. Here is the chair upon which he sat often.—When did he die?—He died two years ago.—I am very much (sehr) afflicted at it.—Hast thou spent all thy money?—I have not spent all.—How much hast thou left of it?—I have not much left of it; I have but one florin left.—How much money have thy sisters left?—They have but three crowns left.—Have you money enough left to pay your tailor?—I have enough of it left to pay him; but if I pay him, I shall have but little left.—How much money will your brothers have left?—They will still have a hundred crowns left.—Will you speak to my uncle if you see him?—If I see him, I shall speak to him.—Will you take a walk to-morrow?—If it is fine weather I shall take a walk, but if it is bad weather I shall stay at home.—Will you pay your shoemaker?—I shall pay him, if I receive my money to-morrow.—Why do you wish to go?—If your father comes I shall not go; but if he does not come, I must go.—Why do you not sit down?—If you will stay with (bei) me, I will sit down; but if you go, I shall go along with you.—Will you love my children?—If they are good and assiduous, I shall love them; but if they are idle and naughty, I shall despise and punish them.—Am I right in speaking thus (so)?—You are not wrong. (See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

EIGHTY-FOURTH LESSON.—Vier und achtzigste Section.

OF THE PAST OR COMPOUND INFINITIVE.

In German, as in English, the past infinitive is formed from the infinitive of the auxiliary and the past participle of the verb; but in English the past participle stands after the infinitive, whereas in German it precedes it. Ex.

Have loved, to have loved.
In order to have loved.

Geliebt haben, geliebt zu haben.
Um geliebt zu haben.

Without having loved.
Have been loved.
To have been loved.

Ohne geliebt zu haben.
Geliebt worden seyn.
Geliebt worden zu seyn.

OF THE PAST FUTURE.

The past or compound future is formed, as the first or simple future (preceding Lesson), from the present of the auxiliary werden*, and the past infinitive. Ex.

I shall have loved, he (she) will have loved.	Ich werde geliebt haben, er (sie) wird geliebt haben.
Thou wilt have loved, you will have loved.	Du wirst geliebt haben, Ihr werdet (Sie werden) geliebt haben.
We shall have loved, they will have loved.	Wir werden geliebt haben, sie werden geliebt haben.
I shall have been loved.	Ich werde geliebt worden seyn.

I shall have written my letters before you return.	Ich werde meine Briefe geschrieben haben, ehe Sie zurückkommen.
--	---

When I have paid for the horse I shall have only ten crowns left.	Wenn ich das Pferd bezahlt haben werde (or werde bezahlt haben), werden mir nur noch zehn Thaler übrig bleiben.
---	---

 A. When at the end of a proposition there are two infinitives, two past participles, or an infinitive and a past participle, the verb which on account of the conjunction ought to be thrown to the end of the phrase, may be placed either before or after those infinitives or participles. Ex.

What will you do when you have dined?	Was werden Sie thun, wenn Sie zu Mittag gegessen haben werden, or werden zu Mittag gegessen haben?
When I have spoken to your brother I shall know what I have to do.	Wenn ich Ihren Bruder gesprochen haben werde, or werde gesprochen haben, so werde ich wissen, was ich zu thun habe.

 B. The latter way of placing the verb is the most elegant and most usual. Ex.

I have told him that you have been obliged to sell the horse. } Ich habe ihm gesagt, daß Sie das Pferd haben verkaufen müssen (and not verkaufen gemußt or müssen haben).

The same (feminine). Dieselbe, die nämliche. (See Lessons XIV. and XVI.)

The same thing. } Dieselbe (die nämliche) Sache.
Dasſelbe (das nämliche) Ding.

One and the same. Einerlei.

It is all one (the same). Es iſt einerlei.

Such.

Masc. Fem. Neut.
Solcher, solche, solches
(is declined according to the characteristic termination).

Obs. A. When ſolch is preceded by ein or ſein, it has the declension of an adjective. Ex.

Such a man, such a woman, Ein ſolcher Mann, eine ſolche Frau, such a child. ein ſolches Kind.
Such men merit esteem. Solche Menſchen verdienen Achtung.

Obs. B. When ſolch is followed by ein it is not declined. Ex.

Such a man, such a woman, Solch ein Mann, ſolch eine Frau, such a happiness. ſolch ein Glück.

On the outside of, without, out of. Außerhalb (a preposition governing the genitive).

The church stands outside the town. Die Kirche iſt außerhalb der Stadt.

I shall wait for you before the town gate. Ich werde Sie vor dem Thore (Stadtthore) erwarten.

The town or city gate, } das Stadtthor. das Thor der Stadt.

To go out.

Hinausgehen*.

To come out.

Herauskommen*.

Seldom (rarely).

Selten.

Does he sit under the tree?

Sißt er unter dem Baume?

He is sitting under it. Er sitzt darunter. (Obs. B. Lesson LIV.)

To continue (to proceed). { Fortfahren*.
Fortsetzen¹.

He continues his speech. † Er fährt in seiner Rede fort.

The appetite, { der Appetit,
the narrative, the tale, { die G'flust, die Lust zum Essen;
the shore (the coast, the bank), { die Erzählung;
the sea-shore, das Ufer;
on the sea-shore, das Ufer des Meeres, die Küste.
am Ufer des Meeres.

Not until (not before). Nicht eher — bis.
Before. Ehe, eher als, bevor.

I shall not see him until I go thither. Ich werde ihn nicht sehen, ehe (bevor) ich hingehe.

Did you see him before his departure? Haben Sie ihn vor seiner Abreise gesehen?

I do not do it until you tell it me. Ich thue es nicht, bis Sie es mir sagen.

There is, there are. Da ist, Plural da sind.

Here is, here are. Hier ist, — hier sind.

Here I am. Hier bin ich.

There is my book. Da ist mein Buch.

There it is. Da ist es.

There they are. Da sind sie.

Therefore. Deswegen, daher.

That is the reason why. Das ist die Ursache, warum.

Therefore I say so. Deswegen sage ich es.

My sister's feet are cold. Meine Schwester friert an den Füßen.

Her hands are cold. Sie friert an den Händen (es ist ihr an den Händen kalt).

EXERCISES. 192.

When will you go to Italy?—I shall go as soon as I have learnt Italian.—When will your brothers go to Germany?—They will go thither as soon as they know German.—

¹ Fortsetzen is a regular verb active, and governs the accusative; fortfahren*, on the contrary, is neuter and irregular, and governs the dative with the preposition in or mit.

When will they learn it?—They will learn it when they have found a good master.—How much money shall we have left when we have paid for our horses?—When we have paid for them, we shall have only a hundred crowns left.—Have you told my brother that I have been obliged to sell the carriage?—I have told him so.—Have you written to the same man to whom my father wrote?—I have not written to the same, but to another.—Have they already answered you?—Not yet, but I hope to receive a letter next week.—Have you ever seen such a person?—I have never seen such a one.—Have you already seen our church?—I have not seen it yet.—Where does it stand?—It stands outside the town.—If you wish to see it, I will go with you in order to show it to you.—Who is there?—It is I.—Who are those men?—They are foreigners who wish to speak to you.—Of what country are they?—They are Americans.—Where have you been since I saw you?—We sojourned long on the sea-shore, until a ship arrived, which brought us to France.—Will you continue your narrative?—Scarcely had we arrived in France when we were taken to the king, who received (aufnahm) us very well, and sent us back to our country.—Whom are you looking for?—I am looking for my little brother.—If you wish to find him, you must go into the garden, for he is there.—The garden is large, and I shall not be able to find him, if you do not tell me in which part (der Theil) of the garden he is.—He is sitting under the large tree under which we were sitting yesterday.—Now I shall find him.

Why do your children not live in France?—They wish to learn English, that is the reason why they live in England.—Why do you sit near the fire?—My hands and feet are cold, that is the reason why I sit near the fire.—What do the people live upon that live on the sea-shore?—They live upon fish alone.—Why will you not go a hunting any more?—I hunted yesterday the whole day, and I killed nothing but an ugly bird, that is the reason why I shall not go any more a hunting.—Why do you not eat?—I shall not eat before I have a good appetite.—Why does your brother eat so much?—He has a good appetite, that is the reason he eats so much.—If you have read the books which I lent you, why do you not return them to me?—I intend reading them once more, that is the reason why I have not yet returned them to you; but I shall return them to you as soon as I have read them a (zum) second time.—Why did you not bring me my clothes?—They were not made, therefore I did not bring them; but I bring them you now, here they are.—You have learnt your lesson; why has your sister not learnt hers?—She has taken a walk with my mother, that is the reason why she has not learnt it; but she will learn it to-morrow.—When will you correct my exercises?—I will correct them when you bring me those of our sister.—Do you think (glauben) you have made faults in them?—I do not know.—If you have made faults, you have not studied your lessons well; for the lessons must be learnt well, to make no faults in the exercises.—It is all the same, if you do not correct them (for) me to-day, I shall not learn them before (so werde ich sie erst) to-morrow.—You must make no faults in your exercises, for you have all you want, in order to make none. (See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

EIGHTY-FIFTH LESSON. — Fünf und achtzigste Section.

To die of a disease.

An einer (dative) Krankheit sterben*.

The small-pox,

Die Blattern (plural of die Blatter, the blister, the pustule, the pock).

She died of the small-pox.
The fever, the intermitting fever,
He had a cold fit.
He has an ague.
His fever has returned.

Sie ist an den Blattern gestorben.
das Fieber, das Wechselfieber.
Er hatte einen Anfall von Fieber.
Er hat das Fieber bekommen.
Er hat das Fieber wieder bekommen.

The apoplexy,

der Schlag, der Schlagfluß.

He has been struck with apoplexy.

Der Schlag hat ihn gerührt.
Er ist vom Schlage gerührt worden.

To sell well.	{ Guten Abgang haben *. Gut abgehen *. Viel Käufer finden *.
Wine sells well.	+ Der Wein geht gut ab (hat guten Abgang).
Cloth sells well.	+ Das Tuch hat guten Abgang (findet viel Käufer).
Wine will sell well next year.	+ Der Wein wird nächstes Jahr guten Abgang haben.
To open.	Deffnen, aufmachen, aufschließen ^{*1} .
To shut,	{ Zumachen, zuschließen ^{2*} (active verbs). Zugehen*, zuschließen*. Part. past, geschlossen. Imperf. schloß.
To open.	Aufgehen* (a neuter verb), sich öffnen.
That door opens easily.	Diese Thür geht leicht auf (ist leicht zu öffnen).
The door does not shut.	Die Thür schließt nicht.
The window shuts well.	Das Fenster schließt gut.
Far of, from afar.	Von weitem, von ferne.
That house is seen far off.	Man sieht dieses Haus von weitem (von ferne).
Summer clothes are not worn in winter.	{ Sommerkleider trägt man nicht im Winter. Sommerkleider werden nicht im Winter getragen.
That is not said.	Das wird nicht gesagt.
That cannot be comprehended.	Das ist unbegreiflich.
It is clear.	Es ist deutlich.

¹ Deffnen and aufmachen mean to remove the obstacle in order to give access, as: die Thore, die Thür eines Zimmers, einen Schrank, einen Brief öffnen or aufmachen, to open the town-gates, the door of a room, a cupboard, a letter. Deffnen is only employed to make an opening in the thing itself, as: einen Leichnam, eine Ader, ein Geschwür öffnen, to open a corpse, a vein, an abscess, because there is no opening yet. So we say die Laufgräben öffnen, to open the trenches. Aufschließen is only employed in speaking of things that are shut with a key or a padlock.

² The same distinction is to be made between zumachen and zuschließen*, as between aufmachen and aufschließen*.

To conceive, to comprehend.	Begreifen *. Part. past, begriffen. Imperf. begriff.
According to circumstances.	{ Nach den Umständen. } Nach Beschaffenheit der Umstände. die Beschaffenheit; der Umstand.
The disposition, the circumstance,
According as.	Nachdem, je nachdem, in so fern.
That is according to.	{ Nachdem es ist (nachdem es kommt).
It depends.	{ Nachdem die Umstände sind.
Do not put the glass upon the table, for it will break.	Stellen Sie das Glas nicht auf den Tisch; denn es wird zer- brechen. Imperf. zerbrach.
To put.	Stellen.
To lay.	Legen.
To set, to seat.	Setzen.
To stick.	Stecken 3.
Are the women handsome?	Sind die Frauen schön?
They are so; they are rich and handsome.	Sie sind es; sie sind reich und schön.
What countrywoman is she?	{ Woher ist sie? } Wo ist sie her?
She is from France.	Sie ist aus (or von) Frankreich.

3 Stellen is used when the person or thing spoken of is, as it were, standing upright, and legen when it is lying. Ex. Die Gläser, die Flasche auf den Tisch stellen, to put the glasses, the bottle on the table: ein Kind auf das Bett legen, to place a child upon the bed; ein Kleid auf das Bett legen, to put a coat upon the bed; wo haben Sie meinen Stock hingestellt? where have you placed my stick? wo haben Sie mein Messer hingelegt? where have you put my knife? The verbs stehen* and liegen* may be explained by the English verbs, to stand and to lie. Ex. Ihr Stock steht in meinem Zimmer, your stick is (stands) in my room; Ihr Bruder steht am Fenster, your brother stands at the window; Ihr Messer liegt auf dem Tische, your knife is (lies) upon the table; hier steht Ihr Stock und da liegt Ihr Messer, here stands your stick, and there lies your knife. Setzen nearly answers to the English verb to seat, as: setzen Sie sich hierher, seat yourself here. It is also used in the following idiom: Jemanden in den Stand setzen, to enable some one, as: ich habe ihn in den Stand gesetzt, es zu thun, I have enabled him to do it. Stecken, as an active verb, is used with the preposition in followed by the accusative. Ex. In die Tasche stecken, to put into the pocket. We shall hereafter see various other examples of these verbs.

To be angry at somebody (about anything). Böse auf Jemanden (über Etwas) seyn.

What are you angry about? Worüber sind Sie böse?

Are you sorry for having done it? Thut es Ihnen leid, es gethan zu haben?

I am sorry for it. { Es thut mir leid.
Es ist mir nicht lieb. (See Lesson LXXIX.)

Polite (courteous); impolite (uncivil). Höflich; unhöflich.

Happy; unhappy. Glücklich; unglücklich.

What sort of pen have you lost? Was für eine Feder haben Sie verloren?

A gold one. Eine goldene.

What sort of pens has your sister made? Was für Federn hat Ihre Schwester geschnitten?

Good ones. Gute.

EXERCISE 194.

Of what illness did your sister die?—She died of the fever.—How is your brother?—My brother is no longer living. He died three months ago.—I am surprised at it, for he was very well last summer when I was in the country.—Of what did he die?—He died of apoplexy.—How is the mother of your friend?—She is not well; she had an attack of ague the day before yesterday, and this morning the fever has returned (und diesen Morgen wieder).—Has she the intermitting fever?—I do not know, but she often has cold fits.—What has become of the woman whom I saw at your mother's?—She died this morning of apoplexy.—Did the wine sell well last year?—it did not sell very well; but it will sell better next year, for there will be a great deal of it, and it will not be dear.—Why do you open the door?—Do you not see how it smokes here?—I do see it; but you must open the window instead of opening the door.—The window does not open easily, that is the reason why I open the door.—When will you shut it?—I will shut it as soon as there is no more smoke.—Why do you not put those beautiful glasses on the small table?—If I put them upon that little table, they will break.—Did you often go a fishing when you were in that contry?—We often went a fishing and a hunting.—If you will go with us into the country, you will see the castle of my father.—You are very polite, Sir; but I have seen that castle already. (See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

EIGHTY-SIXTH LESSON.—Sechs und achtzigste Section.

The utility, the use, the advantage, This thing is of no use. To profit by a thing. To turn a thing to profit. To be useful to any one. Of what use is that? That is of no use. Useful. Useless. Is it useful to write a great deal? It is useful.	der Nutzen; der Vortheil. Diese Sache ist von keinem Nutzen. Nutzen aus einer Sache ziehen*. Sich eine Sache zu Nutzen machen. Jemandem nutzen (or nützen). Wozu nützt das? Das nützt Nichts. Nützlich. Unnütz, nutzlos. Ist es nützlich, viel zu schreiben? Es ist nützlich.
Is it well (right) to do it? It is not well (wrong).	Ist es billig, es zu thun? Es ist unbillig (unrecht).
What is that? I do not know what it is.	Was ist das? Ich weiß nicht, was es ist.
To be called.	Heißen*. Part. past, geheißen. Imperf. hieß.
What is your name? My name is Charles.	+ Wie heißen Sie? + Ich heiße (mein Name ist) Carl.
What do you call this in German? How do you express (say) this in French? What is that called? To name.	Wie heißt das auf deutsch? Wie sagen Sie das auf französisch? Wie nennt man das? Nennen*. Part. past, genannt. Imperf. nannte.

DECLENSION OF THE NAMES OF PERSONS 1.

The names of persons are declined either without or with the article. Without the article they take s in the genitive, and en in the dative and accusative; with the article they add nothing to their termination. Ex.

NOM.	Wilhelm	or der	Wilhelm,	William.
GEN.	Wilhelms	— des	Wilhelm,	of William.
DAT.	Wilhelmen	— dem	Wilhelm,	to William.
ACC.	Wilhelmen	— den	Wilhelm,	William.

NOM.	Elisabeth	or die	Elisabeth,	Elizabeth.
GEN.	Elisabeths	— der	Elisabeth,	of Elizabeth.
DAT.	Elisabethen	— der	Elisabeth,	to Elizabeth.
ACC.	Elisabethen	— die	Elisabeth,	Elizabeth.

Obs. A. Names of persons terminating in sch, s, st, ß, g, z, take ens in the genitive. Ex. Franz, Francis; gen. Franzens. Names of females in a or e (the common endings for almost all such names) change in the genitive a or e into ens. Ex. Wilhelmina, Wilhelmine; gen. Wilhelminens, of Wilhelmine. Leonore, Eleanor; Leonorens, of Eleanor.

Obs. B. To indicate that the ending of the genitive is not a part of the name, it is commonly separated by an apostrophe as in English. Ex. Schiller's Gedichte, Schiller's poems; Goethe's Werke, Goethe's works.

Sooner—than.	Eher—als.
Rather—than.	Lieber—als.
He has arrived sooner than I.	Er ist eher angekommen als ich.
Rather than squander my money	Lieber werfe ich mein Geld in den
I would throw it into the river.	Fluß, ehe ich es verschwende.
	Ehe ich mein Geld verschwende, werfe ich es lieber in den Fluß.
I will rather pay him than go	Sch will ihn lieber bezahlen, als thither.	hingehen.
I will rather burn the coat than	Sch will den Rock lieber verbrenwear it.	nen, als ihn tragen.

Geläufig.

Karl der Fünfte sprach geläufig mehrere europäische Sprachen.

So Etwas.

Haben Sie je so Etwas gesehen?
Haben Sie je so Etwas gehört?

Ich habe nie so Etwas gesehen, noch gehört.

EXERCISES. 195.

When did you see my father's castle?—I saw it when I was travelling last year. It is one of the finest castles that I have ever seen; it is seen far off.—How is that said?—That is not said. That cannot be comprehended.—Cannot every thing be expressed in your language?—Every thing can be expressed, but not as in yours.—Will you rise early to-morrow?—It will depend upon circumstances; if I go to bed early I shall rise early, but if I go to bed late, I shall rise late.—Will you love my children?—If they are good, I shall love them.—Will you dine with us to-morrow?—If you get ready (zufertigen lassen) the food I like, I shall dine with you.—Have you already read the letter which you received this morning?—I have not opened it yet.—When will you read it?—I shall read it as soon as I have time.—Of what use is that?—It is of no use.—Why have you picked it up?—I have picked it up, in order to show it to you.—Can you tell me what it is?—I cannot tell you, for I do not know; but I shall ask my brother who will tell you.—Where have you found it?—I have found it on the shore of the river, near the wood.—Did you perceive it from afar?—I did not want to perceive it from afar, for I passed by the side of the river.—Have you ever seen such a thing?—Never.—Is it useful to speak much?—If one wishes to learn a foreign language it is useful to speak a great deal.—Is it as useful to write as to speak?—It is more useful to speak than to write; but in order to learn a foreign language, one must do both (beides).—Is it useful to write all that one says?—That is useless.

Where did you take this book from?—I took it out of the room of your friend (fem.).—Is it right to take the books of other people?—It is not right, I know; but I wanted it, and I hope that your friend will not be displeased; for I will return it to her as soon as I have read it.—What is your name?—My name is William.—What is your sister's name?—Her name is Eleanor.—Why does Charles complain of his sister?—Because she has taken his pens.—Of whom do those children complain?—Francis complains of Eleanor, and Eleanor of Francis.—Who is right?—They are both wrong; for Eleanor wishes to take Francis's books, and Francis Eleanor's.—To whom have you lent Schiller's works?—I have lent the first volume to William, and the second to Elizabeth.—How is that said in French?—That is not said in French.—How is that said in German?—It is said thus.—Has the tailor already brought you your new coat?—He has brought it me, but it does not fit me well.—Will he make you another?—He must make me another; for rather than wear it I will give it away.—Will you use that horse?—I shall not use it.—Why will you not use it?—Because it does not suit me.—Will you pay for it?—I will rather pay for it than use it.—To whom do those fine books belong?—They belong to William.—Who has given them to him?—His good father.—Will he read them?—He will tear them rather than read them.—Are you sure that he will not read them?—I am sure of it, for he has told me so. (See end of Lesson XXXVI.) was er thut.

Dieser Mann will mir mit aller
Gewalt sein Geld leihen.

Obs. A. The neuter of the demonstrative pronoun dieses (das) may in the singular relate to substantives of any gender or number, and even to a whole proposition.

Is that the lady whom you spoke of to me?	Ist das die Dame, von der Sie mit mir gesprochen haben?
That is a bad man.	Das ist ein böser Mann.
Which are the pens with which you write so well?	Welches sind die Federn, mit denen Sie so gut schreiben?

Obs. B. The neuter of the interrogative pronoun, welches, which, may equally relate to substantives of any gender or number.

Which is the best pronunciation?	Welches ist die beste Aussprache?
What a beautiful book!	Welch ein schönes Buch!

Obs. C. Welch, when it expresses admiration, may be followed by the indefinite article. It remains then invariable.

What a great man!	Welch ein großer Mann!
What fine weather!	Welches schöne Wetter!
What good people they are!	Welche gute Leute sind das!
What a happiness!	} Welch ein Glück, or welches Glück!
How fortunate!
How lucky!

Perhaps.	Vielleicht.
I shall perhaps go thither.	Ich werde vielleicht hin gehen.

Obs. D. How before an exclamation is translated by wie, wie viel, welch. Ex.

How good you are!	Wie gut sind Sie!
How foolish he is!	Wie dumm ist er!
How foolish she is!	Wie dumm ist sie!

How much I owe you!	Wie viel ich Ihnen nicht schuldig bin!

How much I am obliged to you! Wie sehr bin ich Ihnen nicht verbunden!

How many obligations I am under to you. Was ich Ihnen nicht verdanke!
Wie viel ich Ihnen nicht zu verdanken habe!

How many (what a multitude of) people! Welche Menschenmenge! Welch eine Menge Volks!

The multitude, the great number, die Menge.

To be under obligations, to be obliged to some one for something. Jemandem für Etwas verbunden seyn*.

To be indebted to some one for something. Jemanden Etwas verdanken or zu verdanken haben*.

To owe something to some one. Das habe ich ihm zu verdanken.

I am indebted to him for it.

To thank. Danken (governs the dative).

To thank some one for something. Jemandem für Etwas danken.
I thank you for the trouble you have taken for me. Ich danke Ihnen für die Mühe, die Sie sich für mich gegeben haben.

Is there anything more grand? Was ist größer?
Is there anything more cruel? Was ist grausamer?
Is there anything more wicked? Was ist gottloser?
Can anything be more handsome? Kann Etwas schöner seyn?

To run up. Herbeilaufen*.

To hasten up. Herbeieilen.

To run to the assistance of some one. Jemandem zu Hilfe eilen.

To save, to deliver. Retten.

To hasten. Eilen.

To plunder (to rob). Plündern.

Many men had run up; but instead of extinguishing the fire they set themselves to plundering. Viele Leute waren herbeigeeilt; allein anstatt das Feuer zu löschen, gingen die Elenden an zu plündern.

To begin something. Etwas anfangen*. Imperf. fing.

To set about something. Sich an Etwas (acc.) machen.

Have they been able to extinguish the fire? Hat man das Feuer löschen können?

Have they succeeded in extinguishing the fire? Ist es ihnen gelungen, das Feuer zu löschen?

The watch indicates the hours.	Die Uhr zeigt die Stunden an.

To scold some one.	Mit Jemandem zanken.
The quarrel,	der Zank, die Zänkerei.
To dispute, to contend about something.	Ueber Etwas streiten* (gestritten, stritt).
About what are those people disputing?	Worüber streiten diese Leute?
They are disputing about who shall go first.	Sie zanken sich, wer zuerst gehen soll.

OF THE PRESENT PARTICIPLE.

The present participle is formed from the infinitive, by adding the letter d. Ex. Lieben, to love; present part. liebend, loving; arbeiten, to work; present part. arbeitend.

The present participle in German is used in the attributive sense like an adjective. Ex. Ein sterbender Vater, a dying father; der lachende Frühling, the smiling spring; die nahende Stunde, the approaching hour; das zitternde Kind, the trembling child. But it cannot be used as a predicate. We cannot say with the English: the boy is reading¹. This must be expressed by the present tense, as: der Knabe liest².

1 In sublime style, principally in poetry, it may be used adverbially. Ex. Zitternd vor jedem Schatten, lebt der Furchtsame in ewiger Angst, trembling at each shade the fearful lives in constant anxiety. Ihm in die Rede einfallend, begann der edle Achilles, interrupting him, the noble Achilles began.

2 Several words, formed originally from verbs, have lost the nature of present participles, and are used as adjectives only, both in the attributive and predicate sense; they are: dringend, pressing; drückend, oppressive; einnehmend, captivating; fließend, fluent; hinreißend, overpowering; kränkend, mortifying; reizend, charming. Ex. Ihre Sitten sind sehr einnehmend, her manners are very captivating; die Noth ist dringend, the necessity is pressing; die Last ist drückend, the burden is oppressive; diese Beleidigung ist kränkend, this insult is mortifying; seine Rede ist fließend, his speech is fluent; sie ist reizend, she is charming.

In English the present participle is used to express cause, reason, condition, and time. But this is not the case in German. For in all such instances the present participle is translated by the following conjunctions with the verbs expressed by the English participles: als, when, as; nachdem, after; da, as; indem, as, whilst; weil, because. Ex.

Being lately at your brother's house I gave something to his children.	Als ich neulich bei Ihrem Bruder war, gab ich seinen Kindern Etwas.
Having eaten supper she went to bed.	Nachdem ³ sie zu Nacht gegessen hatte, ging sie zu Bette.
Having no money I cannot lend you any.	Da ich kein Geld habe, so kann ich Ihnen nichts leihen.
Knowing that you are my friend, I beg of you to do me that favour.	Da ich weiß, daß Sie mein Freund sind, so bitte ich Sie, mir diesen Gefallen zu thun.
In speaking one learns to speak, and in writing to write.	Indem man spricht, lernt man sprechen, und indem man schreibt, schreiben.
Being ill I cannot work.	Weil ich krank bin, kann ich nicht arbeiten.

Obs. E. These examples show that each of the conjunctions als, nachdem, da, indem, weil, has its peculiar signification, and that there is necessarily a difference in their application: 1st, als refers to a definite event of a past time; 2d, nachdem states that an action was finished when another action commenced; 3d, da implies a logical cause from which an inference is drawn; 4th, indem is used to state that an event is simultaneous with another event; 5th, weil expresses a real reason why a thing is or takes place.

Obs. F. The present participle may, in English, be converted into a substantive by a preceding article, as: the reading, the writing, the speaking. This cannot be done in German, where the infinitive must be employed, as: das Lesen, das Schreiben, das Sprechen. As an adjective, however, but not as an abstract substantive, the present participle may elliptically be turned into a substantive, as: der Lesende, one that reads; der Schreibende, one that writes; der Sprechende, one that speaks. Through too much reading one fatigues the eyes.

Durch zu vieles Lesen ermüdet man sich die Augen.

3 Nachdem can only be employed with the pluperfect of the indicative.

Obs. G. Sometimes the present participle is translated by a substantive preceded by a preposition. Ex.

I saw your brother whilst I was passing by.	Ich habe Ihren Bruder im Vorbeigehen gesehen.
He came with a book under his arm.	Er kam mit einem Buche unter dem Arme.
When I was in the country, I was very well.	Als ich auf dem Lande war, befand ich mich sehr wohl.
She smiled as she was saying this.	Sie lächelte, indem sie dieses sagte.

Obs. H. The English present participle is often rendered into German by a relative pronoun and the past tense of the verb. Ex.

A courtier being at a feast with an archbishop.	Ein vornehmer Herr, der sich mit einem Erzbischof bei einem Gastmahl befand.
A man, having a horse to sell.	Ein Mann, der ein Pferd zu verkaufen hatte.
To perform (to represent).	Vorstellen.
To entertain (to amuse).	Unterhalten *. Imperf. unterhielt.
To bargain (to deal).	Handeln.
To reply.	Erwidern.
To be struck with horror.	Von Grauen (Entsetzen) befallen werden *.
The horror,	das Grauen, das Entsetzen.
A violent head-ache.	Ein heftiges Kopfweh.

EXERCISES. 204.

Ah, it is all over with me!—But, bless me! (mein Gott!) why do you cry thus?—I have been (man hat mir) robbed of my gold rings, my best clothes, and all my money: that is the reason why I cry—Do not make so much noise, for it is we who have taken them all in order to teach you to take better care of your things (Sachen), and to shut the door of your room when you go out.—Why do you look so sad?—I have experienced great misfortunes; after having lost all my money I was beaten by bad-looking men; and to my still greater ill luck I hear that my good uncle, whom I love so much, has been struck with apoplexy.—You must not afflict yourself so much, for we must yield to necessity; and you know well the proverb: “It is too late to consult to-day about what was done yesterday.”—Can you not get rid of that man?—I cannot get rid of him, for he will absolutely (durchaus) follow me.—He must have lost his wits.—What does he ask you for?—He wishes to sell me a horse, which I do not want.—Whose houses are these?—They are mine.—Do those pens belong to you?—No, they belong to my sister.—Are those the pens with which she writes so well?—They are the same.—Which is the man of whom you complain?—It is he who wears a red coat.—“What is the difference (der Unterschied) between a watch and me?” inquired a lady (of) a young officer. “My lady,” replied he, “a watch marks the hours, and near (bei) you one forgets them.”—A Russian peasant, who had never seen asses, seeing several in Germany, said: “Lord (mein Gott), what large hares there are in this country!”—How many obligations I am under to you, my dear friend! you have saved my life! without you I had been (wäre ich) lost.—Have those miserable men hurt you?—They have beaten and robbed me; and when you ran to my assistance they were about to strip (*aussziehen) and kill me.—I am happy to have delivered you from (auss) the hands of those robbers.—How good you are!—Will you go to Mr. Tortenson’s to-night (diesen Abend)?—I shall perhaps go.—And will your sisters go?—They will perhaps.—Had you any pleasure yesterday at the concert?—I had no pleasure there, for there was such a multitude of people there that one could hardly get in.—I bring you a pretty present with which you will be much pleased.—What is it?—It is a silk cravat.—Where is it?—I have it in my pocket (die Tasche).—Does it please you?—It pleases me much, and I thank you for it with all my heart.—I hope that you will at last accept (*annehmen) something of (von) me.—What do you intend to give me?—I will not tell you yet, for if I do tell you, you will have no pleasure when I give it you.

Why do those men quarrel?—They quarrel, because they do not know what to do.—Have they succeeded in extinguishing the fire?—They have at last succeeded in it; but it is said that several houses have been burnt.—Have they not been able to save anything?—They have not been able to save anything; for, instead of extinguishing the fire, the miserable wretches who had come up set themselves to plundering.—What has happened?—A great misfortune has happened.—Why did my friends set out without me?—They waited for you till twelve o'clock, and seeing that you did not come they set out.—Tell (erzählen) us what has happened to you lately.—Very willingly, but on condition (mit dem Bedinge or unter der Bedingung) that you will listen to me attentively (aufmerksam) without interrupting (unterbrechen*) me.—We will not interrupt you, you may be sure of it.—Being lately at the theatre, I saw The speaking picture and The weeping woman performed. This latter play (das letztere Stück) not being very (sonderlich) amusing to me, I went to the concert, where the music (die Musik) caused me a violent headache. I then left (verlassen*) the concert, cursing (verwünschen) it, and went straight (gerade) to the mad-house (das Narrenhaus), in order to see (besuchen) my cousin.

NINETY-FIRST LESSON.—Ein und neunzigste Section.

Towards, against.
Against.

Gegen, { govern the accus.
Wider, }

Gegen denotes the direction of two things turned towards each other, and is used for towards and against; wider on the contrary denotes hostility, and is only used for against. Ex.

To take the field against the enemy.	Gegen (or wider) den Feind zu Felde ziehen*.
What have you against me?	Was haben Sie gegen (or wider) mich?
You speak against yourself.	Sie reden gegen (or wider) sich selbst.
To swim against the stream.	Gegen den Strom schwimmen*.
I have nothing against that.	Ich habe Nichts dagegen.

Self, selves.

Selbst or selber (is indeclinable).

I myself.

Ich selbst.

Thou thyself, he himself.

Du selbst, er selbst.

We ourselves, you yourselves.

Wir selbst, Ihr (Sie) selbst.

They themselves.

Sie selbst.

He himself has told it me.

Er selbst hat es mir gesagt.

Obs. A. The pronoun preceding self is not translated into German. But the personal pronoun preceding selbst is declined.

He has given it to me (not to another person). Er hat es mir selbst gegeben.

They themselves have come to me. Sie selbst sind zu mir gekommen.

We have given it to them (not to others). Wir haben es ihnen selbst gegeben.

The day before.

Der Tag vorher.

The preceding day.

Der vorhergehende Tag.

The day before Sunday is Saturday.

Der Tag vor Sonntag heißt Samstag.

The day before (the preceding day) was Friday.

Der Tag vorher (der vorhergehende Tag) war ein Freitag.

Again (anew).

Von Neuem, wieder.

Once more (again).

Noch einmal.

He speaks again.

Er spricht wieder.

I must hear him again.

Ich muß ihn von Neuem hören.

Obs. B. The adverb wieder must not be mistaken for the inseparable particle wider (Lesson XXVII.), nor for the preposition wider, against. It answers to the English word again. Ex. *wiederkommen, to come again; *wiederaanfangen, to begin again. It must not be mistaken for zurück, back again, which as in English denotes retrogression. Ex. *Zurückkommen, to come back again.

The light.

Das Licht.

To blow.

Blasen* (geblasen, blies).

To blow out.

Ausblasen*.

To flee.

Fliehen* (geflohen, floh).

To run away.

{ Entfliehen*.

{ Entlaufen*.

{ Davon laufen*.

Why do you run away?	Warum laufen Sie weg (davon)?
I run away, because I am afraid.	Ich laufe davon (weg), weil ich mich fürchte (or weil ich Furcht habe).
To make one's escape.	{ Die Flucht nehmen* (or ergreifen*).
To run away, to flee.
To take to one's heels.
He deserted the battle.	Er ist aus der Schlacht entflohen or entlaufen.
The thief has run away.	Der Dieb ist entlaufen (davon- or weggelaufen).
To catch, to lay hold of, to seize.	Ergreifen* (ergriffen, ergriff).
To translate.	Uebersetzen ¹ .
To translate into German.	Auf deutsch übersetzen.
To translate from French into German.	Aus dem Französischen in's Deutsche übersetzen.
To translate from one language into another.	Aus einer Sprache in die andere übersetzen.
To introduce.	Einführen.
I introduce him to you.	Ich führe ihn bei Ihnen ein.
Since or from.	Von — an, seit.
From that time.	{ Von diesem Augenblicke an.
	{ Seit dieser Zeit.
	{ Von dieser Zeit an.

Obs. C. Compound prepositions must be divided, and the case which the preposition governs placed between the two component parts, as:

From my childhood.	Von meiner Jugend an.
From morning until evening.	Vom Morgen bis zum Abend.
From the beginning to the end.	{ Vom Anfang bis zum Ende.
	{ Vom Anfang bis zu Ende.
To produce (to yield, to profit).	Einbringen*.
To destroy.	Zerstören.
To reduce.	Herabsetzen.
To limit.	Einschränken.
To diminish (to lessen).	Verkleinern.

¹ In übersetzen, to translate, the accent being on the root of the verb, über is inseparable, and consequently its past participle is übersezt, not übergesetzt. (See Lesson XLVII.)

To reduce the price.	Den Preis herabsetzen.
To reduce (to bring down) the price to a crown.	Den Preis bis auf einen Thaler herunterbringen*.
The merchandise,	die Waare.
The price of the merchandise falls.	† Die Waare schlägt ab.
The yard, the ell.	die Elle.
To deduct.	† Nachlassen*.
Having not overcharged you, I cannot deduct anything.	† Da ich Sie gar nicht überseht habe, so kann ich Nichts nachlassen.
To overcharge.	} Uebersetzen (inseparable).
To ask too much.
By the year (or a year),	jährlich;
By the day (or a day),	täglich;
By the month (or a month),	monatlich.
By no means.	Gar nicht.
Not at all.	Ganz und gar nicht.
How much does that employment yield you a year?	Wie viel bringt Ihnen dieses Amt jährlich ein?

EXERCISES. 206.

On entering the hospital (das Hospital) of my cousin, I was struck with horror at seeing several madmen (der Narr, gen. en) who came up (naßen) to me jumping and howling (heulen).—What did you do then?—I did the same (es ebenso machen) as they, and they set up a laugh (anfassen* zu lachen) as they were withdrawing (sich zurückziehen or wegbegeben*).—When I was yet little, I once (einmal) said to my father. "I do not know (verstehen*) commerce, and I do not know how to sell; let me play." My father answered me, smiling (lächeln), "In dealing one learns to deal, and in selling to sell." "But my dear father," replied I, "in playing one learns also to play." "You are right," said he to me: "but you must first (vorher) learn what is necessary and useful."

Do you already know what has happened?—I have not heard anything.—The house of our neighbour has been burnt down.—Have they not been able to save anything?—They were very fortunate in saving the persons that were in it; but out of (von) the things that were (sich befinden*) there, they could save nothing.—Who has told you that?—Our neighbour himself has told it me.—Why are you without a light?—The wind blew it out, when you came in.—What is the day before Monday called?—The day before Monday is Sunday.—Why did you not run to the assistance of your neighbour whose house has been burnt down?—I could not run thither, for I was ill and in bed.—What is the price of this cloth?—I sell it a three crowns and a half the ell.—I think (finden*) it very dear.—Has the price of cloth not fallen?—It has not fallen: the price of all goods has fallen, except (ausgenommen) that of cloth.—I will give you three crowns for it.—I cannot let you have it for (um) that price, for it costs me more.—Will you have the goodness to show me some pieces (das Stück, plur. e) of English cloth?—With much pleasure.—Does this cloth suit you?—It does not suit me.—Why does it not suit you?—Because it is too dear; if you will lower the price, I shall buy twenty yards of it (davon).—Having not asked too much, I cannot take off anything.

You learn French; does your master let you translate?—He lets me read, write and translate.—Is it useful to translate in learning a foreign language?—It is useful to translate when you nearly know the language you are learning; but while (wenn) you do not yet know anything, it is entirely useless.—What does your German master make you do?—He makes me read a lesson; afterwards he makes me translate French exercises into German on (über with the accus.) the lesson which he has made me read; and from the beginning to the end of the lesson he speaks German to me, and I have to answer him in the very (selbst) language which he is teaching me.—Have you already learnt much in that manner?—You see that I have already learnt something, for I have hardly been learning it four months, and I already understand you when you speak to me, and can answer you.—Can you read it as well?—I can read and write as well as speak it.—Does your master also teach English?—He does teach it.—Wishing to make his acquaintance I must beg of you to introduce me to (bei) him.—As you wish to make his acquaintance, I shall introduce you to him.—How many exercises do you translate a day?—If the exercises are not difficult, I translate (from) three to (bis) four every day, and when they are so, I translate but one.—How many have you already done to-day?—It is the third which I am translating; but to-morrow I hope to be able to do one more, for I shall be alone.—Have you paid a visit to my aunt?—I went to see her two months ago, and as she looked displeased, I have not gone to her any more since that time.—How do you do to-day?—I am very unwell.—How do you like that soup?—I think (finden*) it is very bad; but since I have lost my appetite I don't like anything.—How much does that employment yield to your father?—It yields him more than four thousand crowns.—What news do they mention (sagen)?—They say that the Turks have taken the field against the Russians.—Every one will find in himself the defects which he remarks in others: the defects of others are before (us), our own behind us. (See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

NINETY-SECOND LESSON.—Zwei und neunzigste Section.

PRESENT OF THE SUBJUNCTIVE.

I may have, thou mayest have, Ich habe, Du habest, er (sie, es) habe (she, it) may have.

We may have, you may have, Wir haben, Ihr habet, sie haben. they may have.

I may be, thou mayest be, he Ich sey, Du sehest (or sehest), er (she, it) may be. (sie, es) sey.

We may be, you may be, they Wir seyen, Ihr seyed, sie seyen. may be.

I may become, thou mayest become, he Ich werde, Du werdest, er (sie, es) werde. (she, it) may become.

We may become, you may become, Wir werden, Ihr werdet, sie werden. they may become.

may praise, thou mayest praise, Ich lobe, Du lobest, er (sie, es) he (she, it) may praise. lobe.
 We may praise, you may praise, Wir loben, ihr lobet, sie loben.
 they may praise.

Obs. A. The present of the subjunctive differs, in regular verbs, from the present of the indicative only in the third person singular, which rejects the letter t. All German verbs are regular in the present of the subjunctive, which is formed from the infinitive.

Obs. B. The letter e, which is often omitted in the present of the indicative (Obs. A., Lesson XXXVI.), must always be retained in the present of the subjunctive.

He who requires to be honoured	Wer verlangt, daß man ihn seines on account of his riches, has	Reichthums wegen verehere, der also a right to require a moun-	hat auch ein Recht, zu verlangen,
tain to be honoured that con-	daß man einen Berg verehere,
tains gold.	der Gold in sich hat.

IMPERFECT OF THE SUBJUNCTIVE.

In regular verbs the imperfect of the subjunctive does not differ from that of the indicative. In irregular verbs it is formed from the imperfect indicative by softening the radical vowels and adding an *e*².

1 In conjugating their verbs, learners would do well to prefix a conjunction to each person of the subjunctive, not because a conjunction should necessarily precede that mode, but because it is advisable to get into the habit of placing the verb after the conjunction, particularly in compound verbs. They may use for that purpose one of the conjunctions daß, wenn. Ex. Daß ich abschreibe, that I may copy; wenn ich abschreibe, if I copied; wenn ich abgeschrieben hätte, if I had copied; daß ich abschreiben werde, that I shall copy, &c. These examples show that when the phrase begins with a conjunction (Lesson XLIX.) the separable particle is not detached from the verb in simple tenses, and in the past participle gives way to the syllable ge.

2 From this rule must be excepted the sixteen irregular verbs which compose the first class in our list. These having already an e in the imperfect indicative, do not add one in the subjunctive. Several of them do not soften the radical vowel, but become regular again in the imperfect subjunctive, as: *fennen, to know; *nennen, to name, to call; *rennen, to run; *senden, to send; *wenden, to turn.

The imperfect of the subjunctive is used after the conditional conjunction wenn, if, expressed or understood.

If I had money.

Wenn ich Geld hätte (or hätte ich Geld).

If I saw him.

Wenn ich ihn sähe (or sähe ich ihn).

If he did it.

Wenn er es thäte (or thäte er es).

Were he to lose his money.

Wenn er sein Geld verlöre.

Were he to beat his dog.

Wenn er seinen Hund schüge.

If you were rich.

Wenn Sie reich wären (or wären Sie reich).

Obs. C. As soon as wenn is not conditional it requires the indicative mode. Ex.

If he is not ill, why does he send for the physician?

Wenn er nicht krank ist, warum läßt er den Doctor kommen?

Obs. D. Instead of wenn the imperfect subjunctive of the verb soßen is often used at the beginning of a sentence, as should in English.

Should you still receive my letter to-day, I beg you will call one me instantly.

Sollten Sie meinen Brief noch heute erhalten, so bitte ich Sie, augenblicklich zu mir zu kommen.

Should he be hungry, something must be given to him to eat.

Sollte es ihn hungern, so müßte man ihm Etwas zu essen geben.

OF THE CONDITIONAL OR POTENTIAL TENSES.

The conditional tenses are formed from the imperfect subjunctive of the verb *werden, which is : ich würde, I should or would become, and, as in the future tenses (Lessons LXXXIII. and LXXXIV.), the present of the infinitive for the conditional present, and the past of the infinitive for the conditional past. The imperfect of the subjunctive may be used instead of the conditional present, and the pluperfect of the subjunctive for the conditional past. Ex.

I should do it.

Ich würde es thun (or ich thäte es).

He would have done it.

Er würde es gethan haben (or er hätte es gethan).

We would go thither.
 You would go thither.
 They would go thither.
 Thou wouldst thank me once.
 At one time, one day (once).

Wir würden dahin gehen.
 Ihr würdet hingehen.
 Sie würden hingehen.
 Du würdest mir einst danken.
 Einst, eines Tages.

Obs. E. The imperfect of the subjunctive or conditional tense may be employed either before or after conditional propositions, as in English. Ex.

- | | |
|---|--|
| I would buy it, if I had money enough.
 If I had money enough I would buy it.
 Had I money enough I would pay for it.
 Had I money I would give you some.
 If I went thither I should see him.
 Were I to give it him, he would keep it.
 If I gave it to him, he would not return it to me.
 Had you come a little sooner (or, if you had come a little sooner) you would have seen my brother (or, you might have seen my brother).
 If he knew what you have done, he would scold you.
 If there were any wood, he would make a fire.
 If I had received my money, I would have bought a pair of new shoes. | Ich kaufte es (or ich würde es kaufen), wenn ich Geld genug hätte.
 Wenn ich Geld genug hätte, so würde ich es kaufen (or so kaufte ich es).
 Hätte ich Geld genug, so bezahlte ich es (or so würde ich es bezahlen).
 Hätte ich Geld (or wenn ich Geld hätte), so würde ich Ihnen welches geben (or so gäbe ich Ihnen welches).
 Wenn ich hinginge, so würde ich ihn sehen.
 Gäbe ich es ihm, er würde es (or so würde er es) behalten.
 Wenn ich es ihm gäbe, so würde er es mir nicht wiedergeben.
 Wären Sie einen Augenblick eher gekommen (or wenn Sie einen Augenblick eher gekommen wären), so würden Sie meinen Bruder gesehen haben (or so hätten Sie meinen Bruder gesehen).
 Wenn er wüßte, was Sie gethan haben, so würde er Sie ausschelten.
 Wenn Holz da wäre, so würde er Feuer anmachen.
 Wenn ich mein Geld bekommen hätte, so würde ich mir ein Paar neue Schuhe gekauft haben. |
|---|--|

Obs. F. The imperfect subjunctive of the verbs *fönnen, *wollen, *mögen, *dürfen, is often employed to express various feelings, as :

1st, Können, fear or desire. Ex.

He might fall.
I might (could) do it.

Er könnte fallen.
Ich könnte es thun.

2d, Wollen, solicitation. Ex.

Would you have the goodness?	Wollten Sie die Güte haben?
Would you be so good?	Wollten Sie so gütig seyn?
Wouldst thou do me the favour?	Wolltest Du mir die Gefälligkeit erweisen?

3d, Mögen, desire, either with or without the adverb gern. Ex.

I should like to know.	{ Ich möchte wissen.
	{ Ich möchte gern wissen.

4th, Dürfen, politeness, either in the present of the indicative or the imperfect of the subjunctive. Ex.

May I ask you for the knife?	Darf (or dürfte) ich Sie um das Messer bitten?
May I beg of you to tell me?	Darf (or dürfte) ich Sie bitten, mir zu sagen?

Would you learn German, if I learnt it?	Würden Sie Deutsch lernen, wenn ich es lernte?
---	--

I would learn it, if you learnt it.	Ich würde es lernen, wenn Sie es lernten.
-------------------------------------	---

Would you have learnt English, if I had learnt it?	Würden Sie Englisch gelernt haben, wenn ich es gelernt hätte?
--	---

I would have learnt it, if you had learnt it.	Ich würde es gelernt haben, wenn Sie es gelernt hätten.
---	---

Would you go to Germany, if I went thither with you?	Würden Sie nach Deutschland reisen, wenn ich mit Ihnen dahin reisete?
--	---

I would go thither, if you went thither with me.	Ich würde dahin reisen, wenn Sie mit mir dahin reiseten.
--	--

Would you have gone to Germany, if I had gone thither with you?	Würden Sie nach Deutschland gereist seyn, wenn ich mit Ihnen dahin gereist wäre?
---	--

Would you go out, if I remained at home?	Würden Sie ausgehen, wenn ich zu Hause bliebe?
--	--

I would remain at home, if you went out.	Ich würde zu Hause bleiben (or ich bliebe zu Hause), wenn Sie ausgingen.
--	--

Would you have written a letter, Würden Sie einen Brief geschrie-if I had written a note? ben haben, wenn ich ein Billet geschrieben hätte?

The spectacles, die Brillen (is in German used in the singular);

a pair of spectacles, eine Brille;
the old man, der alte Mann, der Greis;
the optician, der Opticus.

To go (or come) to fetch. Abholen.

To keep one's bed (one's room). Das Bett (das Zimmer) hüten.

The plate, der Teller;
the son-in-law, der Schwiegersohn;
the daughter-in-law, die Schwiegertochter;
the progress, die Fortschritte (plural);
the step (the pace), der Schritt;

EXERCISES. 208.

Would you have money, if your father were here?—I should have some, if he were here.—Would you have been pleased, if I had had some books?—I should have been much pleased, if you had had some.—Would you have praised my little brother, if he had been good?—If he had been good I should certainly (gewiß) not only have praised, but also loved, honoured, and rewarded him.—Should we be praised, if we did our exercises?—If you did them without a fault, you would be praised and rewarded.—Would my brother not have been punished, if he had done his exercises?—He would not have been punished, if he had done them.—Would your sister have been praised, if she had not been skilful?—She would certainly not have been praised, if she had not been very skilful, and if she had not worked from morning until evening.—Would you give me something, if I were very good?—If you were very good, and if you worked well, I would give you a fine book.—Would you have written to your sister, if I had gone to Dresden?—I would have written and sent her something handsome, if you had gone thither.—Would you speak, if I listened to you?—I would speak, if you listened to me, and if you would answer me.—Would you have spoken to my mother, if you had seen her?—I would (have) spoken to her, and have begged of her to send you a handsome gold watch (die Uhr), if I had seen her.

209.

One of the valets de chambre (der Kammerdiener) of Louis the XIV. (Ludwigs des XIV.) requested that prince, as he was going to bed, to recommend (empfehlen*) to the first president (der Oberpräsident) a law-suit (der Prozeß) which he had against his father-in-law (welchen er mit seinem Schwiegervater führte), and said, in urging him (in Jemanden bringen*): "Alas (Ach)! sire (Ihre Majestät), you have but to (dürfen nur) say one word." "Well (Gut)," said Louis XIV., "it is not that which embarrasses me (daß ich es nicht, was mich ansetzt); but tell me, if thou wert in thy father-in-law's place, and thy father-in-law in thine, wouldst thou be glad, if I said that word?"

If the men should come, you would be obliged to give them something to drink.—If he could do this he would do that.—A peasant having seen (welcher gesehen hatte) that old men used spectacles to read, went to an optician and asked for a pair. The peasant then took a book, and having opened it, said the spectacles were not good. The optician put another pair of the (von den) best which he could find in his shop upon his nose; but the peasant being still unable to read, the merchant said to him: "My friend, perhaps you cannot read at all?" "If I could," said the peasant, "I should not want your spectacles."—I have always flattered myself, my dear brother, that you loved me as much as I love you; but I now see, that I have been mistaken. I should like to know why you went a walking without me.—I have heard, my dear sister, that you are angry with me, because I went a walking without you. I assure you that had I known that you were not ill, I should have come for you; but I inquired at your physician's about your health, and he told me that you had been keeping your bed the last eight days.

A French officer having arrived (see Obs. H. Lesson XC.) at the court of Vienna (am Wiener Hofe), the empress Theresa (die Kaiserin Theresia) asked him, if (ob) he believed that the princess of (von) N. whom he had seen the day before, was (wäre) really the handsomest woman in (von) the world, as was said? "Madam," replied the officer, "I thought so yesterday."—How do you like that meat?—I like it very well.—May I (Darf or dürfte ich) ask you for a piece of (von) that fish?—If you will have the goodness to pass me your plate, I will give you some.—Would you have the goodness to pour me out some drink?—With much pleasure.—Cicero seeing his son-in-law, who was very short (klein), arrive with a long sword at his side (an der Seite), said: "Who has fastened (gebunden) my son-in-law to this sword?" (See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

NINETY-THIRD LESSON.—Drei und neunzigste Section.

To propose.

Sich vornehmen*.

I propose going on that journey. Ich nehme mir vor, diese Reise zu machen.

To endeavour.

} Sich bemühen.
} Sich bestreben (trachten).

I endeavour to do it.

Ich bemühe mich, es zu thun.

I endeavour to succeed in it.

Ich suche es dahin zu bringen.

To aspire after something.

Nach Etwas trachten.

He aspires after places of honour.

Er trachtet nach Ehrenstellen.

The honour,

die Ehre;

the riches,

der Reichthum;

the title,

der Titel.

I should not have complained of what he has done, if it had injured only me; but in doing it, he has plunged many families into misery.

Ich würde mich über das, was er gethan hat, nicht beklagt haben, wenn es nur mir geschadet hätte; aber er hat viele Familien dadurch in's Elend gestürzt.

Since you are happy, why do you complain?

Da Sie doch glücklich sind, warum beklagen Sie sich denn?

Obs. A. In German a good many words, as: denn, doch, wohl, &c. are used for the sake of euphony. Such words cannot possibly be rendered in English. Ex.

What do you wish to say with this?	Was wollen Sie denn damit sagen?
Since you have nothing to tell him, why do you wish to see him?	Da Sie ihm doch Nichts zu sagen haben, warum wollen Sie ihn denn sehen?
Who has made the best use of his money?	Wer hat wohl den besten Gebrauch von seinem Gelde gemacht?
To injure.	Schaden.
To plunge (to precipitate).	Stürzen.
The use,	der Gebrauch.

You would oblige me much, if you would do me this favour.	Sie würden mich sehr verbinden, wenn Sie mir diese Gefälligkeit erweisen wollten.
If you would render me this service, you would oblige me much.	Wenn Sie mir diesen Dienst leisten wollten, so würden Sie mich sehr verbinden.
To oblige.	Verbinden *, verpflichten.
To render a service to some one.	Jemandem einen Dienst leisten.
The obligation,	die Verbindlichkeit.
To tie (attach).	Binden *.
I tie the horse to the tree.	Ich binde das Pferd an den Baum.

He is the most honest man that has ever been seen.	Das ist der ehrlichste Mann, den man je (jemals) gesehen hat.
I want a horse that must be taller than this.	Ich muß ein Pferd haben, das (welches) größer ist, als dieses.
I am sorry that she is ill.	Es ist (thut) mir leid, daß sie krank ist.
I am glad that you are come.	Es ist mir lieb, daß Sie gekommen sind.
I am astonished that he has not done his exercises.	Ich wundere mich, daß er seine Aufgaben nicht gemacht hat.
He will marry her though she is not rich.	Er wird sie heirathen, ob sie gleich nicht reich ist.
I will wait until he returns.	Ich will warten, bis er zurück- kommt.
In case that should happen, let me know it.	Im Falle es geschieht, so lassen Sie mich's wissen.

OBSERVATIONS ON THE USE OF THE SUBJUNCTIVE.

Obs. B. In German the subjunctive, being only used to express doubt or incertitude, is not governed by any particular words. It has more affinity to the English subjunctive than to that of any other language, and more than would at first be supposed. We sometimes, however, prefer the subjunctive where the English use the potential should or would, though we could in this case even use either the potential or the subjunctive. Ex.

I should do it, if it were possible.	Ich würde es thun, wenn es möglich wäre.
Were I in your place, or if I were in your place.	Wäre ich an Ihrer Stelle, oder wenn ich an Ihrer Stelle wäre.
Had he the treasures of Cræsus, or if he had the treasures of Cræsus.	Hätte er die Schätze des Crösus, oder wenn er die Schätze des Crösus hätte.
That man would be happier, if he left off gambling.	Dieser Mann würde glücklicher seyn, wenn er das Spielen ließe.
He would have been happier, if he had left off gambling.	Er würde glücklicher gewesen seyn, wenn er das Spielen gelassen hätte.
If you knew how ill I am, you would not be astonished to find me in bed.	Wenn Sie wüßten (or wüßten Sie), wie krank ich bin, so würden Sie nicht erstaunt seyn (so wären Sie nicht erstaunt), mich im Bette zu finden.
He would not have done it, had he foreseen the result.	Er würde es nicht gethan haben, hätte er den Erfolg vorausgesehen.
I should think myself ungrateful, did I not consider you as my benefactor.	Ich würde mich für undankbar halten, sähe ich Sie nicht als meinen Wohlthäter an.
The French would not have gained the battle, if they had not had superior numbers.	Die Franzosen würden die Schlacht nicht gewonnen haben (or hätten die Schlacht nicht gewonnen), wenn sie nicht eine so große Uebermacht von Leuten gehabt hätten.

Obs. C. In English the potential should or would is used to express a wish relating to a future time, and the subjunctive to express a wish relating to a past time. In both instances the Germans use the subjunctive. Ex.

I wish you would do it.	Ich wünschte, Sie thäten es, or daß Sie es thäten.
I wish you would go thither.	Ich wünschte, Sie gingen hin, or daß Sie hingingen.
I wish you had done it.	Ich wünschte, Sie hätten es ge- than, or daß Sie es gethan hätten.
I wish you had gone thither.	Ich wünschte, Sie wären hin- gegangen, or daß Sie hin- gegangen wären.
I should have wished to see him, had it been possible.	Ich hätte gewünscht, ihn zu sehen, wäre es möglich ge- wesen.
I should like to read, if I had only time.	Ich läse gern, wenn ich nur Zeit hätte.

Obs. D. Some expressions require sometimes the indicative and sometimes the subjunctive according to the manner in which the sentence is formed. Ex.

However rich he may be.	{	Indic. Er mag so reich seyn, wie er will.
		Subj. Er sey so reich, wie er wolle.
Whatever your power may be.	{	Indic. Ihre Gewalt mag so groß seyn, als sie will.
		Subj. Ihre Gewalt sey noch so groß.

Obs. E. In German we never employ the indicative.

1. In conditional propositions with or without the conjunction wenn, if. (See preceding Lesson.) Ex.

If I could I would do it.	Wenn ich könnte, so thäte ich es; or könnte ich, so thäte ich es.
If she were amiable he would marry her.	Wenn sie liebenswürdig wäre (or wäre sie liebenswürdig), so hei- rathete er sie.

2. In exclamations and wishes. Ex.

If I had friends!	Hätte ich Freunde!
If I were rich!	Wäre ich reich!

May heaven grant it!	Der Himmel gebe es!
God forbid!	Gott behüte!
I could not have thought it!	Hätte ich's doch nicht geglaubt!

3. After the verbs erzählen, to relate; fragen, to ask; sagen, to say, and others, which relate indirectly either to what we have said ourselves, or to what we have heard said by other persons. Ex.

He related to me, that he had suffered shipwreck, and had lost all his fortune.	Er erzählte mir, daß er Schiffbruch gelitten und sein ganzes Vermögen verloren hätte.
He asked me whether I was not such a one, whether I had no money, why I did not know how to write.	Er fragte mich, ob ich nicht der und der wäre, ob ich kein Geld hätte, warum ich nicht schreiben könnte.
Thou art master on the cross-bow, Tell,	Du bist ein Meister auf der Armbrust, Tell;
They say, thou standest up to any shooter?	Man sagt, Du nimm'st es auf mit jedem Schützen?
	(Schiller's Wilhelm Tell.)
I told him he had made a mistake, but he thought that was impossible, as he had looked it over three times.	Ich sagte ihm, daß er sich geirrt hätte; er meinte aber, das wäre nicht möglich, weil er es dreimal durchgesehen hätte.
A wise man said, The reason why a man has but one mouth and two ears is, that he may speak little and hear a good deal.	Ein Weiser sagte, der Mensch habe deswegen einen Mund und zwei Ohren, damit er weniger spreche und mehr höre.

Obs. F. Mr., Mrs., and Miss Such a one, are often translated by der und der for the masculine, die und die for the feminine, daß und daß for the neuter.

He said he would marry Miss Such a one.	Er sagte, er werde ¹ das und das Fräulein heirathen.
To suffer shipwreck.	Schiffbruch leiden*.
Possible,	möglich;
impossible,	unmöglich.
Whether.	Ob.

Obs. G. Ob is only used in indirect questions, or before sentences which express doubt or possibility. Ex.

I do not know whether he his	Ich weiß nicht, ob er zu Hause ist.
at home.
I did not know whether you	Ich mußte nicht, ob es Ihnen would be glad of it.	lieb seyn würde.
The question is, whether he will	Es ist die Frage, ob er es wird do it.	thun wollen.

Obs. H. Ob is a component of the following conjunctions: obgleich, ob schon, obwohl, obzwar, though, although. These conjunctions ought to be considered as two separate words, for the subject or even the case of the verb may be placed between them. Ex.

I shall buy that horse, though	Ich werde dieses Pferd kaufen, ob
it is not an English one.	es gleich kein Engländer ist ² .
Though he is my cousin, he	Ob er gleich (or schon) mein Bet-nevertheless does not come	ter ist, so kommt er doch nicht to see me.	zu mir
Although he has promised it to	Obgleich er es mir versprochen hat, me, I do not rely upon it.	so zähle ich doch nicht darauf.
Although he is poor, he does	Ob er schon (or gleich, zwar, wohl)
nevertheless a great deal of	arm ist, so thut er doch viel good.	Gutes.
However, nevertheless,	doch;
the folly,	die Thorheit, die Narrheit;
the character,	der Charakter (plur. e), die Gemüthsart;
bashful, timid,	blöde;
fearful (timid),	furchtsam;
natural,	natürlich;
polite (civil); impolite (uncivil),	höflich; unhöflich.

EXERCISES. 211.

Well (nun), does your sister make any progress?—She would make some, if she were as assiduous as you.—You flatter me.—Not at all (ganz und gar nicht), I assure you that I should be highly satisfied, if all my pupils worked like you.—Why do you not go out to-day?—I would go out, if it were fine weather.—Shall I have the pleasure of seeing you to-morrow?—If you wish it I will come.—Shall I still be here when you arrive (bei Ihrer Ankunft)?—Will you have occasion (Gelegenheit) to go to town this evening?—I do not know, but I would go now, if I had an opportunity (die Gelegenheit).—You would not have so much pleasure, and you would not be so happy, if you had not friends and books.—Man would not experience so much misery (so viel Elend) in his career (auf seiner Laufbahn), and he would not be so unhappy, were he not so blind.—You would not have that insensibility (die Gefühllosigkeit) towards the poor, and you would not be so deaf to (taub gegen) their supplication (die Bitte), if you had been yourself in misery for some time.—You would not say that, if you knew me well.—Why has your sister not done her exercises?—She would have done them, if she had not been prevented.—If you worked more, and spoke oftener, you would speak better.—I assure you, Sir, that I should learn better, if I had more time.—I do not complain of you, but of your sister.—You would have had no reason (Ursache) to complain of her, had she had time to do what you gave her to do.—What has my brother told you?—He has told me that he would be the happiest man in the (von der) world, if he knew the German language the most beautiful of all languages.

2 When the subject or case of the verb is not a personal pronoun, it is not usually placed between these two words. Ex. Obgleich dieses Pferd kein Engländer ist, so werde ich es doch kaufen, although this horse is not an English one, I shall nevertheless buy it. Obgleich diesem Manne Nichts widerfahren ist, so beklagt er sich doch, though nothing has happened to this man, he is nevertheless complaining.

I should like to know why I cannot speak as well as you.—I will tell you: you would speak quite as well as I, if you were not so bashful.—But if you had studied your lessons more carefully (besser), you would not be afraid to speak: for in order to speak well one must know; and it is very natural, that he who does not know well what he has learnt should be timid.—You would not be so timid as you are (als Sie sind), if you were sure to make no faults.—There are some people who laugh when I speak.—Those are impolite people; you have only to laugh also, and they will no longer laugh at you. If you did as I (do), you would speak well. You must study a little every day, and you will soon be no longer afraid to speak.—I will endeavour to follow your advice, for I have resolved (*sich vornehmen) to rise every morning at six o'clock, to study till ten o'clock, and to go to bed early.—Democritus and Heraclitus (in German as in English Heraclitus, etc.) were two philosophers of a (von) very different character; the first laughed at (über with the accus.) the follies of men, and the other wept at them.—They were both right, for the follies of men deserve (verdienen) (both) to be laughed and wept at.—My brother told me that you had spoken of me, and that you had not praised me.—We should have praised you, if you had paid us what you owe us.—You are wrong in complaining of my cousin, for he did not intend to hurt your feelings.—I should not have complained of him, if he had only hurt my feelings; but he has plunged into misery a whole family.—You are wrong in associating with that man. He only aspires after riches. (See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

NINETY-FOURTH LESSON.—Vier und neunzigste Section.

To be thoroughly acquainted with a thing.	Mit einer Sache (genau) bekannt (or vertraut) seyn*.
To make one's self thoroughly acquainted with a thing.	Sich mit einer Sache bekannt (or vertraut) machen.
I understand this business.	Ich bin mit dieser Sache vertraut (or bekannt).
Acquainted, intimate, familiar,	bekannt; vertraut.
I am acquainted with that.	† Ich bin damit bekannt (vertraut).
A species (a kind),	eine Art ¹ , eine Gattung.
What kind of fruit is that?	} Was für eine Art Frucht ist dies? } Was für eine Frucht ist dies?
The kernel (of an apple, a pear, an almond, &c.), der Kern.

¹ The plural of collective nouns is generally formed by adding Arten, kinds, species, to the singular. Ex. die Obstarten, fruit (i. e. various sorts of fruit); die Getreide-Arten, corn (i. e. various kinds of corn).

The stone,
kernel-fruit,

The flight, the escape,

die Flucht.

To do without a thing.

{ Eine (or einer) Sache entbehren
(governs the gen. or the acc.).
Sich behelfen* ohne Etwas³.

Can you do without bread?

{ Können Sie ſich ohne Brod behelfen?
Können Sie das Brod (des Bro-des) entbehren?

I can do without it.

Ich kann es entbehren.

2 Die Frucht is the fruit of trees and plants. Ex. die Feldfrüchte, the fruit of the fields. Frucht is also employed figuratively: Ex. Die Frucht ſeiner Arbeit, the reward of his labour. Obst is only used in speaking of apples, pears, plums, and similar fruit. Hence das Kernobst, kernel-fruit; das Steinobst, stone-fruit.

3 Entbehren is employed in the sense of to be without and to do without; ſich behelfen* in the sense only of to do without.

I do without bread.
Do you do without bread?
I do without it.
There are many things which we must do without.

Ich behelfe mich ohne Brod.
Behelfen Sie sich ohne Brod?
Ich kann es entbehren.
Wir müssen Vieles entbehren.

It is said that he will set out to-morrow. { Man sagt, er werde morgen ab-reisen.
Man sagt, daß er morgen ab-reisen werde.

FUTURE OF THE SUBJUNCTIVE.

The futures of the subjunctive differ from those of the indicative only in the second and third persons singular, which are : werdest and werde, instead of wirst and wird. Ex.

Thou wilt praise.	Du werdest loben.
He will praise.	Er werde loben.
Thou wilt have praised.	Du werdest gelobt haben.
He will have praised.	Er werde gelobt haben.

The future of the subjunctive implies a coming but uncertain event. Ex.

It is said that he will soon arrive. { Man sagt, er werde bald ankomen.
Man sagt, daß er bald ankomen werde.

It is hoped that he will yet have arrived in time. { Man hofft, er werde noch zu rechter Zeit angekommen seyn.
Man hofft, daß er noch zu rechter Zeit angekommen seyn werde.

They will warm the soup.
Dinner, or supper, is on the table.
(Literally : one has served up.)

Man wird die Suppe wärmen.
† Man hat aufgetragen.

To serve, to attend.

Aufwarten.

Do you choose any of it?	† Kann ich Ihnen damit aufwarten?
Do you choose any soup?	† Kann ich Ihnen mit Suppe auf-

To ask for politely.

May I crave (beg) the favour of your name?

Sich ausbitten*.

† Darf ich mir Ihren Namen aus-bitten?

The woman,
the wife,

die Frau;
das Weib⁴.

EXERCISES. 213.

I come to wish you a good morning.—You are very kind.—Would you do me a favour?—Tell me what you want, for I would do anything to oblige you.—I want five hundred crowns, and I beg of you to lent them to me. I will return them to you as soon as I have received my money. You would oblige me much, if you would render me this service.—I would do it with all my heart, if I could; but having lost all my money, it is impossible for me to render you this service.—Will you ask your brother, whether he is satisfied with the money which I have sent him?—As to my brother, though it be little, he is satisfied with it : but I am not so; for having suffered shipwreck, I am in want of the money which you owe me.—Henry IV., meeting (antreffen*) one day in his palace (der Palast) a man whom he did not know (der ihm unbekannt war), asked him to whom he belonged (angehören) : “I belong to myself,” replied this man. “My friend,” said the king, “you have a stupid master.”

4 Die Frau is used in titles; in which case it is not expressed in English. Ex. Die Frau Gräfin, the countess. It stands for — 1. the mistress of the house. Ex. Das ist die Frau vom Hause, that is the mistress of the house. 2. The consort. Ex. Seine Frau ist sehr schön, his lady is very handsome. 3. The sex, but then it is generally combined with the word Person or Zimmer. Ex. Kennen Sie diese Frauenperson (dieses Frauenzimmer)? do you know that lady? The word Weib means: 1. in general a woman of the lower classes. It is sometimes combined with the word Person, and in speaking contemptuously with the word Bild. Ex. Die Weiber vom gemeinen Volke, the women of the lower classes; die Weibsperson, das Weibsbild, the female. 2. A consort among the lower classes. Ex. Er hat ein Weib genommen, he has taken a wife (has married). 3. The sex in general. Ex. Ein edles Weib, a woman of noble sentiments; die Natur des Weibes, woman's nature.

Have they served up the soup?—They have served it up some minutes ago.—Then it must be cold, and I only like soup hot (warne Suppe).—They will warm it for you.—You will oblige me.—Shall I help you to some of this roast meat?—I will trouble you for a little.—Will you eat some of this mutton?—I thank you, I like fowl better.—May I offer you some wine?—I will trouble you for a little.—Have they already served up the dessert?—They have served it up.—Do you like fruit?—I like fruit, but I have no more appetite.—Will you eat a little cheese?—I will eat a little.—Shall I help you to English or Dutch (holländisch) cheese?—I will eat a little Dutch cheese.—What kind of fruit is that?—It is stone-fruit.—What is it called?—It is called thus.—Will you wash your hands?—I should like to wash them, but I have no towel to wipe them with.—I will let you have (geben lassen) a towel, some soap, and some water.—I shall be much (sehr) obliged to you.—May I ask you for a little water?—Here is some (da haben Sie).—Can you do without soap?—As for soap, I can do without it; but I must have a towel to dry my hands with.—Do you often do without soap?—There are many things which we must do without.—Why has that man run away?—Because he had no other means of escaping the punishment which he deserved.—Why did your brothers not get a better horse?—If they had got rid of their old horse, they would have got another better one.—Has your father arrived already?—Not yet, but we hope that he will arrive this very day (noch heute).—Has your friend set out in time?—I do not know, but I hope that he will have set out in time.

Will you relate something to me?—What do you wish me relate to you?—A little anecdote, if you like.—A little boy asked (fordern) one day at table (bei Tische) for some meat; his father said that it is not polite to ask for any, and that he should wait until some was given to him. The poor boy seeing every one eat, and that nothing was given to him, said to his father : "My dear father, give me a little salt, if you please." "What will you do with it?" asked the father. "I wish to eat it with the meat (ich will es zu dem Fleisch essen) which you will give me," replied (versetzen) the child. Every body admired (bewundern) the little boy's wit; and his father perceiving that he had nothing, gave him meat without his asking for it.—Who was that little boy that asked for meat at table?—He was the son of one of my friends.—Why did he ask for some meat?—He asked for some, because he had a good appetite.—Why did his father not give him some immediately?—Because he had forgotten it.—Was the little boy wrong in asking for some?—He was wrong, for he ought to have waited.—Why did he ask his father for some salt?—He asked for some salt, that (damit) his father might perceive that he had no meat, and that he might give him some. (See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

NINETY-FIFTH LESSON.—Fünf und neunzigste Section.

To execute a commission.	Einen Auftrag ausrichten, vollziehen*, besorgen.
I have executed your commission.	Ich habe Ihren Auftrag gut ausgerichtet (vollzogen, besorgt).
I have received with the greatest pleasure, the letter which you addressed to me, dated the 6th instant.	Ich habe Ihr unter dem sechsten an mich gerichtetes Schreiben mit dem größten Vergnügen erhalten.

☞ When the adjective precedes the noun (Lesson XX.) all words relating to it are placed before the adjective, or the participle used adjectively, in the following order: 1st, The article or pronoun; 2nd, All words relating to the adjective or the participial adjective; 3rd, The adjective or participial adjective; and finally, 4th, The noun. Ex.

A man polite towards everybody.	Ein ¹ gegen ² Jedermann ³ höflicher ⁴ Mensch.

It is sufficient for me.	Es genügt mir.
Will that money be sufficient for that man?	Wird dieses Geld diesem Manne genügen?
It will be sufficient for him.	Es wird ihm genügen.
Little wealth suffices for the wise.	Wenig genügt dem Weisen.
Was this man contented with that sum?	Hat sich dieser Mann mit dieser Summe begnügt?
Has this sum been sufficient for that man?	{ War diese Summe für diesen Mann hinreichend?
	{ War diese Summe diesem Manne genug?
It has been sufficient for him.	Er hat sich damit begnügt.

1 This kind of construction, wherein the noun stands separated more or less from its article, is more frequently made use of in elevated style than in conversation.

2 Pflicht is that which our own conscience obliges us to; Schuldigkeit, expresses the orders given us by our superiors, and is derived from die Schuld, the obligation, debt.

He would be contented, if you would only add a few crowns.	Er würde sich begnügen, wenn Sie nur noch einige Thaler hinzufügen wollten.

Otherwise, differently.	Anders.
In another manner.	Auf eine andere Art.
If I knew that, I would behave differently.	Wenn ich das wüßte, würde ich mich anders benehmen.
If I had known that, I would have behaved differently.	Wenn ich das gewußt hätte, so würde ich mich anders benommen haben.
To behave.	Sich benehmen*.
Else (otherwise).	Sonst.
If not.	Wo nicht.
Mend, else (if not) you will be punished.	Bessern Sie sich, sonst (wo nicht) wird man Sie strafen.
I cannot do it otherwise.	Ich kann es nicht anders machen.

OF THE IMPERATIVE.

The second person singular of the imperative, being formed from the second person singular of the indicative, is only irregular when the latter is so. Ex. Geben*, to give; second person of the indicative, du gibst, thou givest; imperative, gib, give thou. Helfen*, to help; second person of the indicative, du hilffst, thou helpest; imperative, hilf, help thou.

From this rule must be excepted: 1st, The following verbs: haben*, to have; second person, du hast, thou hast; imperative, habe, have thou; *sey, to be; second person, du bist, thou art; imperative, sey, be thou; *werden, to become; du wirst, thou becomest; imperative, werde, become thou; *wissen, to know; second person, du weißt, thou knowest; imperative, wiße, know thou; *wollen, to will; du willst, thou wilt; imperative, wolle. 2nd, Verbs which, in the second person of the indicative present, change the letter a into ä. In the imperative they resume the radical vowel. Ex. Laufen, to run; du läufst, thou runnest; imperative, laufe, run thou.

All the other persons of the imperative are derived from the present of the subjunctive, which is always regular, as well as the plural of the present of the indicative.

Have patience!

Be attentive!

Go thither!

Give it me!

Give it him!

Patience; impatience

Lend it to me!

To borrow.

I will borrow some money of you.

I will borrow this money of you.

Borrow it of (or from) him.

I do borrow it from him.

Haben Sie Geduld!

Seyen Sie aufmerksam!

Gehen Sie hin!

Geben Sie es mir!

Geben Sie es ihm!

die Geduld; die Ungeduld.

Leihen Sie es mir!

Borgen (leihen).*

Ich will mir von Ihnen Geld leihen (geborgt nehmen).

Ich will dieses Geld von Ihnen geborgt nehmen.

Nehmen Sie es von ihm geborgt.

Ich nehme es von ihm geborgt.

Obs. A. These examples of the imperative are, for the third person plural, which is most commonly used in polite conversation; but we sometimes also employ the second person plural, particularly in exhortations, as:

Be (ye) good.

Know (ye) it.

Obey your masters, and never give them any trouble.

Seyd gut³.

Wißet es⁴.

Gehorchet⁵ Euren Lehrern, und machet ihnen nie Verdruß.

3 From Ihr seyd, second person plural both of the indicative.

4 From Ihr wißet, &c. &c.

5 From Ihr gehorchet, &c. &c.

Pay what you owe, comfort the afflicted, and do good to those that have offended you.

Love God, and thy neighbour as thyself (in German yourself).

To obey.

To comfort.

To offend.

The neighbour, sadness,

the creditor,

the watch,

the snuff-box,

Bezahlet, was Ihr schuldig seyd; tröstet die Unglücklichen, und thuet denjenigen Gutes, die Euch beleidigt haben.

Liebet Gott und den Nächsten wie Euch selbst.

Gehorchen.

Trösten.

Beleidigen.

der Nächste;

die Traurigkeit;

der Gläubiger;

die Uhr;

die Dose.

Obs. B. We often employ compound imperatives, in order to give to understand that we either command or invite. They are formed for the third pers. sing. and plur. with *mögen, may; *sollen, shall; and for the first person plural with *lassen, to let, which likewise forms the compound imperative in English; and with *wollen, will. Ex. Er mag loben, let him (he may) praise; er soll loben, let him (he shall) praise; sie mögen loben, let them (they may) praise; sie sollen loben, let them (they shall) praise; laßt uns loben, let us praise; wir wollen loben, let us (we will) praise, etc.

Let us always love and practise virtue, and we shall be happy both in this life, and in the next.

Let us see which of us can shoot best.

Lasset uns immer die Tugend lieben und ausüben, so werden wir in diesem und jenem Leben glücklich seyn.

Wir wollen sehen, wer von uns am besten schießen kann.

Obs. C. To make an order more particularly precise, we often use the compound imperative with sollen instead of the infinitive. (See Circumscribing Auxiliaries, Meth. Part II.) Ex.

Tell him to come down.

Sagen Sie ihm, er soll herunter kommen (instead of: herunter zu kommen).

Tell him to come to me to warm himself.

Sagen Sie ihm, er soll zu mir kommen, um sich zu wärmen (instead of: zu mir zu kommen).

EXERCISES. 216.

Have you executed my commission?—I have executed it.—Has your brother executed the commission which I gave him?—He has executed it.—Would you execute a commission for me?—I am under so many obligations to you, that I will always execute your commissions when it shall please you to give me any.—Ask the horse-dealer (der Pferdehändler) whether he can let me have the horse at (für) the price which I have offered him.—I am sure that he would be satisfied, if you would add a few florins more.—I will not add anything. If he can let me have it at (für) that price, let him do so; if not, let him keep it (so mag er es behalten).—Good morning (in the accus.), my children! Have you done your task?—You well know that we always do it; for we must (müßten) be ill not to do it.—What do you give us to do to-day?—I give you the ninety-fifth lesson to study, and the exercises belonging to it to do,—that is to say, the 216th and 217th. Endeavour to commit (machen) no errors (der Fehler).—Is this bread sufficient for you?—It would be sufficient for me, if I were not very hungry.—When did your brother embark for America?—He sailed on the thirtieth of last month (letzten Monats).—Do you promise me to speak to your brother?—I do promise you, you may depend upon it.—I rely upon you.—Will you work harder for next lesson than you have done for this?—I will work harder.—May I rely upon it?—You may (können es).

217.

Have patience, my dear friend, and be not sad; for sadness alters (ändern) nothing, and impatience makes bad worse (ärger).—Be not afraid of your creditors; be sure that they will do you no harm.—You must have patience, though you have no mind for it (dazu); for I also must wait till I (man) am paid what is due to me.—As soon as I have money, I will pay all that you have advanced (auslegen) for me. Do not believe that I have forgotten it, for I think of (denken an* with the accus.) it every day. I am your debtor (der Schuldner), and I shall never deny (leugnen) it.—Do not believe that I have had your gold watch, or that Miss Wilhelmine has had your silver snuff-box; for I saw both in the hands of your sister when we were playing at forfeits (Pfänder spielen).—What a beautiful inkstand you have there! Pray, lend it me.—What do you wish to do with it?—I wish to show it to my sister.—Take it, but take care of it, and do not break it.—Do not fear.—What do you want of (von) my brother?—I want to borrow some money of him.—Borrow some of somebody else.—If he will not lend me any, I will borrow some of somebody else.—You will do well.—Do not wish (for) what you cannot have, but be contented with what Providence (die Vorsehung) has given you, and consider (bedenken*) that there are many men who have not what you have.—Life (das Leben) being short, let us endeavour to make it (es uns) as agreeable (angenehm) as possible. But let us also consider that the abuse (der Mißbrauch) of pleasure (in the plur. in German, Vergnügungen) makes it bitter (bitter).—Have you done your exercises?—I could not do them, because my brother was not at home.—You must not get your exercises done by (von) your brother, but you must do them yourself. (See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

EXERCISES. 218.

What must we do in order to be happy?—Always love and practise virtue (Liebet und übet die — immer aus), and (so) you will be happy both in this and the next life. Since we wish to be happy, let us do good to the poor, and let us have compassion on the unfortunate; let us obey our masters, and never give them any trouble; let us comfort the unfortunate, love our neighbour as ourselves, and not hate those that have offended us; in short (kurz), let us always fulfil our duty, and God will take care of the rest. —My son, in order to be loved, you must (muß man) be laborious and good. Thou art accused (beschuldigen) of having been idle and negligent in thy affairs. Thou knowest, however (jedoch), that thy brother has been punished for (weil) having been naughty. Being lately in town, I received a letter from thy tutor, in which he strongly complained of thee. Do not weep; now go into thy room, learn thy lesson, and be (a) good (boy), otherwise thou wilt get (in the present) nothing for dinner.—I shall be so good, my dear father, that you will certainly (gewiß) be contented with me.—Did the little boy keep his word?—Not quite, for after having said that, he went into his room, took his books, sat down at the table (sich an den Tisch setzen), and fell asleep (einschlafen*). He is a very good boy when he sleeps, said his father, seeing him some time after (darauf).

219.

Are you a judge of cloth?—I am a judge of it.—Will you buy some yards (for) me?—Give me the money, and (so) I shall buy some (for) you.—You will oblige me.—Is that man a judge of cloth?—He is not a good judge of it.—What are you doing there?—I am reading the book (in dem Buche) which you lent me.—You are wrong in always reading it (immer darin zu lesen).—What do you wish me to do?—Draw this landscape; and when you have drawn it, you shall decline some substantives with adjectives and pronouns.—How do you manage to do that?—I manage it so.—Show me how you manage it.—What must I do for my lessons of to-morrow (die morgende Stunde)?—Transcribe your exercises fairly, do three others, and study the next lesson.—How do you manage to get goods without money?—I buy on credit.—How does your sister manage to learn German without a dictionary?—She manages it thus.—She manages it very dexterously.—But how does your brother manage it?—He manages it very awkwardly: he reads, and looks for (auffuchen) the words in the dictionary.—He may learn in this manner (auf diese Weise) twenty years without knowing how to make a single sentence (der Satz).

220.

Why does your sister cast down her eyes?—She casts them down, because she is ashamed of not having done her task.—Let us breakfast in the garden to-day: the weather is so fine, that we ought to take advantage of it (es benützen).—How do you like that coffee?—I like it very much (vortrefflich).—Why do you stoop?—I stoop to pick up the handkerchief which I have dropped.—Why do your sisters hide themselves?—They would not hide themselves, if they did not fear to be seen.—Whom are they afraid of?—They are afraid of their governess (die Erzieherin), who scolded them yesterday, because they had not done their tasks.—An emperor, who was irritated at (aufgebracht über) an astrologer (der Sterndeuter), asked him! “Wretch, what death (welchen Todes) dost thou believe thou wilt die?”—“I shall die of a fever,” (Lesson LXXXV.) replied the astrologer. “Thou liest,” (page 248) said the emperor; “thou wilt die this instant (in diesem Augenblick) a violent (gewaltsam) death.” As he was going to be seized (ergreifen wollen*), he said to the emperor, “Sire (gnädigster Herr), order some one to feel my pulse, and it will be found that I have a fever.” This sally (dieser gute Einfall) saved his life.—Do not judge (richten), you who do not wish to be judged! Why do you perceive the mote (der Splitter) in your brother’s eye, you who do not perceive the beam (der Balken) which is in your own eye?—Would you copy your exercises, if I copied mine?—I would copy them, if you copied yours.—Would your sister have transcribed her letter, if I had transcribed mine?—She would have transcribed it.—Would she have set out, if I had set out?—I cannot tell you what she would have done, if you had set out. (See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

He will have finished his studies in three months. Er wird seine Studien in einem Vierteljahre vollendet haben.

He finished his studies in a year. Er hat seine Studien in einem Jahre vollendet.

EXERCISES. 221.

Have you already seen my son?—I have not seen him yet, how is he?—He is very well; you will not be able to recognise him, for he has grown very tall in a short time.—Why does this man give nothing to the poor?—He is too avaricious (geizig); he does not wish to open his purse for fear of losing his money.—What sort of weather is it?—It is very warm; it is long since we had any rain (es hat lange nicht geregnet); I believe we shall have a storm (ein Gewitter bekommen).—It may be (das kann wohl seyn).—The wind rises (*sich erheben), it thunders already; do you hear it?—Yes, I do hear it, but the storm is still far off (weit entfernt).—Not so far as you think; see how it lightens.—Bless me (mein Gott), what a shower (welch ein entsetzlicher Regen ist das)!—If we go into some place we shall be sheltered from the storm.—Let us go into that cottage then; we shall be sheltered there from the wind and the rain.—I have a great mind to bathe (baden) to-day.—Where will you bathe?—In the river.—Are you not afraid of being drowned?—Oh no! I can swim.—Who taught you (es)?—Last summer I took a few lessons at the swimming-school (die Schwimmschule).—Where shall we go to now? Which road shall we take?—The shortest will be the best.—We have too much sun, and I am still very tired. Let us sit down under the shade of this tree.—Who is that man that is sitting under the tree?—I do not know him.—It seems, he wishes to be alone; for when we offer (*wollen) to approach him, he pretends to be asleep.—He is like your sister; she understands German very well; but when I begin to speak to her, she pretends not to understand me.

222.

Have you seen Mr. Jäger?—I have seen him; he told me that his sisters would be here in a short time, and desired me to tell you so.—When they have arrived, you may give them the gold rings which you have bought; they flatter themselves that you will make them a present of them: for they love you without knowing you personally.—Has my sister already written to you?—She has written to me, I am going to answer her.—Shall I (soll ich) tell her that you are here?—Tell her; but do not tell her, that I am waiting for her impatiently.—Why have you not brought your sister along with you?—Which one?—The one you always bring, the youngest (die jüngste).—She did not wish to go out, because she has the tooth-ache.—I am very sorry for it; for she is a very good girl.—How old is she?—She is nearly fifteen years old.—She is very tall for her age (das Alter).—How old are you?—I am twenty-two.—Is it possible! I thought you were not yet twenty.

223.

Will you drink a cup of (die Tasse) tea?—I thank you, I do not like tea.—Do you like coffee?—I do like it, but I have just drunk some.—Do you not get tired here?—How could I get tired in this agreeable society?—As to me I always want amusement.—If you did as I do, you would not want amusement; for I listen to all those who tell me anything. In this manner I learn (erfahren*) a thousand agreeable things, and I have no time to get tired; but you do nothing of that kind, that is the reason why you want amusement.—I would do every thing like (wie) you, if I had no reason to be sad.—I have heard just now that one of my best friends has shot himself with a pistol, and that one of my wife's best friends has drowned herself.—Where has she drowned herself?—She has drowned herself in the river which is behind her house. Yesterday at four o'clock in the morning she rose without saying a word to any one, leaped out of the window which looks into the garden, and threw (stürzen) herself into the river where she was drowned.—Let us always seek the friendship (die Freundschaft) of the good, and avoid (fliehen*) the society of the wicked; for bad society corrupts (verderben) good manners (die Sitten, fem. plur.).—What sort of weather is it to-day?—It snows continually (noch immer), as it snowed yesterday, and according to all appearances (allem Anscheine nach) will also snow to-morrow.—Let it snow, I should like it to snow still more, and to freeze also, for I am always very well when it is very cold.—

And I am always very well when it is neither cold nor warm—It is too windy (gar zu windig) to-day, and we should do better, if we stayed at home.—Whatever weather it may be, I must go out, for I promised to be with my sister at a quarter past eleven, and I must keep my word. EXERCISES. 226.

What o'clock is it?—It is half-past one.—You say it is half-past one, and by (auf with the dat.) my watch it is but half-past twelve.—It will soon strike two.—Pardon me, it has not yet struck one.—I assure you, it is five-and-twenty minutes past one, for my watch goes very well.—Bless me! how rapidly time passes in your society.—You make me a compliment to which I do not know what to answer.—Have you bought your watch in Paris?—I have not bought it, my uncle has made me a present of it (damit).—What has that woman entrusted you with?—She has entrusted me with a secret of a (von einem) great count who is in a great embarrassment about the marriage of one of his daughters.—Does any one ask her in marriage?—The man who demands her in marriage is a nobleman of the neighbourhood (aus der Nachbarschaft).—Is he rich?—No, he is a poor devil who has not a farthing (der Heller).—You say you have no friends among your schoolfellows (der Mitschüler); but is it not your fault? You have spoken ill of them (von ihnen), and they have not offended you. They have done you good, and nevertheless you have quarrelled with them (page 328). Believe me, he who has no friends deserves (verdienen) to have none.

Dialogue (das Gespräch) between a Tailor and his Journeyman (der Gesell, gen. en).—Charles, have you taken the clothes to the Count Narissi?—Yes, Sir, I have taken them to him.—What did he say?—He said nothing but that (außer daß) he had a great mind to give me a box on the ear (die Ohrfeige), because I had not brought them sooner.—What did you answer him?—Sir, said I, I do not understand that joke: pay me what you owe me; and if you do not do so instantly, I shall take other measures. Scarcely (faum) had I said that, when he put his hand to his sword (nach dem Degen greifen*), and I ran away (die Flucht nehmen*).

At what are you astonished?—I am astonished to find you still in bed.—If you knew how (wie) sick I am, you would not be astonished at it.—Has it already struck twelve?—Yes, madam, it is already half-past twelve.—Is it possible that it is so late?—That is not late, it is still early.—Does your watch go well (recht)?—No, Miss, it goes a quarter of an hour too fast.—And mine goes half an hour too slow.—Perhaps it has stopped.—In fact, you are right.—Is it wound up?—It is wound up, and yet (dennoch) it does not go.—Do you hear, it is striking one o'clock.—Then I will regulate my watch and go home.—Pray (ich bitte), stay a little longer (noch ein wenig)!—I cannot, for we dine precisely at one o'clock (mit dem Schläge eins).—(Adieu), till I see you again.

What is the matter with you, my dear friend? Why do you look so melancholy?—Nothing ails me.—Are you in any trouble (Haben Sie irgend einen Kummer)?—I have nothing, and even less than nothing, for I have not a farthing, and owe a great deal to my creditors. Am I not very unhappy?—When a man is well and has friends he is not unhappy.—Dare I ask you a favour?—What do you wish?—Have the goodness to lend me fifty crowns.—I will lend you them with all my heart, but on condition that you will renounce gambling, and be more economical than you have hitherto been.—I see now, that you are my friend, and I love you too much not to follow your advice.

John!—What is your pleasure, sir?—Bring some wine.—Presently, sir.—Henry!—Madam?—Make the fire.—The maid-servant has made it already.—Bring me some paper, pens and ink. Bring me also some sand (der Streusand) or blotting-paper (das Löschpapier), sealing-wax (der Siegellack) and a light (Licht).—Go and tell my sister not to wait for me, and be back again at twelve o'clock in order to carry my letters to (auf) the post.—Very well, madam. It is a fine house, you will find it easily (leicht).—I thank you, sir.—Does the count N. live here?—Yes, sir, walk in (sich herein bemühen), if you please.—Is the count at home? I wish to have the honour to speak to him.—Yes, sir, he is at home; whom shall I have the honour to announce (melden)?—I am from B., and my name is F.

Which is the shortest way to the arsenal (das Zeughaus)?—Go down this street, and when you come to the bottom, turn to the left and take the cross-way; you will then enter into a rather narrow (enge) street, which will lead you to a great square, where you will see a blind alley.—Through which I must pass?—No, for there is no outlet (der Ausgang). You must leave it on the right, and pass under the arcade which is near it.—And then?—And then you must inquire further.—I am very much obliged to you.—Do not mention it (Es ist nicht der Rede).

Are you able to translate a French letter into German?—I am (es).—Who has (es) thought you?—My German master has enabled me to do it.—You are singing, gentlemen, but it is not a time for singing; you ought to be silent, and to listen to what you are told.—We are at a loss.—What are you at a loss about?—I am going to tell you: it is a question with us how we shall pass our time agreeably.—Play a game at billiards or at chess.—We have proposed joining a hunting party: do you go with (us)?—I cannot, for I have not done my task yet; and if I neglect it, my master will scold me.—Every one according to his liking; if you like staying at home better than going a hunting, we cannot hinder you.—Does Mr. K. go with us?—Perhaps.—I should not like to go with him, for he is too great a talker, excepting that he is an honest man.

What is the matter with you? You look angry.—I have reason to be angry, for there is no means of getting money now.—Have you been at Mr. A.'s?—I have been at his house; but there is no possibility of borrowing any from him. I suspected that he would not lend me any; that is the reason why I did not wish to ask him; and had you not told me to do so, I should not have subjected myself (sich aussetzen) to a refusal (die abschlägige Antwort).

232.

I suspected that you would be thirsty, and that your sister would be hungry; that is the reason why I brought you hither. I am sorry, however, that your mother is not here. I am astonished (es befremdet mich) that you do not drink your coffee.—If I were not sleepy I would drink it.—Sometimes (bald) you are sleepy, sometimes cold, sometimes warm, and sometimes something else is the matter with you (ist Ihnen etwas Anderes). I believe that you think too much about (an) the misfortune that has happened to your friend (fem).—If I did not think about it, who would think about it?—Of whom does your brother think?—He thinks of me; for we always think of each other when we are not together (beisammen).

I have seen six players (der Spieler) to-day, who were all winning at the same time (zu gleicher Zeit).—That cannot be, for a player can only win when another loses.—You would be right, if I were speaking of people that had played at cards or billiards; but I am speaking of flute and violin players (der Flöten- und Violinspieler).—Do you sometimes practise (machen) music?—Very often, for I like it much.—What instrument do you play?—I play the violin, and my sister plays the harpsichord.—My brother, who plays the bass (der Bass), accompanies (begleiten) us, and Miss Stolz sometimes applauds us (Jemandem Beifall zuflatschen).—Does she not also play some musical instrument (das musikalische Instrument)?—She plays the harp (die Harfe), but she is too proud (stolz) to practise music with us.—A very (sehr) poor town went to considerable expense (der beträchtliche Aufwand) in feasts and illuminations (mit Freudenfesten und Erleuchtungen) on the occasion of its prince passing through (bei der Durchreise ihres).—The latter seemed himself astonished (erstaunt) at it.—“It has only done," said a courtier (der Hofmann), "what it owed (to your majesty)." — "That is true," replied (versetzen) another, "but it owes all that it has done." (See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

Fünfter Monat.

HUNDRED AND FIRST LESSON.—Hundert und erste Section.

Either—or.

Entweder — oder. (Lesson LXIII.)

He either has done it, or will still do it. Er hat es entweder gethan, oder wird es noch thun.

Obs. A. It has been noticed in many parts of this work, that certain conjunctions correspond with others that generally follow them. These conjunctions are:

Entweder, is followed by: oder (Lesson LXIII.), either — or.
Je ¹ ,	je, or desto, the—the.
Nicht allein, {	sondern auch (Lesson LXIII.),
Nicht nur, {	not only—but also.
Obgleich, { (Lesson XCIII.)	so—doch, or gleichwohl, or
Ob schon, {	nichts desto weniger, though
Obwohl, {	—nevertheless.
So,	so, however—still.
Sowohl,	als, or als auch (Lesson LXIII.), as well—as.
Weder,	nach (Lessons IX. and LXIII.), neither—nor.
Wenn,	so, if—so.
Wenn gleich, { ²	so—doch, though—yet or
Wenn schon, {	nevertheless.

² Wenn is not only combined with gleich and schon, but also with anders, jedoch, auch, selbst, and nur. Ex. Wenn anders, if other-

Zwar, { aber, or allein or gleich-wohl or jedoch, though—nevertheless, or but.

Prepositions either govern the genitive, or the dative, or the accusative, or finally the dative and accusative.

Die Verhältnißwörter (Präpositionen) regieren entweder den Genitiv, oder den Dativ, oder den Accusativ, oder endlich den Dativ und Accusativ.

The sooner the better.

Je eher, je lieber.

The greater our pleasures, the more we feel how transitory they are.

Je größer unsere Freuden sind, desto mehr empfinden wir ihre Vergänglichkeit.

Obs. B. Desto may be placed in the first member of the phrase, in which case je begins the second. Ex.

A work of art is the more beautiful the more perfect it is.

Ein Kunstwerk ist desto schöner, je vollkommener es ist.

(Sulzer.)

She is not only handsome, but she is rich also.

Sie ist nicht nur schön, sondern auch reich.

Not only his idleness, but also his indiscretion makes him contemptible.

Nicht nur seine Faulheit, sondern auch seine Unbescheidenheit macht ihn verächtlich.

Though this young lady is not very handsome, she is nevertheless very amiable.

Obgleich dieses Fräulein nicht sehr schön ist, so ist sie doch sehr liebenswürdig.

However handsome she may be, still she is not amiable.

So schön sie auch seyn mag, so ist sie doch nicht liebenswürdig.

You as well as your sister.

Sowohl Sie, als Ihre Fräulein Schwester.

She is as handsome as she is amiable and rich.

Sie ist sowohl schön, als liebenswürdig und reich.

They had neither bread, nor meat, nor arms, nor money.

Sie hatten weder Brod, noch Fleisch, noch Waffen, noch Geld.

If he does not pay you for the horse, tell me.

Wenn er Ihnen das Pferd nicht bezahlt, so sagen Sie es mir.

Though I should have money, still I would give him none.

Wenn ich gleich Geld hätte, so gäbe ich ihm doch keins.

wise; wenn jedoch, if however; wenn auch or wenn selbst, if even; wenn nur, if only. All these compound conjunctions must be considered as two separate words, between which the subject and even the case of the verb (when a personal pronoun) may be placed. The same observation applies to the combination of ob with other words. (See Lesson XCIII. Obs. H. and Note 2.)

Indeed I do not know him yet, but he seems to be docile. Zwar kenne ich ihn noch nicht, aber er scheint mir folgsam.
 Though I wrote to him, nevertheless he has not answered me. Ich habe ihm zwar geschrieben, gleichwohl hat er mir nicht geantwortet.

I wish he had not done it. { Ich wünschte, er hätte es nicht gethan.
 { Ich wünschte, daß er es nicht gethan hätte.

Obs. C. The conjunction daß may be omitted; but then the verb immediately follows its subject.

I wish you would go with me. { Ich wollte, Sie gingen mit mir.
 { Ich wollte, daß Sie mit mir gingen.
 I hope that your sister will marry my brother. { Ich hoffe, Ihre Fräulein Schwester wird meinen Bruder heirathen.
 { Ich hoffe, daß Ihre Fräulein Schwester meinen Bruder heirathen wird.
 Suppose we had neither bread, nor wine, nor money. { Gesezt, wir hätten weder Brod, noch Wein, noch Geld.
 { Gesezt, daß wir weder Brod, noch Wein, noch Geld hätten.
 Would to God that all great lords loved peace! { Wollte Gott, alle große Herren liebten den Frieden!
 { Wollte Gott, daß alle große Herren den Frieden liebten!

By virtue of. Kraft (governs the genitive).
 By virtue of his employment (his office) he must act thus. Er muß kraft seines Amtes so handeln.

According to (by virtue of). Vermöge (governs the genit.).
 According to your order I must speak thus. Vermöge Ihres Befehls muß ich so sprechen.

Instead of. Anstatt or statt (governs the genitive).
 He sent his daughter instead of his son. Anstatt seines Sohnes schickte er seine Tochter.
 He has adopted him. † Er hat ihn an Kindes Statt aufgenommen.

3 The word Statt, lieu, place, when, thus separated from an must be considered as a substantive.

Go thither instead of me.	Statt meiner gehe Du hin.
In consequence of (according to).	Laut (governs the genitive).
According to his letter, he ought to arrive here on the 18th of this month.	Laut seines Briefes muß er den 18ten dieses hier eintreffen.
To exclaim.	Ausrufen* (Imperf. rief).
To make uneasy.	Beunruhigen.
To be uneasy (to fret).	Beunruhigt (besorgt) seyn*.
Why do you fret (are you uneasy)?	Warum sind Sie beunruhigt (besorgt)?
I do not fret (am not uneasy).	Ich bin nicht besorgt (beunruhigt).
Compose yourself!	Beruhigen Sie sich!
To alter, to change.	Sich verändern.
That man has altered a great deal since I saw him.	Dieser Mann hat sich sehr verändert, seitdem ich ihn nicht gesehen habe.
To alter a coat,	Einen Rock umändern.
To recommend.	Empfehlen*.
To take leave (to commend one's self).	Sich empfehlen*.
Farewell, adieu!	Ich empfehle mich Ihnen!
I have the honour to bid you adieu.	† Ich habe die Ehre, mich Ihnen zu empfehlen.

Obs. D. This and leben Sie wohl, farewell, is the general salute of the Germans when leaving each other.

Farewell (adieu)!	Leben Sie wohl!
To bid one's friends adieu.	Seinen Freunden Lebewohl sagen.
The recommendation (respects, compliments),	die Empfehlung.
Present my compliments to him (to her).	Machen Sie ihm (ihr) meine Empfehlung.
Remember me to him (to her).
To enjoy.	Genießen* (governs the acc.).
Enjoy all the pleasures that virtue permits.	Genießen Sie alle Vergnügungen, welche die Tugend erlaubt.
The past,	die Vergangenheit, das Vergangene;
the present,	das Gegenwärtige;
the presence,	die Gegenwart;
In his presence.	In seiner Gegenwart.

The future,	das Zukünftige;
the loss,	der Verlust;
the loss of time,	der Zeitverlust.
Not to fail.	Ausrichten, nicht ermangeln.
Pray present my compliments	Ich bitte Sie, Ihrem Fräulein
(my respects) to your sister.	Schwester gütigst meine Empfehlung zu machen.
	Wenn es Ihnen gefällig ist, or
If you please.	simply gefälligst.
	Wenn Sie so gut seyn wollen, or simply gütigst.
I shall not fail.	Ich werde es ausrichten.
	Ich werde nicht ermangeln.

EXERCISES. 233.

I have the honour to wish you a good morning. How do you do?—Very well, at your service (Ihnen aufzuwarten).—And how are they all at home (befindet man sich bei Ihnen zu Hause)?—Tolerably well, thank God (Gott sey Dank). My sister was a little indisposed (unpäßlich), but she is better (wieder hergestellt); she told me to give you her best compliments (sie läßt sich Ihnen bestens empfehlen).—I am glad (es ist mir lieb) to hear that she is well. As for you, you are health itself; you cannot look better (Sie könnten nicht besser aussehen).—I have no time to be ill: my business would not permit me.—Please to sit down (belieben Sie sich niederzulassen), here is a chair.—I will not detain you from your business (von den Geschäften abhalten*); I know that a merchant's time is precious (daß einem Kaufmanne die Zeit kostbar ist).—I have nothing pressing (nichts Eiliges) to do now; my courier is already dispatched (meine Post ist schon abgefertigt).—I shall not stay (sich aufhalten*) any longer. I only wished in passing by (im Vorbeigehen), to inquire about (sich erkundigen nach) your health.—You do me much honour.—It is very fine weather to-day. If you will allow me, I shall have the pleasure of seeing you again this afternoon (nach Tische), and if you have time we will take a little turn together (so gehen wir ein wenig mit einander spazieren).—With the greatest pleasure. In that case I shall wait for you.—I will come for you (Sie abholen) about (gegen) seven o'clock.—Adieu then (also), till I see you again.—I have the honour to bid you adieu.

234.

The loss of time is an irreparable (unerseßlich) loss. A single minute cannot be recovered (wieder erlangen) for all the gold in the world.—It is then of (von) the greatest importance (die Wichtigkeit) to employ well the time, which consists only of minutes (aus Minuten bestehen*) of which we must make good use (die man wohl benutzen muß).—We have but the present; the past is no longer any thing, and the future is uncertain. A great many people (sehr viele Menschen) ruin themselves (sich zu Grunde richten), because they wish to indulge themselves too much (weil sie sich allzu güthlich thun wollen). If most (die meisten) men knew how to content themselves (sich begnügen) with what they have they would be happy, but their greediness (die Gierigkeit) very often makes them unhappy. In order to be happy, we must (muß man) forget the past, not trouble ourselves about (sich bekümmern um) the future, and enjoy the present.—I was very dejected (traurig) when my cousin came to me. "What is the matter with you?" he asked me. "Oh (ach)! my dear cousin," replied I, "in losing that money, I have lost every thing." "Do not fret," said he to me, "for I have found your money."

235.

As soon as Mr. Flausen sees me he begins to speak French, in order to practise it (um sich zu üben), and overwhelms me with politeness (mit Höflichkeiten überhäufen), so that I often do not know what to answer (was ich ihm antworten soll). His brothers do the same (es ebenso machen). However, they are very good people; they are not only rich and amiable, but they are also generous (großmüthig) and charitable (wohlthätig). They love me sincerely (aufrichtig), therefore I love them also, and consequently (folglich) shall never say anything to their disadvantage (Nachtheiliges von ihnen). I should love them still more, if they did not make so much ceremony (die Umstände); but every one has his faults (der Fehler), and mine is to speak too much of their ceremonies.

Have the enemies surrendered (sich ergeben*)?—They have not surrendered, for they did not prefer life to death; and though they had neither bread, nor water, nor arms, nor money, they determined to die rather than surrender.—Why are you so sad?—You do not know what makes me uneasy, my dear friend (fem.).—Tell me, for I assure you that I share (theilen) your sufferings (das Leiden) as well as (eben sowohl als) your pleasures (die Freude).—Though I am sure that you partake of (Theil an einer Sache nehmen*) my sufferings, I cannot, however, tell you now (in diesem Augenblick) what makes me uneasy; but I will tell you when an opportunity offers (gelegentlich oder bei Gelegenheit). Let us speak of something else now. What do you think of the man who spoke to us yesterday at the concert?—He is a man of much understanding (ein sehr verständiger Mann), and not at all wrapt up in his merits (von seinen Verdiensten eingenommen seyn*). But why do you ask me that?—To speak of something.—It is said (man sagt): contentment surpasses riches (Zufriedenheit geht über Reichtum); let us then always be content. Let us share with each other (mit einander theilen) what we have, and live all our life-time (unser ganzes Leben) inseparable (unzer trennlich) friends. You will always be welcome (willkommen) at my house, and I hope to be equally so (es auch) at yours.—If I saw you happy I should be equally so, and we should be more contented than the greatest princes, who are not always so. We shall be happy, when we shall be perfectly (vollkommen) contented with what we have; and if we do our duty as we ought (gehörig), God will take care of the rest (so wird der liebe Gott für das Uebrige sorgen). The past being no longer any thing, let us not be uneasy about the future, and enjoy the present.

Behold, ladies, those beautiful (herrlich) flowers, with their colours so fresh and bright (mit ihren so frischen und glänzenden Farben); they drink nothing but water. The white lily has the colour of innocence (die Unschuld); the violet indicates gentleness (die Sanftmuth); you may (man kann) see it in Louisa's eyes. The forget-me-not (das Vergißmeinnicht) has the colour of heaven, our future (künftig) dwelling (die Wohnung, repeat the genitive), and the rose (die Rose), the queen of flowers, is the emblem (das Sinnbild) of beauty (die Schönheit) and of joy (die Freude). You (man) see all that personified (verwirklicht) in seeing the beautiful Amelia (Amalie).—How beautiful is the fresh verdure (das junge frische Grün)! It is salutary (wohl thun *) to our eyes, and has the colour of hope (die Hoffnung), our most faithful (treu, repeat the genitive) friend (fem.), who never deserts (verlassen *) us, not even in death (im Tode).—One word more, my dear friend.—What is your pleasure?—I forgot to tell you to present my compliments to your mother. Tell her, if you please, that I regret (bedauern) not having been at home when lately she honoured (beehren) me with her visit.—I thank you for her (ihretwegen), I shall not fail.—Farewell then. (See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

HUNDRED AND SECOND LESSON.—Hundert und zweite Section.

OF THE ADVERB.

We have hitherto shown, by numerous examples for the practice of learners, the place which the adverb is to occupy in a sentence. Let us now determine the place of the adverb by standard rules.

As the adverb modifies the signification of the verb, it should always be near it, particularly the negative nicht, which, if misplaced, would entirely change the meaning of a phrase. Ex.

I have not the honour to know Ich habe nicht die Ehre, Sie zu kennen.

And :

I have the honour not to know Ich habe die Ehre, Sie nicht zu kennen.

RULES.

1st. The adverb precedes the adjective, the meaning of which it modifies. Ex. Ein wahrhaft guter Mann, a truly good man; eine wirklich gute Gelegenheit, a truly good opportunity; ein sehr artiges Kind, a very good child.

2d, It follows the imperative and precedes the infinitive to which it relates. Ex. Reden Sie laut, speak aloud; sprechen Sie nicht so schnell, do not speak so quickly; schreiben Sie langsam, so werden Sie schön schreiben, write slowly, and you will write well; ich bitte Sie, nicht zu schnell zu schreiben, pray, do not write too fast.

3d, It follows the simple tense of the verb, but precedes it when the sentence depends on a conjunction. Ex. Ich sage es Ihnen frei heraus, I tell it you frankly; ich verstehe Sie nicht, weil Sie zu schnell sprechen, I do not understand you, because you speak too fast (Lesson LXXI.); er kommt um zehn Uhr Morgens¹ von da zurück, he returns from there at ten o'clock in the morning (Lesson XLIX.); wenn Sie langsam redeten, so würde ich Sie verstehen, if you spoke slowly I should understand you.

4th, In compound tenses it precedes the past participle. Ex. Er hätte laut gelesen, wenn Sie ihn öfter dazu angehalten hätten, he would have read aloud, if you had oftener engaged him to do so; ich bin schon da gewesen, I have already been there (Lesson XLIII.); ich habe ihn vorgestern gesehen, I saw him the day before yesterday.

5th, It follows the case of the verb, but precedes it when it is a partitive, or joined to an indefinite article. Ex. Ich sah ihn gestern, I saw him yesterday; er hat es mir soeben gegeben, he has just now given it me; ich will ihn Ihnen morgen schicken, I will send it you to-morrow (Lesson XXX.); hast Du manchmal Halstücher ausbessern lassen? hast thou sometimes had cravats mended? ich habe manchmal welche ausbessern lassen, I have sometimes had some mended (Lesson XLVI.); haben Sie je einen Elephanten gesehen? have you ever seen an elephant? ich habe nie einen gesehen, I have never seen one; er hatte diesen Morgen kein Geld, he had no money this morning; er trägt gern einen großen Hut, he likes to wear a large hat.

6th, It precedes the case of the verb, when governed by a preposition. Ex. Ich will ihn morgen zu Ihnen schicken, I will send him to you to-morrow (Lesson XXX.); sind Sie lange bei meinem Vater geblieben? have you stayed long with my father (Lesson XLIX.)? ich bin eine Stunde lang bei ihm geblieben, I have stayed with him a full hour (Lessons XLIX. and L.); wir sprachen soeben von Ihnen, we have just spoken of you; können Sie heute zu mir kommen? can you come to me to-day?

PLACE OF THE NEGATIVE nicht.

RULES.

1st, It likewise follows the simple tense and the case of the verb when there is one, but precedes the infinitive and the past participle. Ex. Ich verstehe diesen Mann nicht, I do not understand that man; der Mann hat den Koffer nicht, the man has not the trunk; der junge Mensch hat ihn nicht, the young man has it not (Lesson XI.); Sie essen nicht, you do not eat; ich habe ihn nicht gehabt, I have not had it (Lesson XLIV.); er will nicht arbeiten, he does not wish to work; ich habe ihn nicht gesehen, I have not seen him; ich habe sie nicht gekannt, I have not known them (Lesson XLVI.); ich höre Sie, aber verstehe Sie nicht, I hear, but do not understand you (Lesson XLVIII.); ich gebe es ihm nicht, I do not give it him; sie lieben sich nicht, they do not love each other; ich schmeichle mir nicht, I do not flatter myself; sie sehen einander nicht ähnlich, they do not resemble each other. (Lesson LXXXVIII.)

Obs. A. When the negative sentence is preceded or followed by an affirmative one, nicht precedes the case of the verb; but if the affirmative sentence contains another nominative with aber, the negative follows the general rule. Ex. Ich habe nicht diesen, sondern jenen, I have not the latter, but the former; er hat dieses, aber nicht jenes, he has the latter, but not the former (Lesson XIII.); ich habe Ihren Hut nicht, aber mein Bruder hat ihn, it is not I who have your hat, but my brother.

Obs. B. A negative, not depending on the nominative of the verb, precedes the word the sense of which it modifies. Ex. Er arbeitet den ganzen Tag nicht, he does not work during the whole day; and man arbeitet nicht den ganzen Tag, one does not work all day.

2d, The case of the verb being governed by a preposition, nicht like other adverbs (Rule 6, above) precedes it. Ex. Er ist nicht zu Hause, he is not at home (Lesson XXVIII.); ich fürchte mich nicht vor ihm, I do not fear him (Lesson LXXII.).

3d, It follows the adverbs of time, but precedes all other adverbs, as adverbs of quality, of place, &c. Ex. Ich arbeite heute nicht, I do not work to-day; er schreibt nicht schön, he does not write well; er ist nicht da, he is not there; ich gehe nicht dahin, I do not go thither.

4th, It follows the adverb noch. Ex. Ich bin noch nicht da gewesen. I have not yet been there; ich bin noch nicht bei ihm gewesen, I have not yet been at his house (Lesson XLIII.). The following sentences, however, must be distinguished from each other: wollen Sie noch nicht Etwas essen? will you not eat anything yet? and wollen Sie nicht noch Etwas essen? will you not eat anything more? In the latter sentence nicht modifies the signification of noch Etwas.

Obs. C. The negative precedes the word auch, when the sentence is both interrogative and negative, but follows it when the sentence is simply negative. Ex.

Bin ich nicht auch da gewesen? have I not also been there? und ich auch nicht, nor I neither; und er auch nicht, nor he neither.

To pretend to be ill.

This boy always pretends to be ill; but when we sit down to dinner he is generally well again.

To be said.

He is said to have suffered shipwreck near the coast of Sicily. Out of all his property, he is said to have saved nothing but an empty portmanteau.

} † Sich für krank ausgeben*.
† Sagen, man sey krank.

Dieser Knabe gibt sich immer für krank aus; allein wenn man zu Tisch geht, so ist er gewöhnlich wieder hergestellt (wieder gesund).

† Sollen*.

† Er soll an der Küste von Sicilien Schiffbruch gelitten haben.
† Er soll von allen seinen Habseligkeiten Nichts als einen leeren Reisefack gerettet haben.

OF TENSES.

1st, The present tense is frequently substituted for the imperfect, to enliven the narrative and excite attention. This is sometimes done in English, but not so often as in German. Ex.

Imagine my horror! Yesterday I went with my child to the gate of the town, to see the ascent of the balloon. We were soon surrounded by the crowd, when suddenly I lost sight of my child, and it was not till an hour afterwards that I found it, trampled under foot, and nearly crushed to death.

Denkt Euch meinen Schrecken! Ich gehe gestern mit meinem Kinde bei dem Aufsteigen des Luftballs vor das Thor, komme mit ihm in's Gedränge, verliere es aus meinen Augen, und finde es erst nach einer Stunde beinahe zerdrückt und zertreten wieder (for: ich ging, kam, verlor and fand).

I now ascend the mountain; a deep valley unfolds itself to my delighted eyes; a limpid stream murmurs among the verdant shrubs; sheep are grazing at my feet, and I behold the last rays of the setting sun breaking through the deep foliage of the distant wood.

Jetzt erklimme ich den Berg; ein tiefes Thal eröffnet sich meinem forschenden Auge; zwischen zarren Gebüschern rieselt ein klarer Bach; zu meinen Füßen weiden Lämmer, und durch den fernen Wald brechen sich die letzten Strahlen der sinkenden Sonne.

2d, The prēsent tense is employed for the future, when that time is indicated by another word in the sentence. Ex.

We leave to-morrow for Berlin, Morgen reisen wir nach Berlin;
but I shall be back within a week, in acht Tagen komme ich aber and I shall then certainly come to see you. wieder, und dann besuche ich Dich gewiß (for werden wir reisen, werde ich wieder kommen &c.).

I shall be back in a moment. Ich komme gleich wieder.

We scale the castle this very night, Dies Schloß ersteigen wir in dieser Nacht;

I have the keys, we kill Der Schlüssel bin ich mächtig.
Wir ermorden

The guards, and deliver thee Die Hüter, reißen Dich aus Deiner from thy prison. Kammer.

(Schiller's Maria Stuart.)

1st, The imperfect has already been touched upon in Lesson LIX. It is the historical tense of the Germans. Ex.

Scipio Africanus was in the habit of saying, he never was less idle than when he had nothing to do; and in fact his busiest time was that which he spent in solitude. For it was there he meditated over his great enterprizes and his future deeds. In the bosom of retirement, he traced plans for the happiness of his country; and there, far from the intercourse of his fellow-citizens, he devoted his thoughts to the promotion of their welfare. Scipio, der Afrikaner, sagte, er wäre nie weniger ohne Beschäftigung, als wenn er Nichts zu thun hätte. Wirklich war er auch nie mehr beschäftigt, als in der Einsamkeit; denn hier sann er seinen wichtigen Unternehmungen und Geschäften nach; hier, im Schooße der Ruhe, entwarf er Pläne zum Wohl seines Vaterlandes, und hier, entfernt aus dem Kreise seiner Mitbürger, unterhielt er sich einzig und allein mit dem Glücke derselben.

2d, It is used to narrate an action or event of which the narrator was an eye-witness, or to express an action in reference to another which was either simultaneous with, or antecedent to it. (Lesson LIX.)

Yesterday a child was drowned Gestern ertrank ein Kind, als ich while I was on the bridge. auf der Brücke stand.

He granted my request, because Er gewährte meine Bitte, weil er he found it just. sie gerecht fand.
 I was playing with my pupil, Ich spielte mit meinem Zöglinge, when the news was brought als man mir die Nachricht brachte.
 to me.

1st, The perfect tense is used to express an action or event as perfectly ended without any reference to another circumstance, and when the narrator was not an eye-witness of it. Ex.

Were you yesterday at the concert? Sind Sie gestern im Concert gewesen?
 Has the army been beaten? Ist die Armee geschlagen worden?
 Has anybody been drowned? Ist Jemand ertrunken?
 Were you ever in Vienna? Sind Sie je in Wien gewesen?

2d, The imperfect may even be used when the narrator has not witnessed the event, but then he must take care to add to his narrative a phrase like : sagte er, he said; sagt man, it is said, &c. Ex.

They say, that there was the day before yesterday a great feast in the town. Vorgestern, sagt man, war ein großes Fest in der Stadt.

They say there was a battle on the 25th of last month. Den fünf und zwanzigsten vorigen Monats, heißt es, fiel eine Schlacht vor.

Obs. D. We have already seen (Lesson XXXVI.) that we cannot say with the English, I am writing, I do write; both of which must be expressed by the only present ich schreibe, I write; nor, I was writing, I did write, both of which must be expressed by the only imperfect ich schrieb, I wrote. (Lesson LIX.) Expressions such as the following : When you come to learn, he is to write, to go, I am to have it, &c., cannot be translated literally into German. In such cases we use the future when mere futurity, and the verb sollen when necessity or a wish is to be expressed. Ex.

When you come to learn French. Wann Sie Französisch lernen werden.

He is to write. Er wird schreiben.
 Am I to go thither? Soll ich hingehen?

He is to go thither.	Er soll hingehen.
Am I to have this book?	Soll ich dieses Buch haben?
Am I to give you a pen?	Soll ich Ihnen eine Feder geben?
I was to speak for them all.	Ich sollte für Alle sprechen.
He was to arrive on the 20th.	Er sollte den 20sten ankommen.

Obs. E. At the end of a phrase we sometimes omit the auxiliary of the perfect and pluperfect tenses, when the phrase that follows it begins with another auxiliary. Ex.

Though I have never been in Paris, I am nevertheless acquainted with all that is going on there.	Ob ich gleich nie zu Paris gewesen bin, bin ich doch von Allem unterrichtet, was daselbst vorgeht; or, Ob ich gleich niemals zu Paris gewesen, so bin ich doch von Allem unterrichtet, was daselbst vorgeht.
As he did not answer me, I wrote to him no more.
The enemy having been beaten, it is to be hoped that the war will be at an end.	Da er mir nicht geantwortet (hat), habe ich ihm nicht mehr geschrieben.
	Nachdem der Feind geschlagen worden (ist), ist zu hoffen, daß der Krieg geendet seyn wird.

EXERCISES. 238.

Have you seen your niece?—Yes; she is a very good girl, who writes well, and speaks German still better: therefore she is honoured and loved by every one.—And her brother, what is he doing?—Do not speak to me of him, he is a naughty (böse) boy, who writes always badly, and speaks German still worse: he is therefore loved by nobody. He is very fond of dainties (der gute Bissen); but he does not like books. Sometimes he goes to bed at broad day-light (bei hellem Tage), and pretends to be ill; but when we sit down to dinner, he is generally better again. He is to study physic (die Arzneikunst); but he has not the slightest inclination for it (gar keine Lust dazu).—He is almost always talking of his dogs, which he loves passionately (leidenschaftlich).—His father is extremely (außerordentlich) sorry for it. The young simpleton (der Blödsinnige) said lately to his sister: "I shall enlist (Soldat werden)* oder sich anwerben lassen*) as soon as peace is proclaimed (öffentlich bekannt machen oder publiciren)."

239.

My dear father and my dear mother dined yesterday with some friends at (in, dat.) the King of Spain (von Spanien).—Why do you always speak French, and never German?—Because I am too bashful.—You are joking; is a Frenchman ever bashful?—I have (a) keen appetite: give me something good to eat.—Have you any money?—No, sir.—Then I have nothing to eat for you.—Will you not let me have some on credit? I pledge (verpfänden) my honour.—That is too little.—What, sir!

My dear friend, lend me a ducat (der Ducat, gen. en).—Here are two instead of one.—How much I am obliged to you! I am always glad when I see you, and I find my happiness in yours.—Is this house to be sold?—Do you wish to buy it?—Why not?—Why does your sister not speak?—She would speak, if she were not always so absent (zerstreut).—I like pretty anecdotes (die Anekdote); they season (würzen) conversation (die Unterhaltung) and amuse (belustigen) every body. Pray, relate me some.—Look, if you please, at page 490 of the book (in dem Buche) which I lent you, and (so) you will find some.—To-morrow I shall set out for Hanau; but in a fortnight (in vierzehn Tagen) I shall be back again, and then I shall come to see you and your family.—Where is your sister at present?—She is in Berlin, and my brother is in Leipsic.—This little woman is said to be going to marry the counsellor N., your friend; is it true?—I have not heard of it.—What news is there of our great army?—It is said to be lying (stehen*) between the Rhine and the Weser.—All that the courier told me seeming very probable (wahrscheinlich), I went home immediately, wrote some letters, and departed for Paris. (See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

Next to (after).

Next to you I like him best.

Together with (besides, including).

He lost the ducat together with the crowns, sold the garden including the house.

If I were now to question you as I used to do at the beginning of our lessons, what would you answer?

We found these questions at first rather ridiculous; but full of confidence in your method, we answered as well as the small quantity of words and rules we then possessed allowed us.

Wir fanden anfangs die Fragen etwas lächerlich; allein voll Vertrauen auf Ihre Lehrart, beantworteten wir diefelben, fo gut es uns der kleine Vorrath von Wörtern und Regeln (Principien), den wir damals hatten, geftattete (erlaubte).

Wir haben bald gemerkt, daß diefe Fragen darauf berechnet waren, uns durch die widerfprechenden rules, and to exercise us in conversation, by the contradictory answers we were obliged to make.

We can now almost keep up a conversation in German.

EXERCISES. 240.

Will you drink a cup of coffee?—I thank you, I do not like coffee.—Then you will drink a glass of wine?—I have just drunk some. Let us take a walk.—Willingly; but where shall we go to?—Come with me into my aunt's garden; we shall there find a very agreeable society.—I believe it (daß glaube ich gern); but the question is whether this agreeable society will admit me.—You are welcome every where.—What ails you, my friend?—How do you like (wie schmeckt Ihnen) that wine?—I like it very well (herrlich); but I have drunk enough (zur Genüge oder genug) of it.—Drink one more.—No, too much is unwholesome (ungesund); I know my constitution (die Natur).—Do not fall.—What is the matter with you?—I do not know; but my head is giddy; I think I am fainting.—I think so also, for you look almost like a dead person.—What countryman are you?—I am a Frenchman.—You speak German so well, that I took you for a German by birth.—

¹ Erkenntlichkeit is derived from erkennen, to acknowledge. Dankbarkeit expresses both gratitude and acknowledgment.

You are jesting.—Pardon me, I do not jest at all.—How long have you been in Germany?—A few days.—In earnest?—You doubt it, perhaps, because I speak German; I knew it before I came to Germany.—How did you learn it so well?—I did like the prudent starling (der Staar).

Tell me, why are you always on bad terms with your wife (die Frau)? and why do you engage in unprofitable trades? It costs so much trouble (Es kostet so viel Mühe) to get an employment (bis man ein—bekommt), and you have a good one, and neglect it (es hintansetzen oder vernachlässigen). Do you not think of the future?—Now allow me to speak also (jetzt lassen Sie mich auch reden). All you have just said seems reasonable, but it is not my fault (es ist nicht meine Schuld), if I have lost my reputation; it is that of my wife (meine Frau ist Schuld daran): she has sold my finest clothes, my rings, and my gold watch. I am full of debts (voll Schulden seyn*), and I do not know, what to do (was ich anfangen oder thun soll).—I will not excuse (entschuldigen) your wife; but I know that you have also contributed (beitragen*) to your ruin (das Verderben). Women are generally good when they are left so.

241. DIALOGUE.

The Master. If I were now to ask you such questions as I did at the beginning of our lessons, (viz.) Have you the hat which my brother has? am I hungry? has he the tree of my brother's garden? &c., what would you answer?

The Pupils. We are obliged (gezwungen) to confess that we found those questions at first rather ridiculous; but full of confidence in your method, we answered as well as the small quantity of words and rules we then possessed allowed us. We were, in fact, not long in finding out that these questions were calculated to ground us in the rules, and to exercise us in conversation, by the contradictory answers we were obliged to make. But now that we can almost keep up a conversation in the energetic language which you teach us, we should answer: It is impossible that we should have the same hat which your brother has, for two persons cannot have one and the same thing. To (auf with accus.) the second question we should answer, that it is impossible for us to know whether you are hungry or not. As to the last, we should say: that there is more than one tree in a garden; and in telling us that he has the tree of the garden, the phrase does not seem to us logically correct. At all events, we should be ungrateful, if we allowed such an opportunity to escape, without expressing our liveliest gratitude to you for the trouble you have taken in arranging those wise combinations (fluge Wege einschlagen* oder Combinationen machen), to ground us almost imperceptibly (beinahe unmerklich) in the rules, and exercise us in the conversation of a language which, taught in any other way, presents (darbieten*) to foreigners, and even to natives, almost insurmountable difficulties. (See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

EXERCISES. 242.

Why do you hide yourself?—I am obliged to hide myself, for it is all over with me, if my father hears that I have taken to flight; but there was no other means (kein anderes Mittel übrig oder nicht anders möglich seyn*) to avoid death, with which I was threatened.—You have been very wrong in leaving (verlassen*) your regiment, and your father will be very angry (sehr böse oder zornig seyn*) when he hears of it, I warrant you.—But must one not be a fool to remain in a place bombarded by Hungarians?—The deuce take the Hungarians, who give no quarter!—They have beaten and robbed (ausplündern) me, and (never) in my life have I done them any harm.—So goes the world, the innocent very often suffer for the guilty.—Did you know Mr. Zweifel?—I did know him, for he often worked for our house.—One of my friends has just told me that he has drowned himself, and that his wife has blown out her brains with a pistol. (Lesson XCVII.) I can hardly believe it; for the man whom you are speaking of was always a jovial companion, and good companions do not drown themselves.—His wife is even said to have written on the table before she killed herself: "Who hazards gains; I have nothing more to lose, having lost my good husband. I am disgusted with this world, where there is nothing constant (beständig) except (als) inconstancy (die Unbeständigkeit).“

243.

Will you be my guest?—I thank you; a friend of mine has invited me to dinner: he has ordered my favourite dish.—What dish is it?—It is milk-meat.—As for me (was mich anbelaugt), I do not like milk-meat; there is nothing like a good piece of roast beef or veal (Rinds- oder Kalbsbraten).—What has become of your youngest brother?—He has suffered shipwreck in going to America.—You must give me an account of that (erzählen Sie mir doch das).—Very willingly. Being on the open sea, a great storm arose. The lightning struck the ship and set it on fire. The crew jumped into the sea to save themselves by swimming. My brother knew not what to do, having never learnt to swim. He reflected in vain; he found no means to save his life. He was struck with fright when he saw that the fire was gaining on all sides. He hesitated no longer, and jumped into the sea.—Well (nun), what has become of him?—I do not know, having not heard of him yet.—But who told you all that?—My nephew, who was there, and who saved himself.—As you are talking of your nephew (da Sie gerade von Ihrem Neffen sprechen), where is he at present?—He is in Italy.—Is it long since you heard from him?—I have received a letter from him to-day.—What does he write to you?—He writes to me that he is going to marry a young woman who brings (zubringen*) him a hundred thousand crowns.—Is she handsome?—Handsome as an angel; she is a master-piece of nature. Her physiognomy is mild and full of expression; her eyes are the finest in (von) the world, and her mouth is charming (allerliebste). She is neither too tall nor too short: her shape is slender; all her actions are full of grace, and her manners very engaging. Her look inspires respect and admiration. She has also a great deal of wit (der Verstand); she speaks several languages, dances uncommonly well, and sings ravishingly. My nephew finds in her but one defect (der Fehler).—And what is that defect?—She is affected (macht Ansprüche).—There is nothing perfect in the world. How happy you are (was sind Sie so glücklich)! you are rich, you have a good wife, pretty children, a fine house, and all you wish (for).—Not all, my friend.—What do you desire more?—Contentment; for you know that he only is happy who is contented. (See end of Lesson XXXVI.)

HUNDRED AND FIFTH LESSON.—Hundert und fünfte Section.

GENERAL REMARKS ON GERMAN CONSTRUCTION.

The fundamental principle of German construction is this; the word which, after the subject, expresses the principal idea, is always placed after those words which only express accessory ideas. It has the advantage of attracting and of keeping up and increasing the attention to the end of the phrase.

The word which least defines the subject is placed at the beginning of the sentence, then come those words which define it in a higher degree, so that the word which most determines the meaning of the phrase is at the end.

According to this we place the words in the following order :

1st, The adverb of negation nicht, when it relates to the verb of the subject. Ex. Sein Vater beantwortet meinen Brief nicht, his father does not answer my letter.

1

2nd, The other adverbs relating to the verb of the subject. Ex. Sie schreiben Ihren Brief nicht gut, you do not write your letter well.

1 2

3rd, The preposition with the case it governs, or in its stead the adverbs of place, da, hier, and their compounds, daher, dahin, as well as the demonstrative adverbs compounded of da and hier, as damit, davon, hiervon, darauf, darüber, &c. Ex. Er antwortete nicht¹

²höflich³ auf meinen Brief, he did not answer my letter ¹politely. Er antwortete nicht² schnell³ darauf, he did not answer it quickly.

Obs. When the verb of the subject has several cases with their prepositions, that which defines it the most exactly follows all the others, the determination of time always preceding that of place. Ex. Er trat wegen seiner Unschuld mit fröhlichem Gesichte vor das Gericht (which defines most exactly), on account of his innocence he appeared before his judges with a joyful countenance. Der Gefühllose blieb an diesem Tage (time), auf der schönsten Flur (place), bei aller Schönheit der reizenden Natur (place) dennoch ohne alle Empfindung (which defines most exactly), the insensible man remained on that day without the least emotion, though in the most beautiful field and surrounded by all the beauty of charming nature.

4th, The predicate of the subject. Ex. Ich bin nicht¹ ²immer³ mit seiner Antwort zufrieden⁴, I am not always satisfied with his answer.

5th, The separable particles of compound verbs, as well as all those words which are considered as separable particles, inasmuch as they complete the sense of the verb (Obs. A, Lesson LXIX.), as: auswendig lernen, to learn by heart; in Acht nehmen*, to take care; zu Mittag essen*, to dine, &c. Ex. Warum ging¹
²er nicht³ öfter⁴ mit Ihnen aus⁵? why did he not go out with you oftener?

6th, The verb in the infinitive. Ex. Er kann Ihnen¹ ²nicht² immer² schnell³ auf Ihren Brief antworten⁶, he cannot always answer your letter quickly.

7th, The past participle or the infinitive, when they form with the auxiliary a compound tense of the verb.

Ex. Er hat mir nicht immer höflich darauf geantwortet, he has not always answered it politely. Er wird Ihnen 1 2 2 3 7
nicht immer so höflich auf Ihren Brief antworten.

* * These remarks apply to the natural order of ideas; but the German language is so much subject to inversions, that we must sometimes deviate from them, according to the stress which we wish to put on certain words, or the strength and importance we wish to give them in the sentence. See the following

RECAPITULATION OF THE RULES OF SYNTAX OR CONSTRUCTION.

1st, When the adjective which precedes the noun is accompanied by some words that relate to, or define it, they are placed immediately before it. Ex. Eine gegen Jedermann höfliche Frau, a woman polite towards everybody. Ihr Sie herzlich liebendes Kind, your child that loves you from all his heart. (Lesson XCV.)

2nd, Personal pronouns, when not in the nominative, as well as reflective pronouns (Lesson LXXII.), are placed after the verb. Ex. Ich liebe Dich, I love thee. Er liebt mich, he loves me. Ich wünsche Ihnen einen guten Morgen, I wish you a good morning. Meine Schwester befindet sich wohl, my sister is well.

Obs. A. When the accusative is a personal pronoun, it precedes the dative, if not, it follows it. Ex. Geben Sie meinem Bruder das Buch? do you give the book to my brother? Ich gebe es ihm, I do give it to him. Machen Sie Ihrer Frau Gemahlin meine Empfehlung, present my compliments to your lady. Ich gab es dem Vater, I gave it to the father. (Lesson XXX.) But if we wish to put a particular stress on the dative, we must place it after the accusative. Ex. Er erzählte die ganze Geschichte seiner Frau, he told his wife the whole history. Here the whole strength of the sentence falls on the words seiner Frau.

Obs. B. When the case of the verb is a genitive, it is always preceded by the accusative, whether a personal pronoun or not. Ex. Ich versichere Sie meiner Hochachtung, I assure you of my esteem. Man hat den Gefangenen des Verbrechens überwiesen, the prisoner has been convicted of the crime. (Lesson LXVI.)

3rd, The infinitive and past participle are always preceded by their cases, or in other words, the infinitive and past participle always stand at the end of the sentence. Ex. Ich werde morgen auf's Land gehen, I shall go into the country to-morrow. Er ist gestern dahin gegangen, he went thither yesterday. Ich werde Ihnen das Buch geben, I shall give you the book. Er hat es mir gesagt, he has told it me. (Lessons XXVI. and XLIV.)

Obs. A. When two or several infinitives, two past participles, or a past participle and an infinitive depend on each other, the first in English becomes the last in German. Ex. Sie können ihn sprechen hören, you may ² ¹ ¹ ² ³

 hear him speak; ich werde heute nicht spazieren gehen können, I shall not be able to go a walking to-day; sein
¹ ² ² ¹
 Haus ist verkauft worden, his house has been sold. (Lesson LXXIII.)

Obs. B. The two infinitives or participles, &c., not depending on each other, follow the English construction. Ex. Man muß Gott lieben und verehren, we must ¹ ²

 love and honour God; sie wird geliebt und gelobt, she is ¹ ²
 loved and praised. (Lesson LXXIII.)

4th, The verb of the subject, in compound tenses the auxiliary, is removed to the end when the phrase begins, (a) with a conjunction, as : als, da, ob, daß, weil, wenn¹, &c., (b) with a relative pronoun, as : der, welcher, wer, meaning he who, and was, that which;

¹ For conjunctions which do not remove the verb to the end of the phrase, see Lesson LXIII.

(c) after the relative adverb wo, and all the prepositions combined with it, as: wodurch, womit, wovon, &c. Ex. Als ich sie zum ersten Male sah, when I saw her for the first time. Ich wünschte, daß er mitginge, I wish he would go with us. Er liebt Sie nicht, weil Sie ihn beleidigt haben, he does not love you, because you have offended him. Warten Sie, bis ich mein Geld bekomme, wait till I receive my money. Wenn ich es gewußt hätte, had I known that. Lesen Sie das Buch, welches ich Ihnen geliehen habe? do you read the book which I have lent you? Wissen Sie nicht, wo er gewesen ist? do you not know where he has been? Können Sie mir nicht sagen, was aus ihm geworden ist? can you not tell me what has become of him? Das ist es eben, wodurch er einen so großen Schaden erlitten hat, wovon er sich schwerlich wieder erholen wird, it is precisely that by which he has sustained such a loss, as he will find it difficult to recover from. (Lesson XLIX.)

Obs. A. When a preposition in which the verb is required at the end of the sentence contains one of the auxiliaries seyn and werden, or one of the verbs dürfen, können, lassen, mögen, müssen, sollen, wollen, joined to an infinitive, these take their place immediately after the infinitive. Ex. Wenn Sie das Pferd kaufen wollen, if you wish to buy the horse. (Lesson LXXI.) But when not governed by a conjunctive word, they stand before the infinitive and its case. Ex. Wollen Sie das Pferd kaufen? Do you wish to buy the horse?

Obs. B. Incidental or explanatory propositions are placed immediately after the word which they define, or at the end of the principal proposition. Ex. Es ist schwer, einen Feind, welcher wachsam ist, zu überfallen, or: es ist schwer, einen Feind zu überfallen, welcher wachsam ist, it is difficult to surprise an enemy who is vigilant. (Lesson LXII.)

Obs. C. When there are at the end of a sentence two infinitives, two past participles, or an infinitive and a past participle, the verb which the conjunction requires at the end, may stand either before or after them. Ex. Wenn Sie Ihre Section werden studirt haben, or: studirt haben werden, so werde ich Ihnen sagen, was Sie zu thun haben, when you have studied your lesson, I shall tell you what you have to do. (Lesson LXXXIV.)

ON THE TRANSPOSITION OF THE SUBJECT AFTER ITS VERB.

5th, Whenever a sentence begins with any other word than the subject or nominative, its order is inverted, and in all inversions the subject stands after the verb in simple, and after the auxiliary in compound tenses. (Lesson LX.) From this rule must be excepted conjunctive words which serve to unite sentences. They leave the subject in its place and remove the verb to the end of the sentence. (Lesson XLIX. and Rule 4th above).

A German sentence may begin with an adverb, a preposition and its case, a case, an adjective, a participle or an infinitive. Ex. Heute gehe ich nicht aus, I do not go out to-day; morgen werde ich Sie besuchen, to-morrow I shall come to see you; im Anfange schuf Gott Himmel und Erde, in the beginning God made heaven and earth. Von seinen Kindern sprach er, he spoke of his children. Bei Ihnen habe ich mein Buch vergessen, I forgot my book at your house. Den Menschen macht sein Wille groß und klein (Schiller), his will makes a man great and little. Reich ist er nicht, aber gelehrt, he is not rich, but learned. Geliebt wird er nicht, aber gefürchtet, he is not loved, but feared. Schaden kann Jeder, aber nützen kann nur der Weise und Gute, any man can do injury, but the wise and good only can be useful. (Lesson LX.)

6th, The subject is placed after the verb in an inversion of propositions, that is, when that which ought to stand first, is placed after, and forms, as it were, the complement of the other. In other words: the subject is placed after its verb in the second member of a compound phrase. (Lesson LXXIX.) An inversion of propositions takes place, when the first proposition begins with a conjunction. Ex. Daß er Sie liebt, weiß ich (for: ich weiß, daß er Sie liebt), I know that he loves you. Je fleißiger ein Schüler ist, desto schnellere

Fortschritte macht er, the more studious a pupil is, the more progress he makes. Wenn ich reich wäre, so hätte ich Freunde, I should have friends, if I were rich Nachdem wir die Stadt verlassen hatten, zog der Feind in dieselbe ein, when we had left the town, the enemy entered it. (Lesson LXXXIII.)

Obs. In transposing the phrase, there is no inversion of propositions. Ex. Der Feind zog in die Stadt ein, nachdem wir dieselbe verlassen hatten, the enemy entered the town, after we had left it. (Lesson LXXIX.)

7th, The subject also follows its verb, when in an inversion of propositions, the conjunction wenn is left out in the first. Ex. Ist das Wetter günstig (for: wenn das Wetter günstig ist, so werde ich diese Reise in acht Tagen antreten, if the weather is favourable, I shall set out in a week. (Lesson LXXXIII.)

The same is the case with the conjunction ob, whether. Ex. Ich weiß nicht, schlafe oder wache ich (for: ob ich schlafe oder wache), I do not know whether I am asleep or awake; and all compound conjunctions, such as: obgleich, ob schon, wenn gleich, wenn schon, though. Ex. Bin ich gleich (schon) nicht reich (for: ob or wenn ich gleich nicht reich bin), so bin ich doch zufrieden, though I am not rich, I am nevertheless contented.

Obs. Adverbs of comparison, such as, wie, as; gleichwie, the same as; nicht nur — sondern auch, not only — but also, &c., make the nominative of the second member go after the verb, but not that of the first (this observation is included in Rule 6, above). Ex. Wie (or gleichwie) das Meer vom Winde bewegt wird, also wird ein Mann von seinen Leidenschaften bewegt, as the sea is agitated by the winds, so a man is agitated by his passions.

8th, Some conjunctions, when beginning a sentence, make the nominative go after its verb, as: doch, however; dennoch, nevertheless; gleichwohl, notwithstanding; dessen ungeachtet, for all that; nichts desto weniger, nevertheless; hingegen, im Gegentheil, on the contrary. (This rule is included in Rule 5.) Ex. Dessen ungeachtet haben Sie niemals meinen Wunsch erfüllen wollen, for all that you were never willing to accomplish my desire; doch schrieb er, er könnte nicht kommen, however he wrote that he could not come.

9th, The subject follows its verb when the phrase is interrogative or ejaculatory. Ex. Lernen Ihre Herren Brüder deutsch? do your brothers learn German? Wie glücklich sind Sie! or Wie sind Sie so glücklich! how happy you are! (Lesson XXXIV. and XC.)

Obs. When the subject is a personal or an interrogative pronoun, the construction of the interrogative sentence is the same as in English. Ex. Ist er zu Hause? is he at home? Sind Ihre Fräulein Schwestern in dem Garten? are your sisters in the garden? Wer ist da? who is there? Was haben Sie gethan? what have you done? Welcher Knabe hat diese Bücher gekauft, und wem hat er sie verehrt? which boy has bought those books, and to whom has he given them? Was für einen Wagen haben Sie gekauft? what carriage have you bought?

10th, The subject not only stands after the verb, but also after all the words relating to it, when the sentence begins with the indefinite pronoun es. Es lehrt uns die Erfahrung, experience teaches us. Es ereignet sich nicht alle Tage eine so gute Gelegenheit, there is not every day such a good opportunity.

11th, In inversions where the subject stands after its verb, it may take its place either after or before the other cases, if they are personal pronouns, and if the subject is a substantive. Ex. Heute gibt mein Lehrer mir ein Buch, or heute gibt mir mein Lehrer ein Buch, to-day my master will give me a book. Gestern gab mein Lehrer es mir, or gestern gab es mir mein Lehrer, my master gave it me yesterday. Ob er gleich ganz entstellt war, erkannte ihn doch sein Sohn, or erkannte sein Sohn ihn doch, though he was quite disfigured, nevertheless his son recognised him.

12th, But if the subject is likewise a personal pronoun, or if the other cases are substantives, it must precede. Ex. Gestern gab er es mir (not es mir er), yesterday he gave it me. Daher liebt der Schüler den Lehrer (not liebt den Lehrer der Schüler), therefore the pupil loves his master. Dessen ungeachtet erkannte der Sohn den Vater (not den Vater der Sohn), nevertheless the son recognised his father.

EXERCISES. 244.

A stranger having sold some false jewels (der falsche Edelstein) to a Roman empress (die römische Kaiserin), she asked (fordern von) her husband to (make) a signal example (of him) (die auffallende Genugthuung). The emperor, a most excellent and clement prince (der ein sehr gnädiger und milder Fürst war), finding it impossible to pacify (beruhigen) her, condemned the jeweller to be thrown to the wild beasts (zum Kampfe mit den wilden Thieren). The empress resolved to be present (Zeuge) with her whole court (der Hofstaat) at the punishment of the unfortunate man (seines Todes). As he was led into the arena (auf den Kampfplatz geführt werden), he expected to die (sich auf den Tod gefaßt machen); but instead (statt governs the genitive) of a wild beast a lamb (das Lamm) came up to him and caressed him (welches ihm liebhosete). The empress, furious (äußerst aufgebracht) at the deception (sich zum Besten gehalten zu sehen), complained bitterly of it (sich bitter deswegen beklagen) to (bei) the emperor. He answered: "I have punished the criminal (der Verbrecher) according (nach) to the law of retaliation (das Wiedervergeltungsrecht). He deceived (betrügen *) you, and he has been deceived in his turn (wieder)."

245.

The bakers of Lyons, having gone to Mr. Dugas (zu Jemandem kommen *), the provost (der Stadtrichter), to ask him (Jemanden bitten *) to raise the price of bread (das Brod aufschlagen zu lassen), he answered that he would take their petition into consideration (er wolle den Gegenstand ihrer Bitte untersuchen). As they took leave (weggehen *), they contrived to slip (ließen sie unbemerkt) a purse containing (mit) two hundred louis d'ors (der Louis'dor) on the table. — When they returned in the full conviction (nicht zweifeln) that the purse had been a powerful advocate in their favour (wirksam für eine Sache sprechen ), the provost said to them: "Gentlemen, I have weighed (abwägen) your reasons (der Grund) in the scale of justice (die Waagschale der Gerechtigkeit), and I have found them wanting (nicht vollwichtig).—I have not thought it expedient (ich hielt nicht dafür), by a fictitious raising of price (unter einer ungegründeten Theurung) to make the public (das Publikum) suffer: I have, however (übrigens), distributed (vertheilen) your money to (unter with accus.) the two hospitals of the town, for I concluded (ich glaubte) you could not intend it for any other purpose (der Gebrauch). Meanwhile (ich habe eingesehen) as you are able to give such alms (solche Almosen zu geben), it is evident you are no losers (verlieren) by your trade (das Gewerbe)."

246.

THE PHYSICIAN TAKEN IN (betrogen).

A physician of (in) Dublin, who was rather old (welcher schon ziemlich bejahrt war), but who was very rich, and in extensive practice (in großem Rufe stehen*), went one day to receive a considerable (ziemlich groß) sum of money in bank notes and in gold. As he was returning home with (beladen mit) this sum, he was stopped (anhalten*) by a man who appeared out of breath (außer Athem), owing to the speed with which he had run (weil er zu schnell gelaufen war). This man asked him (und der ihn bat) to come to see his wife, whom a violent diarrhoea retained in bed dangerously ill (an einem heftigen Stusse gefährlich krank darnieder liegen*); he added that it was urgent she should have immediate advice (daß schnelle Hilfe sehr nothwendig wäre), and at the same time promised the physician his guinea fee (eine Guinee für einen Besuch).

The physician, who was very avaricious (geizig), was pleased at the prospect of gaining his guinea (eilte sie zu verdienen); he directed (sagen zu) the man to lead the way (Jemandem den Weg zeigen), and promised to follow. He was led to a house situated (stehen*) in a remote (entlegen) street, and made to ascend to the third story (in das dritte Stockwerk), where he was admitted into a room, the door of which was immediately (alsobald) locked (verschließen*). The guide (der Führer) then presenting (dar-reichen) a pistol with one hand, and with the other an empty (leer) purse, which was open, spoke as follows (hierauf redete der Führer den erschrockenen Arzt folgendermaßen an, indem, &c.).

“Here is my wife: yesterday she was seized with a violent diarrhoea (an einem heftigen Bauchflusse leiden*), which has reduced her to the state (inden Zustand versetzen) in which you (now) see her; you are one of our most eminent (geschickt) physicians, and I know you are better able than any one to cure her. I am besides (überdies) aware that you possess the best remedy for her; haste then to employ (anwenden) it, unless you prefer swallowing (verschlucken) the two leaden pills (die Pille) contained in this instrument.” The doctor made a horrible face (das abscheuliche Gesicht), but obeyed. He had several bank notes and a hundred and twenty-five guineas rolled up (in Rollen); he placed the latter (die letzteren) into the purse, as he had been desired (geduldt), hoping thus to save his bank notes.

But the thief (der Gauner) was up to this, and was perfectly aware of his having them in his pocket (wußte, daß er sie in der Tasche hatte). “Wait,” said he, “it would not be fair (billig) that you should have performed (verrichten) so miraculous a cure (die Kur) without remuneration (vergeltens); I promised you a guinea for your visit; I am a man of honour (der Mann von Ehre), and here it is; but I know that you carry about your person (bei sich haben) several little recipes (das Recept, plur. e) most efficacious (sehr wirksam) as preventives against the return (die Rückkehr) of the disorder (das Uebel) you have just removed (heilen), you must be so kind as to leave them with me.” The bank notes immediately took the same road as the guineas had done. The thief, then keeping his pistol concealed beneath his cloak (der Mantel), accompanied the doctor into the street (hierauf führte der Gauner, indem—wieder zurück), requesting him to make no noise. He stopped him (stehen lassen*) at the corner (an der Ecke) of a street, and forbidding (verbieten*) him to follow, suddenly (plötzlich) disappeared, to seek, in a distant part of the town (das entlegene Stadtviertel), another habitation (die Wohnung).

247. DIALOGUE (Unterredung)

BETWEEN A FATHER AND MOTHER ON THE HAPPINESS (das Wohl) OF THEIR CHILDREN.

Countess. Forgive me for having disturbed (wecken lassen*) you so early; but I wanted to speak to you on matters of importance.

Count. You alarm (beunruhigen) me I see that you have been crying; what has happened, me dear (theuer)?

Countess. I own I am little agitated (unruhig); but I have nothing unpleasant (Unangenehmes) to communicate (mittheilen); on the contrary.

Count. From your emotion (die Bewegung), I should guess Emily to be the cause of it (daß von — die Rede ist).

Countess. It is true My sister came this morning with a proposal (eine Heirath vorschlagen*) for her.

Count. Well?

Countess. The gentleman who asks her (in marriage) is endowed with (besitzen*) all the advantages (der Vorzug) of birth (die Geburt) and fortune (das Glück). His merit is acknowledged (anerkennen*) by all. He is thirty; his person agreeable; he loves Emily, and even refuses the fortune (die Aussteuer) which we should give her stating his affection to be secured by her only (verlangt nur sie).

Count. But how comes it that you are not overjoyed at this (außer sich vor Freude seyn*)? I am very anxious (vor Begierde brennen) to learn his name.

Countess. You know him; he often comes here, and you like him exceedingly (sehr).

Count. Pray gratify (befriedigen) my curiosity.

Countess. It is the Count of Moncalde

Count. The Count of Moncalde! a foreigner; but he probably (wahrscheinlich) intends to settle (sich niederlassen*) in France?

Countess. Alas! he has declared that he can promise nothing (keine Verpflichtung eingehen*) on that score (die Hinsicht); this is informing us (erklären) clearly (deutlich) enough, that he intends to return to his own country.

Count. And you would nevertheless accept him for your daughter?

Countess. I have known him (Umgang mit Jemandem haben*) for four years. I am thoroughly acquainted with his disposition (der Charakter). There cannot be a more virtuous (tugendhaft) or estimable (schätzenswerth) man. He is very clever and agreeable (voll Geist und Annehmlichkeit seyn*), has much good feeling (gefühlvoll), is well informed (unterrichtet), and perfectly devoid of affectation (unaffectirt). He is a passionate admirer of talent (einen leidenschaftlichen Geschmack für Talente haben*); in short (mit einem Worte) he possesses every quality (die Eigenschaft) that can answer my daughter's happiness (glücklich machen). How can I reject him (sie ihm versagen)? Surely, my love (mein Freund), you do not think me so selfish (eines solchen Egoismus fähig halten*).

Count (taking her hand) (sie bei der Hand fassend). But can I consent to a sacrifice (das Opfer) that would make you for ever (auf immer) unhappy? Besides (überdieß) I never could bring myself to part from Emily.—She is my daughter; more than that even, her amiable disposition is your work. In Emily I find your sense (der Geist) and your virtues. No, I cannot part (sich trennen) from her. I am looking forward with so much delight (sich eine so süße Vorstellung von dem Vergnügen machen) to her entrance into the world (sie in die große Welt eingeführt zu sehen)! I am in much hopes of her shining in it (ein Zeuge ihres guten Erfolgs zu seyn).—How gratifying (wie theuer) to me will be the praise (das Lob) bestowed (ertheilen) on her!—for I am convinced (da ich das Bewußtseyn habe), that to your care of her (die Sorgfalt) alone, my love, she will be indebted for whatever success she may obtain. After having devoted (widmen) the best years of your life to her education, can you now give her up, and see her torn from (entreißen* with dative) your arms and her country? can you consent thus to lose in one moment the fruit of (von) fifteen years of anxiety (Mühe und Arbeit)?

Countess. I have laboured for her happiness, and (have) not (sought) to educate (bringen*) a victim to my own vanity. I beseech you, consider (bedenken*) also the great and un hoped for advantages of the match (die Verbindung) now in agitation (welche man uns anbietet). Think of the smallness (die Mittelmäßigkeit) of her fortune. Consider the excellence and amiable disposition, the high birth and immense (unermesslich) fortune of her future husband!—It is true, I shall be separated from Emily, but she will never forget me . . . this thought will be my consolation, and without fear for her future life (über das Schicksal Emilien's beruhigt), I shall be able to bear any other trial (Alles ertragen).

Count. But will Emily herself be able to bring herself to leave you?

Countess. She has always been accustomed to obey the dictates of reason (die Vernunft vermag Alles über sie). I am willing to believe this will cost her some effort (Freilich wird es ihr schwer fallen; ich finde sogar ein Vergnügen darin, es zu denken); but if she does not dislike (Jemandem mißfallen*) the temper and person of Mr. de Moncalde, I can answer (über sich nehmen*) for her compliance (sie zu bewegen), however painful (schwierig) the sacrifice (zu diesem Opfer). In short, I entreat (beschwören) you to intrust entirely to me (ganz mir zu überlassen) the care of her happiness (die Sorgfalt für ihr Glück).

Count. Well (Wohlan), since you wish it, I will give my consent. You have, indeed, my dear, earned (erwerben*) for yourself a right (das Recht) to dispose of your daughter (über ihr Schicksal zu entscheiden), which I will not dispute (streitig machen). I know you will sacrifice (opfern) yourself for the sake of one so dear to you (für diesen so theuern Gegenstand).—I foresee (voraussehen*) that I shall not have your fortitude (der Muth), but I admire, and can no longer withstand (widerstehen*) (your arguments).—Still (jedoch) think, what sorrow (wie viel Kummer) you are preparing for yourself (sich bereiten); how shall I myself support your grief and my own, your tears and those of Emily?

Countess. Do not fear (befürchten) that I should cloud (beunruhigen) your life by useless (überflüssig) repinings (die Klage). How could I give myself up to sorrow, when my greatest consolation will be the hope of alleviating (mildern) your grief?

Count. Ah, you alone are every thing to me! You know it well . . . friendship, admiration, and gratitude are the ties (die Bande, plur.) that bind (fesseln) me to you. The influence (die Herrschaft) you have acquired (erlangen) over my mind (über mich) is so thoroughly justified (rechtfertigen) by your virtues, that, far from denying (verläugnen), I glory in it (seinen Ruhm darin setzen, sie anerkennen).—It is to you I owe every thing: my reason, my sentiments (das Gefühl), my principles (der Grundsatz) and my happiness. In you I find the most amiable as well as the most indulgent (nachsichtig) of friends, the wisest (weise) and most useful adviser (die nützlichste Rathgeberin). Be, then, the arbiter of my children's destiny (die Schiedsrichterin über das Schicksal—), as you are that of my own. But, at any rate (wenigstens) let us attempt (Alles versuchen) to persuade the count of Moacalde to settle (sich niederlassen) in France.... He seemed so struck (gerührt) by your affection (die Zärtlichkeit) for Emily, and to feel for you such sincere attachment (Anhänglichkeit), that I cannot yet believe his intention (die Absicht) to be to separate you from your child I cannot think his decision unalterable (daß er in dieser Hinsicht unerbittlich seyn werde).

Countess. No, do not let us flatter ourselves. He is a firm and decided character (sein—ist fest und entschlossen). He has positively (bestimmt) told my sister that it would be vain to attempt to exact from him a promise (ihm die Bedingung vorschreiben zu wollen) of residing in France. His resolution is irrevocably (unwiderruflich) taken to return to Portugal.

Count. You grieve (betrüben) me.... But I repeat to you, the fate of Emily is in your hands. Whatever it may cost me, you shall be absolute mistress (die unumschränkte Gebieterin) of it. I shall consent to whatever you decide on (ich werde es nicht widerrufen). Do you intend speaking to-day (noch heute) (on the subject) to Emily?

Countess. After dinner.... But it is late; it is time to dress.... I have not yet seen my sons to-day; let us go and see them.

Count. I wanted to consult (um Rath fragen) you on (wegen) something connected with (angehen*) them. I am dissatisfied with their tutor (der Hofmeister). Another has been proposed (vorschlagen*) me, I should wish you to speak to him; I am told he speaks English perfectly; I cannot judge myself of the latter.

Countess. I will tell you, if he really understand it well....

Count. How?.... but you have never learnt English. ..

Countess. I beg your pardon, I have been studying it for the last year, to be able to teach Henrietta, who had asked me to give her (Jemanden um Etwas ersuchen) an English master. In general (im Durchschnitt) masters teach so carelessly (mit vieler Nachlässigkeit) that, however excellent they may be, two years of their lessons (der Unterricht) are not worth three months (das Vierteljahr) of those (von dem) given by a mother.

Count. What a (wonderful) woman you are!.... Thus till your children's education is completed, you will spend part of your life with masters. Half of it (die eine Hälfte) you devote (anzuwenden) to study (sich zu unterrichten), and the other half in teaching what you have learnt.... Yet in spite of such numerous occupations, whilst you thus multiply (vervielfältigen) your duties, you spare time to devote (widmen) to your friends and to the world (die Gesellschaft). How do you manage (es anfangen)?

Countess. It is always possible to find time for the fulfilment of duties that are pleasing to us (die Einem theuer sind).

Count. You always surprise me (beständig in Erstaunen setzen), I own Ah! if your children do not make you happy, what mother could ever expect from hers a reward of her affection!.... And our dear Emily may be for ever lost to you!.... I cannot bear (ertragen*) the thought of it!—Shall you see your sister again to-day? Shall you give her your answer for the count of Moncalde?

Countess. He requested a prompt decision (eine schnelle und bestimmte)....I shall accordingly give (ertheilen) him the answer, since you allow it, as soon as I have questioned Emily on the subject (Emiliens Gesinnungen prüfen).

Count. I am certain Emily will refuse (auschlagen*) him.

Countess. I think as you do; but is it not enough (hinreichend seyn*) that she has no aversion (abgeneigt seyn*) to the count of Moncalde, and that she feels (hegen) for him the esteem he so justly deserves?

Count. Well, I see we must submit (sich entschließen*) to this sacrifice (die Aufopferung) Speak to your daughter Speak to her alone; I should never have courage to support (aushalten*) such an interview (die Unterredung) I feel I should only spoil all your work.

248. DIALOGUE.

EMILY. AGATHA.

Agatha. I was looking for you But, dear Emily, what is the matter?

Emily. Have you seen mamma (die Mutter)?

Agatha. No, she is gone out; she is gone to my aunt's.

Emily. And my father?

Agatha. He has shut himself up (sich einschließen*) in his study (das Cabinet) But surely, Emily, they are thinking of your marriage (die Verheirathung); I guess (errathen*) as much (es) from your agitation (an Deiner Verwirrung).

Emily. Ah, dearest sister, you little dream (nie wirst Du den Namen desjenigen errathen) who is my intended (dem man mich bestimmt)! Agatha, dearest Agatha, how much I pity you, if you love me as well as I love you!

Agatha. Good heavens (gerechter Himmel)! Explain (erklären) yourself more clearly (deutlich).

Emily. I am desired (man befehlt mir) to marry the Count of Moncalde, and he is to take (mit sich führen) me to Portugal.

Agatha. And you intend to obey? Could you leave us? Is it possible my mother even should consent?

Emily. Alas (leider)! dear Agatha, it is but too true.

Agatha. No, I never can believe it it is impossible you ever can (Du darfst nicht) obey.

Emily. What are you saying? Do you think I should oppose my mother's wishes (kann ich meiner Mutter widerstehen)?

Agatha. But do you think she herself will ever consent to such a separation?

Emily. She only considers (in Betrachtung ziehen*) what she calls my interest (der Vortheil); she entirely forgets herself. Alas! she also forgets that I could enjoy (genießen*) no happiness she did not witness (von welchem sie nicht Zeuge sein würde)!

Agatha. Dear sister, refuse your consent (nicht dazwillingen)!

Emily. I have given my word.

Agatha. Retract (zurücknehmen*) it out of affection to my mother herself; your unfortunate obedience (der Gehorsam) would be (vorbereiten) a constant source of regret (die ewige Reue) to us all.

Emily. Agatha, you do not know my mother's fortitude. Her sensibility (ihr gefühlsvolles Herz), though mastered (gesehtet) by her superior mind (die überlegene Vernunft), can, it is true, sometimes make her suffer, but will never be strong enough to betray her even into showing a momentary weakness (nie wird es einen Augenblick Schwäche in ihr hervorbringen) She is incapable (unfähig) of ever regretting (bereuen) she has fulfilled a duty.

Agatha. Emily! dearest sister, if you go, I shall not survive (Etwas überleben) such a misfortune!

Emily. Ah, if you love me, conceal (from) me the excess (das Uebermaß) of your grief. It can only unfit me for the task I have to perform (welcher nur zu sehr dazu geeignet ist, mich noch schwächer zu machen).—Do not further rend (nicht vollends zerreißen*) a heart already torn by the conflict of (das schon so sehr zwischen—getheilt ist) duty, affection, and reason.

Agatha. Do not expect me to confirm (Dich zu befestigen in) this cruel resolution. I can only weep and lament my own hard fate.

Emily. I hear some one Dear Agatha, let us dry our eyes.

249.

ON THE LIABILITY TO ERROR (wie sehr man sich irren kann) OF OUR JUDGMENTS (in seinem Urtheile), OR THE INJURY (der Schaden) REPAID (ersehen).

An English stage-coach (die Landkutsche), full of travellers (der Reisende), was proceeding (fahren*) to York. Conversation fell on (man sprach viel von) the highwaymen and robbers that infested (die man öfters auf—anträfe) those parts (der Weg), and on the way of concealing one's money. Each person had his secret, but no one thought (Keinem fiel es ein) of telling it (offenbaren). One young lady (das Mädchen) only of eighteen, was less prudent than the rest, (nicht so klug seyn*). Imagining, no doubt (ohne Zweifel in der Meinung), that she was thereby giving a proof (der Beweis) of her cleverness (der Verstand), she said with great self-satisfaction (ganz offenhertzig) that she had a draft (der Wechselbrief) for two hundred pounds, which was (bestehen*) her whole fortune, but that the thieves would be very clever (listig), if they thought of seeking for (wenn sie—suchen sollten) this booty (der Raub) in her shoe, or rather (ja sogar) under the sole of her foot; to find it they would be obliged to (es müßte ihnen nur einfallen) rob her of her stockings.

The coach was soon after (bald darauf) stopped (anhalten*) by a gang of thieves (die Räuberbande), who called upon (auffordern) the affrighted and trembling travellers to deliver up (hergeben*) their money. They accordingly all pulled out (herausziehen*) their purses, fully aware (sich vorstellen) that resistance (der Widerstand) would be perfectly useless, and might prove dangerous (oder gar gefährlich). The sum (thus produced) appearing too small to these gentlemen (of the road) they threatened (drohen) to search (durchsuchen) all the luggage (die Koffer), if a hundred pounds were not immediately given them.

"You will easily (leicht) find double that sum (das Doppelte)," said an old gentleman from the corner of the coach (rief ihnen—hinten aus dem Wagen zu), "if you examine (durchsuchen) the shoes and stockings of that lady." The advice was very well taken (aufnehmen*), and the shoes and stockings being pulled off, the promised treasure (der verkündigte Schatz) was discovered (zeigte sich). The robbers humbly (höflich) thanked the lady, paid (machen) sundry compliments on the beauty of her foot, and without waiting for an answer, they made off with their prize, leaving the coach to proceed on its journey (weiter fahren*). Hardly were the robbers gone, when the consternation (die Bestürzung) of the travellers was changed (sich verwandeln) into indignation (die Wuth). Words could not express (sich nicht mit Worten ausdrücken lassen*) the sorrow of the poor woman, nor the resentment (der Hohn) expressed by (äußern) the whole party against the betrayer (der Verräther).

The strongest and even the most insulting epithets of disgust (die unglimpflichsten und beschimpfendsten Beinamen*) were lavished on him by all (sich aus Aller Munde hören lassen*), and many went even so far as to call him a rascal (der Bösewicht) and the accomplice of the thieves (der Räubergenosse). To these marks (die Aeußerung) of the general indignation (des allgemeinen Unwillens) (his conduct had excited) was added (verbinden*) the threat (die Drohung) of giving the informer (der Angeber) a sound beating, and of throwing him out of window (zum Wagen hinaus), and of instituting legal proceedings against him (Jemanden gerichtlich belangen). In short (kurz), all seemed to concur (sich erschöpfen) in forming schemes (der Entwurf) for taking exemplary vengeance on the offender (an dem Schuldigen eine auffallende Rache). The latter remained perfectly unmoved (sich ganz still verhalten*), and only remarked once in extenuation (sich mit der Aeußerung entschuldigen), that a man could have nothing dearer to him than himself (Jeder sey sich selbst der Nächste und der Theuerste); and when the coach reached the end of its journey (als man am Ziele der Reise war), he suddenly (unversehens) disappeared (verschwinden*), before his fellow-travellers could accomplish (in's Werk setzen) any one (eine einzige) of their intended measures (die vorgeschlagenen Maßregeln) against him.

As to the unfortunate young lady, it is easy to imagine (sich vorstellen) that she passed a sad and sleepless night (die Nacht höchst traurig und schlaflos zubringen*). To her joy and astonishment (das Erstaunen), she received the next day the following letter:

“Madam,—You must yesterday have hated (verabscheuen) as an informer the man who now sends you, besides the sum you then advanced him (vorschießen*), an equal (gleich) sum, as interest thereof (als Zinsen), and a trinket (das Juwel) of at least the same value (der Werth) for your hair (zu Ihrem Haarschmucke). I hope this will be sufficient (hinreichend) to silence (mildern) your grief, and I will now explain (sagen) in a few words what must appear mysterious in my conduct (den geheimen Grund meines Betragens). After having spent (sich aufhalten*) ten years in India (Indien), where I amassed (zusammenbringen*) a hundred thousand pounds, I was on my way home with letters on my bankers (der Wechselbrief) to that amount (auf die ganze Summe), when we were attacked (angefallen werden*) yesterday by the highwaymen. All my savings (die reichlichen Ersparnisse) must have inevitably been sacrificed (es wäre um—gekommen gewesen), had the shabbiness (die Kargheit) of our fellow-travellers (der Reiseführer) exposed us to a search from (von Seiten) these unprincipled spoilers (der Räuber). Judge (urtheilen) for yourself, if the idea of returning to India thoroughly empty handed (mit völlig leeren Händen), could be supportable (erträglich) to me. Forgive me, if this consideration (die Betrachtung) led (vermögen*) me to betray your confidence (das Vertrauen verrathen*) and to sacrifice (opfern) a small (mässig) sum, though not my own, to save my whole fortune. I am under the greatest obligation to you. I shall be happy to testify (Beweise geben von) my gratitude in any way in my power, and I request you to consider (legen Sie übrigens keinen Werth auf) these trifles as only the expressions (die geringen Zeichen) of my readiness (durch welche ich mich beeifere) to serve you.”
